No. 30.828

PARIS, THURSDAY, APRIL 1, 1982

Supports A-Freeze

Proposal

By Judith Miller By Judith Miller
New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — A majority of the Senate has endorsed a resolution calling upon the United States and Soviet Union to freeze their nuclear arsenals at "equal and sharply reduced levels." an approach that won general support proach that won general support from President Reagan.

The bipartisan resolution, spon-scred by Sens. Henry M. Jackson, Democrat of Washington, John W. Warner, Republican of Virginia, and endorsed by 56 of their colleagues Tuesday, was offered as a substitute to a measure sponsored two weeks ago by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, Democrat of Massa-chusetts, and Mark O. Hatfield, Republican of Oregon.

The Kennedy-Hatrield proposal called on both nations to negotiate first a freeze in the existing level of nuclear forces to be followed by reductions in atomic arms.

Administration officials have strongly objected to the Kennedy-Hatfield proposal, which has gath-ered significant political momentum, arguing that it would prevent the United States from modernizing the nation's strategic forces. Hence, the proposal would freeze the United States into a military oosture of permanent strategic in-feriority, the officials maintain.

However, the administration and Republicans have come under increasing pressure to endorse some initiative aimed at halting the nuclear arms race. For example, at a private meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday, Republicans urged State Department and arms-con-

(Continued nn Page 2, Col. 7)

U.S. Senate Reagan Trying TV To Restore Image

President, Slumping in Polls, Seeks to Regain the Initiative

By Lou Cannon and Herbert H. Denton Washington Post Service

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, slumping in the polls and under increasing attack in Congress, will try to regain the political initiative Wednesday night with the first prime-time news conference of his administration.

"This is an effort to let the president go unfiltered to the people and not be filtered through the 6 House official said.

The 8 p.m. news conference is part of a new strategy to unleash the "great communicator," as Mr. Reagan's aides like to call him, in an attempt to let the president directly make the case for his embattled foreign and domestic policies. Part of this effort will be a 10-week series of live weekend radio reports that will begin Saturday.

'Acceptable Thrust'

White House officials said the president plans to begin his news conference with a statement calling for negotiations with the Soviet Union to reduce nuclear arms. The proposal is expected to he along the lines of a resolution by Sens.
John W. Warner, Republican of Virginia, and Henry M. Jackson, Democrat of Washington, that calls for the United States to propose to the Soviet Union "a long-term mutual and verifiable nuclear forces treaty at equal and sharply reduced levels of forces."

"There may be a word or two in Reagan at the White House. "The basic thrust is acceptable." But White House aides see the president's news conference as more than an opportunity to head off growing public and congressional pressure for a nuclear arms freeze. The White House view is that Mr. Reagan is the best possible administration spokesman to counteract the impression that the president is climping and that his president is slipping and that his programs are in trouble. In resorting to a televised press conference, a format favored by past presidents who found themselves in political difficulty, Mr. Reagan will be challenging the conventional wisdom of the Wash-ington press corps, which after several past news conferences has challenged his facts, his statistics and his mastery of complex issues. "We think the public bas a much more favorable view of what the president says in these news conferences than the press does," a White House aide said. National and state polls almost unanimously show that Mr. Reagan's job approval rating has dropped by 20 points or more. The latest California poll shows that be has dropped 27 points in his home state in the past year, from 64 percent to 37 percent. Mr. Reagan oftea resorts to tele-vision when be is, in trouble. He built public support for his welfare and tax bills as governor of California with prime-time television speeches. He did the same as president in 1981 with speeches from the Oval Office on behalf of his our resolution which the president would prefer was not there." Sen. Warner said Tuesday after he and Sen. Jackson conferred with Mr. economic program. He used television as a major political and fundraising weapon in two presidential campaigns.

Jorge Bustamante, president of El Salvador's National Election Council, held a card Tuesday showing that 1,030,901 votes had been counted. The final count on Wednesday was 1,197,575.

Final Salvadoran Count Shows Rightist Victory

From Agency Dispatches
SAN SALVADOR — El Salvador's ruling Christian Democratic Party has fallen short of the majority it needed to stay in power, according to a final count released Wednesday of nearly 1.2 million ballots from Sunday's election. Five rightist parties, meanwhile, continued to move toward a regime that would exclude the Chris-

The Christian Democrats, who had U.S. support, won 24 of the 60 seats in the constituent assembly. But four rightist parties could form a coalition with a majority of 36 seats, according to the final but unofficial vote taily announced by 19 seats in the assembly, which is to rule until general elections are held, possibly in 1983. It will also have the power to draw up a new constitution and name a provisional president.

Mr. Bustamante said the National Conciliation Party received 18.3 percent of the vote and 14 seats, while the Democratic Action Party had 7.7 percent of the vote and 2 sents. Two vey right sugroups wit 3.5 percent of the vote. One won a the National Election Commission. The fifth party involved in coalition negotiations did not win a seat in the assembly. El Salvador's leftist parties refused to take part in the elec-

Mr. Bustamante said the final count was 1,197,575, with the Christian Democrats receiving

Results Listed

lican Nationalist Alliance received

29.8 percent of the vote and won

He said the ultrarightist Repub-

Meanwhile, Julio Adolfo Rey Frendes, secretary-general of the Christian Democratic Party, raised the prospect Tuesday of expanded warfare if a rightist coalition ex-cluded the party from the govern-Mr. Rey Prendes, who is the second-ranking member of the party after President José Napoleón id salvadorads "Will faith" if their party is not part of a new government. Also on Tuesday, CBS News reported that U.S. Ambassador Deane R. Hinton said it would be difficult to continue U.S. economic and military aid to El Salvador if Roberto D'Aubuisson, the leader of the Republican Nationalist Alliance, became president of the coa-Mr. D'Aubuisson a former army major, was called a "patho-logical killer" by Robert E. White, who was ambassador under the administration of former President Jimmy Carter.

Vietnam Drops War Hero Giap From Politburo

Restors

BANGKOK — Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, who defeated the French at Dien Bien Phu and commanded the war against the Americans and South Vietnamese, was dropped from Vietnam's Communist Party leadership Wednesday.

Radio Hanoi reported that Gen. Giap, 69, was voted out of the party Politburo along with five other

The general, at one time tipped as a possible premier, lost his post as defense minister in 1980 and was demoted last year from first deputy premier to third deputy remier.
"He seems to be undergoing a

"He seems to be undergoing a gradual political eclipse, probably because of disagreement over domestic policies or a personality clash," a Western diplomat said in Bangkok.

But the party confirmed its faith in the top rung of its aging leadership on the closing day of its fifth congress.

congress.
In a broadcast monitored in Bangkok, the radio said Le Duan, 74, was re-elected searctary-gener-al, the party's most powerful posi-tion. State Council President Tru-ong Chinh, 74, Premier Pham Van Dong, 76, Deputy Premier Pham Hung, 70, and the influential Le Duc Tho, 72, also retained their

"Le Duan told the congress there had been errors and shortcomings in the leadership but it appears those shortcomings did not affect the top five," the diplo-mat said. The five men who lost their Polithuro posts along with Gen. Giap were, like him, on the middle level of the leadership. They were Nguyen Duy Trinh, Le Thanh Nghi, Nguyen Van Linh, Tran Quoc Hoan and Le Van Luong.

Quoc Hoan and Le Van Luong.

All but foreign policy expert Nguyen Duy Trinh, 72, who is in poor health, kept their places on the 152-member Central Committee, Radio Hanoi said.

Diplomats said Mr. Nghi, an economic expert, could be made a scapegoat for Vietnam's low production, and poor living condiduction and poor living condi-

At the congress, Mr. Duan re-peatedly praised the Soviet Union as Vietnam's firmest ally and stressed Hanoi's dependence on Moscow for both economic and military aid, which Western diplo-mats estimate at about $3 million a

China Seen as Threat

Vietnam and delegates from its Indochina allies, Laos and Cambodia, all said China was the main threat to peace. Mr. Duan said. China "entertains the mad dream of becoming a center ruling over the whole world."

Gen. Giap, born on Sept. 1, 1912, of a peasant family, was im-

Established 1887

Gen. Vo Nguyen Gian

prisoned by the French colonial authorities at the age of 18 for Communist activities. Later freed, he was a schoolteacher and be-came a close friend of Ho Chi Minh, a founder of the Vietnamese Communist Party and leader in the country's independence move-

Gen. Gian became widely ac-knowledged as a master of strategy in his campaigns against beavily armed Western forces.

But he never received formal military training and once said, "The only military academy I have been to is that of the bush." His first major triumph came in 1954, when he defeated French troops at Dien Bien Phu, a victory which led to French withdrawal from Indochina and the creation of North and South Vietnam.

Gen. Giap, known to his followers as "Nui Lina" ("the volcano under the snow"), went on two decades later to fight U.S. troops in South Vietnam.

South Vietnam.
On April 30, 1975, his army entered Saigon, ending the longest conflict of the 20th century.

U.S. Reassesses Outcome of Salvador Election

By John M. Goshko Washington Post Service
WASHINGTON - - The Reagan

storm took at the result of Sucin a circular in El Salvador, is stabling to prepare congressional and public opinion for the possi-lifity that the United States might have to work with a government iominated by the right.

In response to questions about how such a situation would affect U.S. support, administration offi-cials said Tuesday that whatever government emerges should be judged not by the parties or indi-viduals it contains, but by its commitment to political and social re-

Excluding Centrists

That was prompted by the real-ization that the combined vote for five rightist parties put them in a position to form a coalition that could exclude the centrist Christian Democratic Party of José Napoleon Duarte, president of the outgoing U.S.-backed civilian-mili-

that Roberto D'Aubuisson, whose official observers of the Salva-gained the second-highest vote, might have major influence in the son has long been identified with coup attempts, paramilitary terrorist activities and opposition to re-

If the right should take over, the administration will face a new ouslaught of congressional and public efforts to withdraw U.S. support from the Salvadoran re-

Reagan Praises Salvadorans

[In another development, President Reagan Wednesday praised the people of El Salvador for repudiating violence in the elections, United Press International report-

["On behalf of the people and the government of the United States of America, I congratulate the people and the government of El Salvador on your successful constituent assembly elections. Mr. Reagan said in a letter to El Salvador's government.

or Junia. [The president met Wednesday of particular concern was fear with U.S. citizens who served as speculate on the eventual makeup of the Salvadoran government and the salvadoran government and failure of leftist guerrillus to thwart the salvadoran sources active of leftist guerrillus to thwart the salvadoran sources active of leftist guerrillus to thwart the salvadoran sources active of leftist guerrillus to thwart the salvadoran sources active of leftist guerrillus to thwart the salvadoran sources active of leftist guerrillus to thwart the salvadoran sources active of leftist guerrillus to the s the electoral process.]

Administration officials moved away Tuesday from euphoric praise of the high voter turnout and cautioned against judging the new Salvadoran government, whatever its composition, too hast-

Lawrence S. Eagleburger, undersecretary of state for political affairs, teld a press luncheon, "Let's not snateb defeat from the jaws of victory. What government is formed is basically an issue for the Salvadoran people.

Envoy Given Instructions

"We look for a government that will support reform, and the decisions we make will obviously be affected by bow that government is prepared to deal with reform." he said. "But we have to give them a chance to put a government in-gether and see if it's one we can live with and work with."

U.S. officials sought to play doran elections. They declined to down suggestions that the United structed to do everything he can to influence the formation of a government whose policies will be compatible with continued U.S.

Most Fruitful Choice

Specifically, they said, Mr. Hinton's orders are to try to ensure that tee Christian Democrats, who but not a majority, are included in any government and have the maximum possible voice in its affairs.

One source said that the most fruitful chance for an acceptable outcome involves some variation on the idea of a "national unity government" that would include representation of all or most of the parties but would, if U.S. efforts are successful, be dominated by the Christian Democrats and modgrate military officers.

According to the sources, it probably will take several days to get a clearer oicture of whether this can be done.

Iran Denies Designs on IraqTerritory

From Agency Dispatches
LONDON — Iranian President
Hojatoleslam Ali Khamenei said Wednesday that his country's torces would not move into Iraq after their offensive in the Gulf war, Tehran radio reported.

The radio, monitored by the BBC, quoted the president as saying the Moslems of Iraq were Iran's brothers — "our support for them does not mean that we will take our forces inside Iraqi territo-

The broadcast said Mr. Khamenei declared that Iran has He added, "It is the Ba'athist [Iraqi government] mercenaries who attacked our country and occupied parts of it. Aggression is not in keeping with the dignity of the Islamic republic."

Iraq has disclosed that its forces have withdrawn to new positions after a weeklong Iranian offensive U.S. officials reported that intelli-gence reaching Washington said the offensive has brought the Iraqi invaders close to collapse.

Tehran radio reported that the president, who was addressing a meeting of seminary representa-tives, spoke of the "propaganda of the world mass media" which was trying to give an impression, at least to the Arab countries, that Iranian forces were advancing to occupy their land.

"We announce that we have no intention of usurping Arab lands,"

Visit by Journalists

The president said Iran's recent victories had not been reported by the world's mass media. Foreign reporters who had come to Iran and seen prisoners of war and liberated areas now quoted Iraqi President Saddam Hussein as saying the Iraqis had carried out a tactical retreat, he added.

In Rome, the Iranian ambassa dor to the Vatican, Hojatoleslam Hadi Khosrow-Shahi, said that Iran had beaten Iraq. He said Iraqi troops still on Iranian soil would be forced to leave.

The ambassador said Iran had no territorial ambitions against brother Moslem states. He added: "We are convinced that the Islamic revolution will take place in Gulf countries without the involvement of our armed forces." Western journalists, in their first visit to Iran's front lines in more than a year, reported Tuesday that

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

INSIDE

Fading Troika

Early in the Reagan adminis-tration, the White House staff was dominated by three all-powerful staffers called the Troika. No more. Page 8.

Endangered Elves

Saying that they were looking for elves who might be endan-gered by U.S. jets, about 150 leelandic leftists trooped out to Keflavik's NATO base.

Daniel Arap Moi shown under the gaze of Kenyatta during ceremonies in 1978 making him Kenya's second president.

Moi's Problems Sharpened By Kenyatta's 'Presence'

By Charles T. Powers Los Angeles Times Service
NAIROBI — Not long ago, squads of policemen moved along River Road in Nairobi ordering shopkeepers to take down their old black-and-white photo-

their old black and white photographs of Jomo Kenyatta, who died almost four years ago.

The photographs are ubiquitous in Kenya, for Kenyatta, the mizee, or "old man," is revered as a freedom fighter and Kenya's first president. The man who succeeded him in office, Daniel Arap Moi, lived in the old man's shadow for 12 years as vice president and he has found that Kenyatta casts a long shadow Kenyatta casts a long shadow even from the tomb. Now Mr. Moi apparently wants to cast a shadow of his own. But dispite some real accompishments, he has not found

The photos were a case in point. Their removal caused a storm of comment and, in some cases, physical struggle on the part of some shopkeepers and barroom owners who wanted to know who had issued the orders.

Too Close to the Bone

The police, in most cases, would not answer. In those places where Mr. Moi's picture hung beside Kenyatta's, the police suggested that strangers or tourists might be confused into thinking that Kenya had two presidents. That sort of confu-sion should not exist, they said, and the Kenyatta photos came

They were not to stay down or long.

The removal of the pictures was much talked about but was given virtually no notice in the newspapers. Although Kenya has a relatively free press, the question of who ordered the repressal of the pictures cut a little moval of the pictures cut a little too close to the political bone to be pursued by journalists.

No one asked the police where the order had come from, nor least not openly.

Finally, Mr. Moi spoke out himself, and he chose to do it in nument, and he chose to do it in customary style, with a "presidential blast," a term favored by headline writers here. As reported by the Kenya News Agency, he said that disgruntled politicians and civil servants "were going around the country streading malicione reported." spreading malicious rumors and distorting" his directives to dis-credit him.

did anyone ask the politicians; at

"How can I direct people to remove the portraits of Mizee Kenyatta, whom I served for many years?" Mr. Moi asked.

The news agency account continued: "President Moi said he still displayed Mzee Kenyatta's portraits in his house and offices. And he wondered how he could continue to retain Mzce Kenyatta's pictures if he disliked the late president, as the rumor-mongers were alleging. He called on the rumormongers to stop their smear campaigns forth-

The agency quoted Mr. Moi as saying he "was always happy to see the late President Kenyatta's portrait displayed together with his own."

Thus, Kenyatta's pictures were officially reinstated without ever officially having fallen out of favor.

Nairobi residents, now alert to unofficial signals, have since noted that the "eternal flame," a noted that the "eternal flame," a torchlight thet once burned at Kenyatta's tomb near the Parliament building, has gone out.

Further, with a single exception, no visiting head of state has in recent mouths made the once-requisite ceremonial in recent months made the oncerequisite ceremonial visit to Kenyatta's tomb to place a weath and meditate for a moment on the accomplishments of one of the fathers of African independence. The exception was Cape Verdian President Aristides M. Pereira, who

(Continued on Page 2, Cal. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

U.K. Said to Ready Navy Over Falklands Dispute

From Agency Disputches DNDON — Britain was re-ted on Wednesday to be asstering a show of naval strength around the Falkland Island; in the South Atlantic after giving notice to Argentina that it will defend the disputed archi-

Estitish newspapers said in front page reports that the Royal lay: had aiready dispatched tore than one nuclear-powered abmarine to the Faiklands, a ind-swept chain with potential oil deposits off southern Argen-

Lond. " Daily Express said three destroyers and a frigate nad been alerted to sail from Gi-braltar if diplomacy failed to resolve the erisis over the Falk-lands, one of Britain's few remaining colonies. The British government refused to confirm or deny the reports that warships were being deployed.

The Defense Ministry did Tuenda : -- nr a civilian-manned fleet lanker to the Falkiands, 12,500 kilometers (8,000 miles) from London. This was seen as a signal it planned to send war-ships that would refuel from the tanker in the remote region thousands of miles from any British Navy base. The British foreign secretary,

Lord Carrington, said Tuesday that Argentine warships were in the Faiklands area and the situa-tion is "potentially dangerous."

Argentina's foreign minister, Nicator Costa Mendez, said Tuesday that his country "will not yield before any pressure" refused to leave the islands.

South Georgia will be given the full protection of the Argentine government. Argentine warships from Britain to remove Argen-tinian workers who landed and

The crisis began 11 days ago when a party of Argentine scrap metal merchants landed on re-mote South Georgia Island, gov-eroed as a dependency of the Faikland Islands, 1,280 kilome-ters to the west, to dismantle an old whaling station. Argentina has long elaimed sovereignty over the ehain of about 100 islands, and it has promised pro-tection to the merchants.

South Georgia lies about are in the area." Rex Hunt, the governor of the Falklands, said Wednesday that Britain had suggested that the scrap merchants could legalized their efforts by meeting with British officials and completing

1.900 kilometers east of Argenti-Lord Carrington said Britain had told Argentina that the Argenuines could stay only if they "were to seek the necessary authorization." But he implied that the Argentine government had been unhelpful and added: "The Argentine foreign minister has said that the Argentine party in immigration procedures. Mr. Hunt said, however, that the proposals were rejected by offi-cials in Buenos Aires. Richard Luce of the British Foreign Office said, "If it comes to the point, it would be our duty to defend and support the islanders to the best of our abili-

Several persons, suspected of planning to join in a march, were detained in Buenos Aires. Peronists Clash With Argentine Police

BUENOS AIRES - Police have clashed with Peronist demonstrators marching for "peace, bread and work," At least 10 persons were injured and hun-dreds of demonstrators were jailed in the worst street violence since the 1976 military coup.

An official source said nearly

2.000 people were arrested Tuesday as thousands of police used armored cars, horses whips, work" and the restoration of sus-pended constitutional guaran-tees.

A similar demonstration was held Tuesday in the western city of Mendoza, and the news agency Noticias Argentinas reported that one man was killed there when police opened fire. Official confirmation of the report could not be obtained. Six demonstrators were wounded.

and came amid a deepening eco-nomic difficulties that has festered spreading opposition to President Leopoldo Galtieri's military government said Tues-day the attempt "to upset social peace" had been "neutralized."

The demonstration at the Plaza de Mayo was called by the outlawed General Labor Confederation. The plaza is considered the birthplace in 1945 of The disturbances were the the Peronist movement — a powerful labor movement led by three-time President Juan Perón. clubs and tear gas to break up worst since the military selected crowds demanding "bread and power from babel Perón in 1976

By Axel Krause International Herald Tribune

PARIS - William E. Brock, the U.S. trade representative, firmly rejected allegations Wednesday made by the European Economic Community that the Reagan ad-ministration had violated international law by banning the sale of pipeline equipment to the Soviet

The decision has been made and we have the legal authority to constrain the exportation of U.S. technology," Mr. Brock said at a news conference in Brussels following meetings with senior EEC

The United States and its allies have an obligation to keep the Soviet Union from using "opportunities for the further development of their military might," Mr. Brock Steel Issue Unresolved The administration's chief trade negotiator returned to Washington immediately after the meeting. which also dealt with European attacks on a recent U.S. Commerce Department ruling that could sub-stantially reduce EEC steel exports to the United States.

The long-simmering steel issue also remained unresolved, U.S. officials said.

"We are being very tough but if there is no negotiated settlement soon, there could be a lot of damage to transatlantic trade - if reprisals actually materialize," a senior U.S. official said Wednes-

The official was referring to EEC declarations Tuesday that their governments would consider

Celibacy and Virginity Are Praised by Pope

United Press Internation VATICAN CITY - Pope John Paul II, in an intricate personal analysis of Scripture, said Wednesday that virginity and celibacy are spiritually better than marriage but those who marry are doing no

In his weekly audience in St. Peter's Square. John Paul quoted from St. Paul's First Epistle to the Corinthians, in which the unmar-ried and widowed were advised to remain such and persons were urged to strive even for virginity within marriage.

legally challenging the administra-tion's decision to keep U.S. tech-nology from being used in the Soviet Union's proposed pipeline from Siberia to Western Europe and possibly retaliate against U.S. exports and other trade interests.

Commenting on the steel issue, Mr. Brock said that "we have not resolved the question, we still have the same position," adding that both of us have an interest in resolving what is obviously a very serious and contentious issue."

Mr. Brock said that his talks with EEC commissioners Etienne Davignon and Wilhelm Hafer-kamp had produced "good and very thorough discussion of our mutual difficulties."

EEC officials said that that a negotiated settlement had not been ruled out following a June 11 decision by the U.S. Commerce Department that could substanually reduce European steel imports. But U.S. and European officials in Brussels did not indicate how or when such talks could begin.

Right now no one is moving on steel or the pipeline - the question is will things really get worse now?" a senior U.S. official said. He and European trade officials in Brussels and Geneva interviewed Wednesday said that the new, acri-monious U.S.-EEC tensions could dampen prospects for new trade li-beralization efforts within the General Agreement on Tariffs and

U.S. Initiative Jeopardized

In the tense climate, European officials said it will be extremely difficult for the Reagan administration to win support from its EEC allies on liberalization of trade in services, high technology and investments during a GATT ministerial meeting scheduled for

This U.S. initative may now be in real trouble," an official of a European government said, "hut it is still early to tell at this stage given the stakes."

noted Wednesday that last year's U.S. exports to the EEC totaled $52.2 billion, while U.S. imports from the community were $41.6 hillion and that two-way trade was continuing at those levels so far

"If trade retaliation on the transatlantic gets going, a lot of us on both sides are likely to be hurt," the European official said.

William E. Brock, right, the U.S. trade representative, met with with Gaston Thorn, president of the EEC Commission, Wednesday in Brussels over disputes between the EEC and United States.

Feuding Between Haig and Clark Could Determine Foreign Policy

(Continued from Page 1)

the outhreak of war in Lehanon. Mr. Clark argued, officials said, that the Haig mission had no immediate prospect of success, that the Israelis might "mousetrap" him into supporting the invasion and that his place was by his president's side at the summit meeting.

Pipeline and Credits

But the centerpiece of the Clark-He and other trade officials Haig arguments was the question of bow to handle the allies on the issue of credits to the Soviet Union, As White House officials put the case, Mr. Haig's associates at the State Department traded away the administration's threat to delay the construction of the 3,700-mile gas pipeline from Siberia to West-ern Europe for a vague Western European promise to "limit" credits to Moscow and Eastern Europe.

Mr. Haig felt that the hargain was a good one, as the Europeans had no intention of ahandoning the pipeline deal

Mr. Clark also argued, officials said, that the State Department should have invoked the Polisb situation as another way of putting pressure on the allies to tighten credis. He is said to have reminded Mr. Haig that Mr. Reagan had already blocked American companies from selling gas and oil equip-ment to help the pipeline when the Poles imposed martial law last December.

At any rate, Mr. Haig prevailed. But no sooner was the presidential party back in Washington than Mr. Clark scheduled a meeting on the pipeline for June 18. knowing that Mr. Haig would be in New York on that date, meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A.

For the meeting, the State De-partment had almost all Cahinet members on its side in favor of allowing American companies to fulfill their contracts, even though this would mean belping the pipeline deal. Arrayed against them, as before, were Mr. Weinberger and the White House counsel, Edwin Meese 3d, and, for the first time, sitting at the table on this issue in his own right, Mr. Clark.

By almost all accounts, Mr.

Clark's position was decisive with the president. According to officials. Mr. Reagan chose "the toughest option," that of extending the ban on equipment sales beyond direct American sales to those by foreign manufacturers under license.

Mr. Clark does not win them all. Nonetheless, it is clear that there is a power realignment under way

Although each separate issue involves complicated technical detail, European leaders, speaking collectively through the European

U.S. Details Supply Ban On Pipeline

Penalties Threatened For Noncompliance

WASHINGTON - The Reagan administration spelled out on Wednesday more details of its ban on the use of U.S. technology in pipeline, including possible stiff penalties for noncompliance.

The latest restrictions, ordered Friday by President Reagan, officially took effect Tuesday and have brought strong objections from European governments and Japan, which also is affected by

They are an extension of sanctions imposed Dec. 29 in response to the Soviet stance in Poland. These barred U.S. companies from selling oil or gas equipment or technology to the Soviet Union.

The new regulations extend that han to products manufactured ahroad hy "U.S. owned or controlled subsidiaries" and to products manufactured hy "foreign firms" using U.S. technical data under licensing arrangements.

One More Step

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said that the new sanctions "represent another considered measure in our continued efforts to persuade the Soviets to modify their behavior and end martial law in Poland." A Commerce Department offi-cial, asked to explain why the United States was continuing grain exports to the Soviet Union while seeking to bar the European pipe-line, said: "I wouldn't exclude the possibility of any kind of sanction being applied if the situation con-

The administration's order in December barred use of a crucial type of rotor blade, made by General Electric in the United States. for pumping stations on the proposed 3,500-mile gas pipeline be-tween Siberia and Western Eu-

The new regulations apparently bar a French firm, Alsthorn-Atlan-- which, under license from General Electric, is the only other European producer of this type of rotor - from supplying them for

Lionel H. Olmer, undersecretary of commerce for international trade, said at a news conference that about 20 firms, including 13 licensees and seven subsidiaries. were in some way involved in the pipeline project and would be af-fected by the tightened regula-

Mr. Olmer said that possible penalties for noncompliance would start with "warning letters." The next possible penalty could be placement on a "denial list," meaning. Mr. Olmer said, "that a violator of our regulations could be prohibited from receiving any export of any goods or data from the United States, irrespective of whether they're related to oil

At the "far extreme," he said, would be criminal penalties that could bring up to $10,000 lines if "foreign policy" is involved and up to $100,000 if national security is involved, as it would be, he believes, in the case of the pipeline.

Pressed further on how the administration would respond to noncompliance. Mr. Olmer said the administration was studying the list of foreign licensees and subsidiaries that might somehow be involved to determine the range of their dependence on U.S. goods or services of one kind or another.

WORLD BRIEFS

Bonn Coalition Budget Talks Fail

BONN - Chancellor Helmut Schmidt's troubled left-liberal couling sought in vain Wednesday to settle differences over the 1983 budget, an issue that could be crucial for the government's survival.

Government officials said Cabinet ministers and leaders of the two coalition parties, Mr. Schmidt's Social Democrats and the liberal Free Democrats, would meet again Thursday after some 12 hours of intense discussions Tuesday and Wednesday.

Social Democratic sources said the main point of dispute was the scope of new federal borrowing. Sources in both parties said the Sources Democrats wanted a total of 30 billion Deutsche marks (about $12 billlion), while the Free Democrats, advocating further cuthacis in welling spending, wanted this figure trimmed.

El Salvador Rebels Forbid All Traffic

SAN SALVADOR - Leftist guerrilles fighting the El Salvador and ernment have threatened to destroy any vehicle using any of the coun try's roads. There was doubt here whether the guerrilles could carry out their threat, but the broadcast on the rebel Radio Vencertmos appeared to reflect strengthened confidence in their military capabilities. Tuesday's broadcast came as some of the fiercest fighting to date in the civil war continued, with more than 3,000 of the government's best troops trying to flush an estimated 1,000 generales from the sown of Perquin, which they have occupied since rune 5, and the surrounding area in the rugged northeastern province of Morazan. U.K.-Spain Row Flares on Gibraltar

MADRID --- A diplomatic row flared here Wednesday over a state-ment by British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher that British was not prepared to negotiate the sovereignty of Gibraltar.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the Spanish authorities had been shocked and surprised by Mrs. Thatcher's statement that Britain had hoped to start talks with Spain about Gibraltar but "not on sovereign-

Ministerial talks on the future of Gibraltar were due to have started at Sintra, Portugal, Friday. But they were called off at Spain's request Monday, as was the planned lifting of Spain's Gibralian frontier restric-

U.K. Hospitals Hit Again by Strike

LONDON — Hundreds of hospitals were reduced to emergency-only service Wednesday as the National Health Service was hit by another 24 hour pay strike of ambulancemen, porters, cleaners, clerks and cooks. London's Underground was at a near-standstill for the third straight day in a strike by 2,000 train drivers protesting cutbacks. The walkout stranded tens of thousands of commuters and caused major traffic analis

And more trouble loomed in what Sir Terence Beckett, director-gener al of the Confederation of British Industry, called "a summer of smol-dering resentment" that will impair economic recovery. Rail and steel workers have threatened strikes.

Gandhi Foes Select New Candidate

NEW DELHI - Political opponents of Princ Minister India Gandhi have selected H.R. Khanna, a former Supreme Court judge, as their presidential candidate after being embarrassed by the disqualification of their earlier choice, a Communist leader.

An emergency meeting of opposition leaders Thesday night finally settled on Mr. Khanna, ending a weeklong, tortuous search for a candidate, which political analysis said only strengthened the image of a fumbling, distincted alliance.

Hirendra Nath Mukherjee of the pro-Moscow Communist Party of India withdrew after an election official said he was ineligible because his name did not appear in any electoral list. A candidate for the ceremonial post of India's head of state must be a registered voter.

U.S. Scratches Plan for Airborne MX

WASHINGTON - The Defense Department has disclosed that air borne deployment of the MX missile, the method preferred by Secretary of Defense Caspar W. Weinberger, had been scratched from the list of Henry E. Catto Jr., assistant secretary of defense for public affairs. said Toesday that the system, known as continuous airborne patrol, "no longer is one of the alternatives."

Officials in the Reagan administration said later that the option had been dropped on orders of the White House a month ago. That plan called for building a fleet of aircraft that could keep the MX aloft for several days. Elimination of the airborne idea makes the plan for clustering missiles in hardened silos on a single site of 10 to 15 square miles the clear favorite.

France Launches 6th Nuclear Sub

CHERBOURG, France - France's sixth nuclear submarine, L'Infletible, to be armed with multiple-warhead nuclear missiles, was launched Wednesday by Prime Minister Pierre Mauroy and Defense Minister

The submarine will carry 16 missiles with triple warheads and become perational in 1985. Mr. Mauroy welcomed the strategic arms talks between the United States and the Soviet Union beginning in Geneva next week, but he said that "as long as the super powers do not change the nature of their atomic armament, as long as there does not exist a balance of nuclear and conventional forces in Europe, our nuclear force will not be subject

Higher North Atlantic Air Fares Seen

GENEVA - European and U.S. airlines have begun talks that are likely to fix higher fares on North Atlantic and other routes beginning. Nov. 1, a spokesman for the International Air Transport Association

The association said Tuesday that the industry needs to increase passenger revenue by 15 to 20 percent in 1982 to break even. Two major airlines, Laker and Braniff, collapsed in the past year. An economy class round trip between London and New York now costs about 5830, compared with a low of $156 in 1978.

U.K. Laborites Give Ultimatum to Left LONDON - The Labor Party moved Wednesday to expel revolutionary Troiskyite members, who moderates say are helping destroy the Socialist opposition party's chances of regaining power.

The party's 29-member National Executive Committee voted, 16 to 10, with three abstentions, to accept a report giving the increasingly powerful Trotskyite and Marxist pressure group, the so-called militant tendency, three months to conform or get out.

Leading left-wingers, headed by Tony Benn, a former energy secretary, denounced the move as a witchhunt against leftist factions. "I'm very upset." Mr. Benn said after the decision.

Russian Expects No Early End to Fast

MOSCOW - Sergei Petrov, in the Z2d day of his hunger strike to join his wife in the United States, said Wednesday he felt very weak but expected it would be at least two more weeks before anthorities would even consider his case. Mr. Petrov, 29, said in a telephone interview, "Even though I hope for the best. I am ready for the worst. I will stop my hunger strike only if I am actually given a visa." He said he weighed 150 pounds (68 kilograms), down from 176 pounds.

Compiled From Agency Disputches

Evidence of 'Black Hole' Found by U.S. Spacecraft

NEW YORK — Analysis of pulsing X-rays from an object in the constellation Scorpius has provided new evidence that socalled black holes exist, scientists at the Navai Research Laboratory reported.

The rapid bursts of X-rays, detected by an American spacecraft appear to be coming from gases spiraling into a black hole about 35 miles (56 kilometers) wide. According to the theory, a black hole is a collapsed sun only a few miles wide whose mass is so compressed that its gravity allows nothing to escape; not even

Dr. Herbert Friedman, a physicist at the laboratory, said Totaday that the frequency and other characteristics of the Scorpus signals led scientists to conclude that their source is a black hole. not a neutron star, which is the usual source of such emissions. He said hydrogen drawn toward the black hole spirals in 24.2 disk of gas, spinning ever faster. The X-rays observed by the spacecraft were produced by the spinning material as it resulted temperatures that resulted in thermounches explosions.

European Allies Are Chafing Under U.S. Economic Stance

(Continued from Page 1) cials, delighted with the Reagan administration's more forthcoming attitude on arms control, reject

economic war on the East bloc.

U.S. sources said that Reagan administration hard-liners were dissatisfied with the limited European response to U.S. demands for a tougher economie line against the Soviet Union — a mood that contributed to Mr. Reagan's decision to block foreign firms under U.S. licenses from sending energy equipment to the Soviet Union.

Although Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Ir. is thought to be sympathetic to European views. the State Department has lost its top two economic officials under pressure from U.S. conservatives.

Myer Rashish, who left earlier this ed all sides. U.S. officials reiterat Schmidt of West Germany, stress-

By Richard J. Meislin

New York Times Service

Benito Bignone, who was thrust into Argentina's presidency on Tuesday, is a curious complement to the man who put him there, Lt.

While people use such terms at

'no-nonsense' and

"tough," "no-nonsense" and "hard-line" to describe Gen. Nico-laides, the new army commander,

the description of Gen. Bignone is often simply "nice."

"He is a mild man, not a hawk,

and very different from Nico-laides," a government official said on Tuesday. He added that the new president, who retired from active duty as a major general late last year, was unlikely to give the army high command major problems in managing a government that, with limited navy and air force support, appears likely to be less stable than its predecessor.

appeal to Gen. Nicolaides, whose harsh manner and lack of political experience were said to have eliminated the possibility of his filling the job of president himself.

had no involvement in Argentina's

Another was that Gen. Bignone

That may bave been part of his

Gen. Cristino Nicolaides.

BUENOS AIRES - Revnaldo

Bignone, Nicolaides

Seen as Odd Partners

year, has not been replaced as undersecretary of state for economic straining the dollar's rise. Mr. Mitterrand rejected economic warfare terrand rejected economic warfare

One problem is an apparent misunderstanding about the fol-low-up to the Versailles and NATO summits earlier this month. European leaders emerged from the summits believing they had concluded a limited trade-off entailing U.S. economic help in return for a European move to limit funds to the Soviet Union. But U.S. officials apparently felt that Mr. Reagan's tongh anti-Soviet Union stance in Enrope required an even tougher follow-up in Washington.

Postsummit interviews infuriat-

Gen. Bignone, 54, is known to be a strong supporter of the free-market economic policies of José Alfredo Martinez de Hoz. who served as minister of the economy

under President Jorge Rafael Vide-la. This was the policy that made him least attractive to the air force, which has favored tough controls forcefully about the need for civil liberties, but has tempered his statements with warnings against Communists and other subver-

Commenting last year on the changes that had taken place i-

Argentina since its violent anti-guerrilla campaign of the 1970s, he said, "If someone was afraid to speak, now he can do it; if someone was afraid to write, now be writes; if someone was afraid to act, now he has no reason for it, and if someone was afraid of criticism, with reason or without it,

But, while calling for "civil courage," he added that he excluded from these liberties "the subversives and corrupt ones who we think and hope should have the greatest fear possible."

Gen. Bignone was born on Jan.

now he can express it."

on Argentina's battered economy.

Schmidt's Views

Another source of European grievance is that the Reagan administration wants European companies to sacrifice their industrial exports to the Soviet Union while the United States maintains its lucrative grain trade.
U.S. officials have consistently rejected the idea — widely held in Europe — that the West should first repair its own economies, then work to pressure the Soviet Union. In contrast, Chancellor Helmut ing the priority of Western eco-nomic health at the recent NATO summit, said: "Compared with barmony and economic stability. in the global rivalry between the systems of East and West, the ability to maintain economic and so-ately use this word - strategic im-Each European government fo-cuses on the aspect of U.S. policies where it feels on the stronges ground. West Germany, which is expanding government-guaranteed credits to the Soviet Union, is protesting U.S. rearguard attempts to block the pipeline. France, which stands to make a profit from replacing U.S. parts for the pipeline, cial stability has a - and I deliberis protesting overall U.S. economic policy - an attitude backed by Italy. Britain, which needs U.S. supsistant, Robert D. Hormats, has against the Soviet Union. West other social systems, our societies port in the Falklands conflict, does just been announced. Mr. Haig German officials disputed the U.S. are resilient even in a world ecowas absent from the crucial National Security Council meeting on the pipeline.

contention that the Soviet Union is not creditworthy or that a trade war would undermine Soviet powthey are capable of ensuring social pipeline sanctions on an extraterritonial and retreactive basis to American licensees in Europe.

Economic Commission — lump to-gether the issues as a U.S. threat to

The crisis could spur European efforts to achieve greater autonomy from the United States, officials said. The last leap in European unity arose from transatlanuc frictions during the 1973 Arah oil

Thatcher Weighs Role For U.S. in Falklands

The Associated Fress
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain indicated on Wednesday that she might ask President Reagan for future U.S. participation in a multinational peace force on the Falkland Islands.

Mrs. Thatcher, preparing to leave for Washington and a meeting with Mr. Reagan, said, "For the time being, we shall defend Later, we naturally would wish to consider whether a multinational force could do it more effectively." Speaking at a UN news conference, she said she did not think that a UN peacekeeping force was appropriate for the Falklands because such a force had not stopped outside attacks elsewhere - an apparent reference to Lebanon.

A multinational force, she said, would have to have "a very clear structure of command to prevent the possibility of any further inva-sion" of the Falklands by Argentidiate task, she said, was to move Falklands residents toward self-

Reagan Bill Offers Income Tax Credit

WASHINGTON - President Reagan has sent Congress a mition tax credit bill that would allow parents to deduct $500 a year from their U.S. income taxes by 1985 if their children attend private

The bill submitted Tuesday would provide for tax credits of up to half of the cost of tuition for each child up to a maximum of $100 for 1983, $300 in 1984 and $500 in 1985. In a letter accompanying the hill, Mr. Reagan said he sought to relieve the "double buron families that pay taxes for public schools at the same time they pay tuition for private

Earlier, Mrs. Thatcher had told the United Nations that wars were caused not hy weapons but hy ambitious aggressors tempted by "the prospect of easy advantage and quick victory." "We believe we have the right and a duty to defend our own peo-ple whenever and wherever their liberty is challenged," Mrs. Thatcher added, Addressing the General Assembly's special session on disarmament, she said that, if arms control supports peace "with freedom and justice," then "we must pursue it vigorously." She added: "But if it is carried out in a way which damages peace, we must resist it, recalling that there have been occasions when the known or perceived military weakness of an opponent has been at least as potent a cause of war as military strength."

Marked Contrast

trast to those of most speakers at the monthlong session, especially those from the Third World, who have portrayed the arms race as the leading cause of world ten-

Her words were in marked con-

On Tuesday, the Argentine delegate, Ambassador Julio César Carasales, threatened in his speech that conflict would continue in the South Atlantic until the islands belonged to Argentina. "While the colonial system lasts in the Malvinas Islands," he said, using the Argentine name for the islands. there will be no peace in the South Atlantic."

Mrs. Thatcher urged the delegates to "face reality," saying, The springs of war lie in the readiness to resort to force against other nations, and not in arms races, whether real or imaginary. Aggressors do not start wars because an adversary has built up his own strength. They start wars because they believe they can gain more by going to war than by remaining at war with Britain over the Falkland 21, 1928, in the town of Moron, Islands, whose unsuccessful conwest of the capital. He is married to the former Nilda Raquel Belen. clusion led to the removal of President Leopoldo F. Galueri. and they have three children.

We are a licensed adoption agency now accepting applications for adoption of children born in the U.S.A.

ADOPTION SERVICES

FRIENDS OF CHILDREN, INC.

For information, please write or call:

4325 Memorial Drive Decatur, Georgia 30032, U.S.A. Telephone: (404) 294-9000.

Gen. Reynaldo Benito Bignone stopped to talk to reporters Wednesday after meeting with Argentina's navy commanders.

purely military. He entered the quent posts were director of the National Military Academy as a National Military Academy, seccadet at 16, graduating as a second ond in command of Argentina's lieutenant in 1947. He worked his military institutes and secretary-

He continued his climb, taking command of the cadet corps in the National Military Academy in 1970 and being named secretary to

United Press International GUATEMALA CITY - Unidentified gunmen kidnapped the 24-year-old son of Guatemala's interior minister, Ricardo Mendez Ruiz, Wednesday, authoriues said. No political group immediately claimed responsibility, nor was there any no word on ransom demands. It was the third abduction in the nation in two days.

Guatemalan Is Kidnapped

His training and background are the high command in 1973. Subseway up, becoming a captain at the general of the army. In December, end of 1954 when he entered the 1980, he became commander of Superior War College. that post until his retirement. For a country where civilian pol-> years, Gen. Bignone's political experience is relatively extensive. A soft-featured, haldish man who wears wire-rim glasses, he was an intimate of the generals who seized power from civilians in iucs has been suspended for six

As secretary-general of the army during Gen. Videla's tenure, he often served as liaison between the military and the political parties, by then suspended. His skills in this area should be useful if the army intends, as it pledged on Tuesday, to return Argentina to ci-

The British government's immo-

Los Angeles Times Service

Mitterrand Seeks End To Dispute After Open Rift With Juan Carlos

MADRID — President François Interiand tried Wednesday to convince skeptical Spanish leaders that he wants better French-Span-ish relations after differing public-ly Tuesday with King Juan Carlos lon sensitive issues.

Mr. Mitterrand, on the last day of an official two-day visit, held talks with Premier Leopoldo Calvo Sotelo and party leaders to demonstrate France's goodwill, despite its arrinades toward Spanish entry to the European Economic Commu-nity and Basque guerrillas in

d All Traffic

the Combador Res

The second to

ı Gibralar

A commence of the second secon

the state of the s

The State of the S

the lands free series

A TAIL TORN

by Strike

· (a) in charge of the three states

. - Page tulk son

Bresch dreite gen

1. A + P Imana Ganda

erit who

្នា ខេត្ត ខែមាន

1907 of 1 (88)

Parts of 13at 3g

ram)

and the state of t

30.7 (2.1 🗼 իս բա

the A.A. and Ave.

e a market

Ment.

Liberate Liberate

I TO THE

3.00 of 20

AFF. Seel

. ... 1.14 ²⁸

20.

tom la la

Hole

ear Sub

100 rborne M

amdidate

r to a . For pe laber 14

T. W. and

Francisco de la composición del composición de la composición de la composición de la composición de la composición del composición de la The two subjects, longstanding sources of Spanish resentment toward France, have so far defied sttempts by Mr. Mitterrand to shift discussion to what French officials call a higher plane.

After a lengthy meeting Tuesday, both Juan Carlos and Mr.

Mitterand used the platform of a state banquet to set out apparently irreconcilable positions on the Besques and the EEC.

Haven to Terrorists'

Jaan Carlos said he expected no turther delays in Spain's EEC en-ny negotiations, adding that talk of friendship would otherwise mean nothing. He also said no European democracies should be offering haven to terrorists.

In reply, Mr. Mitterrand said nish entry to the EEC under Spanish entry to the EEC under the community's current legisla-tion could lead to disaster. He repeated the French view that the EEC could not handle the effects of Spanish entry on the Mediter-ranean farm industry of other EEC

"The arrival of Spain would correspond to a state of regrettable marchy put into operation by the current members of the community.

"I will not take the risk of adding new miseries to the present miseries of Europe," he said. He also repeated France's policy

Prague Refuses to Give Visas to French Bishops

VIENNA - Two French Roman Catholic bishops have been refused visas to attend religious celebrations in Czechoslovakia next month, the Austrian Catholic news agency Kathpress said Wednesday, Rishop Paul Joseph Schmitt of Metz and Rishop Heari Erouet of Sees had planned to take part in a festival honoring the ninth century missionaries St. Cyril and St. Methodius, the agency said.

guerrilla suspects while at the same time working to stop extremists operating from the French side of the Pyrenees.

Spanish officials, who described the king's statements as unusually direct, said they were dismayed that Mr. Mittersand appeared to have brought no concessions to Madrid, a view echoed in Spanish newspapers Wednesday.

The pro-government daily Diario 16 reported Tuesday's meetings under the headline "Mitterrand arrives in Spain with empty pock-ets." The daily El Pais reported that Mr. Mitterrand had had a cool reception. Diplomats said Mr. Mitterrand appeared to be trying to establish better relations that would survive change of government. Mr. Calvo Sotelo's center-right minority coalition is in the midst of a crisis that political commentators believe could end with a victory by the Socialist Party in general elec-tions later this year.

President François Mitterrand of France, with King Juan Car-los I at his left, greeted Felipe González, head of Spain's So-cialist Party, at a Royal Palace banquet Tuesday in Madrid.

Mitterrand's Economic Policies Are Denounced by Left and Right

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispat PARIS — President François Mitterrand's Socialist government came under attack on Wednesday from left and right, with a major rightist opposition leader declar-ing, "France has taken the wrong

In a speech often drowned by hoots from leftists in the gallery, Mayor Jacques Chirac of Paris, the leader of the Rally for the Republic party, called on the National Assembly to censure the government for its economic policies, which he said have caused the franc's value to drop to a record low, nearly 6.90 to the U.S. dollar.

Security and liberty are gravely threatened by the results of your acts," Mr. Chirac said, looking at Prime Minister Pierre Mauroy, sitting directly in front of the assembly's podium.

There was almost no chance that the rightist censure motion would be passed since the Socialists, who came into office in May, 1981, have a majority in the legislature even without their Communist allies. The results of the vote were to be announced oo Thursday. Meanwhile, Georges Marchais, the leader of the Communist Par-ty, Wednesday rejected the governeconomie austerity plan. The Com-munists have four ministers in the Cabinet, and Mr. Marchais previously had abstained from public criticism of the government.

But in an article in the party daily newspaper L'Humanité, Mr. Marchais said that the Communists could not approve any law that froze salaries and suspended free wage bargaining. Political commentators said that Mr. Marchais appeared to be distancing himself from the Socialists' anti-inflation proposals in preparation for municipal elections next

Mr. Marchais nevertheless has pledged that Communist assembly members would vote against the rightist censure motion. He said on television that his party would support a vote of confidence in the government's general economic program but could not vote in favor of a freeze on salaries.

Prime Minister Mauroy, who preceded Mr. Chirac at the podium, defended his government's decision earlier this month to devalue the franc and freeze wages and prices natioowide until Oct. 31 as a means of bringing down France's 14-percent annual inflation. "I did ment's plan to impose a fourmonth wage freeze as part of its forecasts of when we will see the month wage freeze as part of its

forecasts of when we will see the end of the tunnel," he said, "nor creased.

did I come to ask for blood and

He reiterated the government's intention to press ahead with the nationalization of key industries and to increase government invest-Mr. Chirac used sweeping ges-tures to reinforce his points and denounce the government. Looking directly at Mr. Mauroy, he "You have demonstrated your incompetence for too long to be able to restore confidence easily." He added: "You are forced to impose by legislative channels measures that are rejected by the Communist Party and the CGT and for which no one wants to take responsibility." The CGT, or General Confederation of Labor, is Communist-led.

To avoid an open conflict, the government is expected to use an article in the constitution that will allow the draft bill on the freeze to be adopted without a vote if a censure motioo on that issue is rejected by the assembly, political sourc-

The plan for a wage and price later this month in Philadelphia. freeze followed the devaluation of the frane on June 12, the second in eight mooths, as international con-

Democrats Seize Upon Nuclear Issue

U.S. Politicians See Votes in the Growth of Weapons-Freeze Movement

By Judith Miller

New York Times Service
WASHINGTON - The movement for a freeze on Soviet and U.S. nuclear arsenals, which has attracted widespread bipartisan appeal, is increasingly being seized upon by Democratic politicians as significant issue to sway votes in the November elections.

Democratic and Republican politicians agree that the freeze campaign is becoming far more partisan and politicized, but they disagree about how prominent a role it will play this fall.

Richard N. Bond, deputy chairman of the Republican National Committee, discounted the freeze issue, arguing that the economy would overshadow all other concerns. Besides, Mr. Bond contend-ed. the Republican candidates would not be vulnerable to charges of ignoring the nuclear arms race if they supported the arms reduction proposals set forth by President Reagan.

"Not a single race will be a loser for us" because of the freeze issue, Mr. Bond predicted.

A Political Opportunity

Several Democratic Party officials and advisors, however, see the campaign as an important political opportunity, one from which the Democrats stand to profit. Eugene Eidenberg, director of the Demo-cratic National Committee, asserted that his party was in a good po-sition to benefit from the arms freeze movement because of the party's past association with arms control issues and because the Reagan administration has "written off" the movement by rejecting a weapons moratorium now.
"I can't remember any issue, including Watergate, that has moved so many people so quickly," said Robert Squier, who produces television commercials for several Democratic candidates.

There is manifold evidence that the freeze movement is becoming a Democratic issue, including these developments;

 The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in rejecting a resolu-tion advocating a mutual and verifiable nuclear freeze" earlier this month, was divided along strict party lines.

• The U.S. Conference of Mayors, meeting in Minneapolis, is considering action on five resolutions supporting arms control. All the resolutions were sponsored by mayors who are Democrats or who were elected on nonpartisan bal-At its midterm convention the Democratie Party is expected to endorse a carefully fashioned resolution calling for a strengthen-ing of the quality of U.S. conventional forces, a freeze on the production of ouclear weapons and balanced reductions in the nuclear arsenals of the United States and the Soviet Union. The initiative was drafted by aides to the leading contenders of the party's 1984 presidential nomination.

· Several political action committees have designated the nuclear freeze issue as the sole reason or major factor in determining hich House and Senate candidates they will support or attempt

'Able to Waffle'

"Too many legislators have been able to waffle so far," said John Isaacs, legislative director of the Council for a Livable World, a Washington-based group that lobbies for arms control measures.

Ann F. Lewis, political director of the Democratic National Committee, said several Democratic candidates were citing their support for a moratorium on nuclear arms to help differentiate them from their Republican opponents. Brown Jr. of California, a candidate for the Senate; G. Douglas Stephens, who is challenging Rep. Robert H. Michel, Republican of Illinois; Rep. Toby Moffett, a Democratic candidate for the Sen-ate from Connecticut, and Rep. Peter A. Peyser, Democrat of New York, who is running for Senate. Rep. Edward J. Markey, Democrat of Massachusetts, an early freeze proponent, said many Re-publicans would come under increasing pressure to break with President Reagan and support a freeze once they understood the "depth and breadth of national concern about arms control."

A Middle-Class Issue

Because the middle-class people care about this issue, supporting it will give you 500 volunteers to stamp envelopes in your campaign," Rep. Markey said.
Moreover, political analysts

note that freeze proponents have

Among them are Gov. Edmund G. been politically active for many months, mostly at the local and state levels. Thus far, initiatives calling for a freeze on nuclear arse-nals have been approved by 385 town meetings in New England, 125 city councils, 30 county councils and nine legislatures. Nearly 2 million signatures have been collected on petitions related to anti-nuclear proposals, and it is esti-mated that a freeze would be on the ballot in perhaps a dozen states

Several Democrats said they saw few political disadvantages in supporting a freeze. If Mr. Reagan fails to gain a deep reduction in intermediate-range nuclear missiles and strategic arsenals from the Soviet Union, one legislator said, Democrats can argue that he is not seriously committed to arms control.

If Mr. Reagan does get an agree-ment with the Russians, Democrats can claim credit for having "prodded him into it."

Hitachi Admits Buying IBM Secrets, Alleges It Was Entrapped by FBI agents responded by setting up a nese included design information consulting firm to which the Japa- on IBM's 3081 computer, the com-

By Steve Lohr

New York Times Service TOKYO - Hitachi Ltd., a major lapanese computer manufacturer said Wednesday that it authorized payment of $540,000 for confiden-tial computer information taken from International Business Ma-

Hitachi's admission came after the U.S. Justice Department on Tuesday had charged 18 Japanese businessmen, mostly from Hitachi and Mitsubishi Electric Corp. with felony counts of conspiring to steal industrial secrets from IBM. Mitsubishi denied the accusations.

"It seems that Hitachi stepped into the trap," said Yasushi Sayama, a spokesman for the company, who nevertheless disputed some of the points of the indictment.

Where the FBI and Justice Department said that Hitachi paid $622,000 to an undercover agent, Hitachi said it authorized payment of $540,000 to what it believed to be a consulting firm. Glenmar Associates, which turned out to be an FBI front. The FBI charged in Washington that Mitsubishi officials paid $26,000 to the same bogus consulting service for IBM

Apparently, Hitachi's only de-fense for its 10 employees charged in the case will be that they were "entrapped," a legal concept.

lo Washington, however, the FBI said the Japanese made the in-itial inquiries about obtaining innese were referred. According to Hitachi, two men unit, code used to program com from the Glenmar firm, Alex J. Harrison and Dick Kerigan, ap-proached Kenji Hayashi, a Hitachi senior engineer, in the United States sometime before April 23. On April 23, the Glenmar agents spoke with Kisaburo Nakazawa, general manager of Hitachi's Ka-nagawa unit who was visiting the United States. According to the company version, they presented Mr. Nakazawa with a proposal to sell the IBM information and also proposed a price, Mr. Nakazawa, according to the Japanese, said the price was too high.

After Mr. Nakazawa returned to Japan, Mr. Hayashi continued to oegotiate. Later, agreement was reached on a price of $540,000 and on May 19 Hitachi made the first payment of $30,000. One of the Mitsubishi suspects and five from Hitachi have been arrested and arraigned in San Francisco, while warrants are out for 12 in Japan. A warrant is also out for a student charged with receiving stolen IBM documents. We've named 12 people in the indictment that are pretty top management in that corporatioo (Hitachi)," said John Gibbons, chief of the criminal divisioo in the San Francisco U.S. Attorney's Off-

According to the indictment, information and FBI undercover formation requested by the Japa-

ters in downtown Washington.

crime leaders to kill Mr. Hoffa.

ishment at the amount of money. Others in the computer field agree

pany's largest, as well as data oo IBM's 3380 memory-disc-storage

puters and architecture oo IBM

Hiroshi Fhihara of McKinsey

and Co. in Tokyo expressed aston-circuit boards.

that, given the amount of the authorized payments, senior executives at Hitachi must have known they were not ordinary business

The Turner Joy Fired On Again United Press Internal

WASHINGTON - The Pentagon says that fishing boats believed to have been Vietnamese fired machineguns at three U.S. combat ships in international waters in the South China Sea oo Sunday.

A machinegun round penetrated the destroyer Turner Joy but did not hit anyone, Army Col. Ronald Duchin, head of the Pentagon's news division. said Tuesday. The Turner Joy was attacked by North Vietnam in the Gulf of Tonkin in 1964,

2 Jurors Report Doubts Over Hinckley Verdict

WashingTon — Two jurors in the trial of John W. Hinckley Jr. have said that they regretted the jury's decision to find the 27-yearold defendant not guilty by reason of insunity on all 13 counts connected with the shooting of President Reagan and three other men. Mr. Hinckley was same at the time of the shootings and should have been found guilty on at least some of the charges, the two jurors, Nathalia L. Brown and Maryland T. Copelin, said on Tuesday. Constant battles among purors, they said, caused them to Other jury members, however, stood by the verdict issued on Monday. Lawrence H. Coffey, the pry foreman, said that Mr. Hinckley's sometimes bizarre poetry and personal isolation convinced jurors that he may not have been same on March 30, 1981, when he shot and wounded the president outside the Washington Hilton Hotel. 19 - 124 19 - 125 19 - 126 10 - 126 10 - 126 10 - 126 10 - 126 10 - 126 10 - 126 10 - 126 10 The writings to me were those person who was confused," said Mr. Coffey, who, at 22, was the youngest of the jurors. He said the jurors took turns reading Mr. Hinckley's poetry aloud during their four days of deliberations.

Nixon Will Visit Eastern Europe

NEW YORK — Former President Richard M. Nixon will leave Saturday on a "personal fact-finding trip" to four Eastern European countries, a spokesman said Wednesday.

Mr. Nixon will confer with the heads of state of Romania, Bulgaria. Czechoslovakia and Hungary, said Nicholas Ruwe, the former president's spokesman here.

cial crisis, it was reported on

The Polish news agency PAP and that Deputy Premier Jerzy Ozdowski and other officials had assured the Home Trade Minis-

to prepare a forecast for a

Pridual reduction in the scope of

The rationing which began in April, 1981, has come under increasing criticism lately in the me-

"We said, "Wow, this doesn't make sense," Mr. Coffey recalled.

Weary from the trial, many of the jurors refused to talk to reporters on Tuesday. Those who were interviewed described the jury deliberations as emotional and intense. Mr. Coffey said that he wept when he arrived home. "This trial has been just too much for him," said his mother, Ella Coffey.

Speaking at a news conference a Tuesday afternoon, Miss Brown and Mrs. Copelin agreed with the prosecution's argument that Mr. Hinckley, who faced life imprisonment had he been convicted, created the appearance of insanity to avoid a prison term. He was a "shrewd manipulator," Mrs. Copelin said.

Mrs. Copelin, a 50-year-old caf-eteria worker and mother of four, said that Mr. Hinckley "isn't crazy, he's a genius. He manipulated his family, his father and now us." She agreed with other jurors that Mr. Hinckley should be offered psychiatric treatment — but in prison rather than in the Washington mental hospital where he is now confined.

Pressured by long debates among jurors and separation from their families, the two women said, they abandoned their argument that Mr. Hinckley was sane and should be found guilty on some of the counts against him. Miss Brown said that she and Mrs. Copelin refused to cast not-guilty votes until late Monday afternoon.

"I changed because of the pres-sure," said Miss Brown, 31, 2 shop mechanic who said that she was the last juror to hold out for a guilty verdict. "I had the shakes all day," she said. "I had to get out of Both women said that they found confusing the voluminous psychiatric testimony heard at the eight-week trial, considered a crucight-week that, considered a critical test of the insunity defense.

Mr. Coffey agreed that, while the psychiatric testimony was critical to their decision, juross had difficulty "weeding ont what was im-

St. Elizabeth's Hospital, the Washington psychiatric facility where John Hinckley will be treated.

Houston to Control Urban Growth

City Yields to Pressures to Restrict Development

· By Wayne King New York Times Service HOUSTON — Yielding to pressure to control unbridled urban growth, the Houston City Council has imposed stringent controls on A new ordinance requires setback buildings and manageable block lengths that represent a dra-matic shift from the past attitude pleased with his property. Furthermore, the controls had the endorsement of developers, who for half a century have quashed all efforts to restrict development in this city. "The land developers have for many years called the shots politi-cally," C. Iim Stewart said Tuesday. He is a dealer in heavy equipment who is chairman of the city "They didn't really like it, but know it's this or no telling what else will come up, zoning or land use," be said. "We can't continue our growth pattern of the past 10 years without choking on our-Mr. Stewart said he also opposed conventional zoning or mandatory land use plans, saying. Zoning is a substitute for good mning." But he added that refusal to impose minimum mandathat a landowner could do as he tory controls on developers had resuited in "a chaotic situation."

The rush hours in Houston are considered among the worst in the

The dizzving urban growth overwhelms services of all kinds and exceeds the city's ability to build roads fast enough. Moreover, Houston, like Los Angeles, is growing out, not up, further increasing the load on roads.

Before the adoption of the ordinance, the city did not have con-trol over most commercial develcommission for approval. Hereto-fore, only residential developments

The ordinance also mandates maximum block lengths of 1,400 feet. This is intended to eliminate the long, unbroken blocks, as in big shopping centers, that cut off through traffic.

up to the edge of pavements. That means the streets cannot be wid-

"Now." said Mr. Stewari, "they have got to come before us for any kind of development. We're not going to slow development, we'll give our okeydokey, but it has to be orderly, not the way it has

Possibly more important, in Mr. Stewart's view, is a provision that extends the city's jurisdiction over development to 5 miles beyond its trol developments that may eventually be annexed to the city. In the past, annexation has meant inheriting problems. The restrictions, although modest by other urban standards, are a sharp departure here. "I almost fainted," said Eleanor Tinsley, the council member who spon-sored the ordinance and lobbied for its passage. "Six months ago this would have been unheard of. But people got the message."

Hoffa Plot to Murder Successor Is Reported marshals and testifying from be-

By Joseph B. Treaster
New York Times Service WASHINGTON - A self-described mob murderer has said that James R. Hoffa, former president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, ordered him seven years ago to kill Mr. Hoffa's successor, Frank E. Fitzsimmons.

Testifying under oath before a Senate subcommittee. Charles Allen said Tuesday that Mr. Hoffa also told him he intended to have four persons involved in organized crime killed in an attempt to regain control of the union.

But, Mr. Allen testified, the scheme became known to members of the underworld and led to Mr. Hoffa's disappearance. Mr. Allen said that after Mr. Hoffa disappeared on July 30, 1975, Anthony Provenzano, a New Jersey Teamsters leader who was one of the repoted organized crime figures marked for death by Mr. Hoffa, told him, "Jimmy was killed, ground up in little pieces, shipped to Florida and dumped in a swamp. The former Teamsters president was last seen outside a restaurant in Bloomfield Township in suburban Detroit. His remains have not been found and no one has been charged in connection with his disappearance. Mr. Allen seemed to imply but did not say directly that Mr. Provenzano had arranged for Mr. Hoffa's murder. Mr. Provenzano is now serving a 20-year prison sen-tence for labor racketeering. Mr. Allen, 50, who has been a participant in the federal program for protected witnesses since 1979, made his disclosures at a hearing of the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, part of the Sen-ate Governmental Affairs Com-Mr. Fitzsimmons took over the union in 1967, when Mr. Hoffa went to prison for participating in a ring that collected about $1 million in kickbacks from loans from the union's pension fund. When Mr. Hoffa was released from prison in 1971, having been granted clemency by President Richard M. Nixon, he was required to sign a statement saying he would not seek union office before 1980. He later disavowed that statement, however, and began making overtures to regain control, but Mr. Fitzsimmons refused to give way.

Mr. Fitzsimmons continued a president of the Teamsters until be died of cancer last year.

Mr. Allen, flanked by armed

AUTHORS WANTED

Britain's ambassador to the world.

Beefeater A superlative tasting gin, first created in London by James Burrough over 100 years ago. A subtle blend of herbs and spices, skilfully distilled to yield a spirit that defies imitation.

Beefeater. The gin of England.

Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu extended a personal invitation to Mr. Nixon last winter, Mr. Ruwe said, Mr. Nixon will pay

Poland to Study an Easing of Food Rationing dia, where writers have expressed WARSAW — Poland is preparing for a gradual reduction of the lood rationing imposed last year during the nation's labor and socomplaints that shoppers have made for more than a year. Recent consumer publications criticized the rationing system as creating a permanent mentality of buying what was not needed or bartering for goods, and called for

It originally provided 3.5 kilograms (7.7 pounds) of meat a month per person but has been reduced over the months to 2.5 kilograms (5.5 pounds). Other rationed goods include flour, butter, coffee, cigarettes and vodka.

Improvements in supplies since pared to last year, when the mines the imposition of martial law last December have also spurred officials to begin considering an end to rationing, the first since the ear-lv 1950s. Meanwhile, the Communist Party daily Trybuna Ludu predicted that Poland's hard coal output this year would top 180 million tons if equipment continued to function enough railroad cars were ment fall into disrepair last year, while officials blamed strikes for cutting into coal output.

Coal is the major earner of hard currency for Poland, which is in need of Western money to repay its debts of about $25 billion to Western creditors. Coal production dropped

Poland has already reported an 1980 and 1981 after a record pro-increase in coal output during the first quarter of this year as com-

opment or major construction, un-The ordinance mandates that all development, residential or commercial, come before the planning were submitted.

Another problem is that office buildings have been built almost

Beyonds Borders

This will enable Houston to con-

Leading subsety book publisher seeks manuscripts of all types fathern non-faction poetry inventile scholarly and religious works, etc. New authors welfarmed. Seed for free booker H-3 treacherous than the march in. That is why Prime Minister Begin has asked President Reagan to help extricate him. And that is why Mr. Reagan holds a powerful hand in the diplomacy now begun.

A Price for Aiding Begin

The Israelis alone cannot cope with the consequences of the hlitzkrieg to Beirut. They cannot indefinitely occupy half of Lebanon or impose the order that would reclaim the land from the Syrians and the PLO. America may be able to help arrange and reinforce that order. But its help should not be given on Mr. Begin's terms, which confuse destruction of the PLO with the destruction of all Palestinian aspirations.

If this was the battle to end the battling, let Israel prove it by the quality of the peace it offers. If American weapons were justly used to hreak the PLO — and to kill uncounted thousands of noncombatants in the process — let Americans take the lead in defining the purpose to which the victory is put.

As Israel's partner in the Camp David peace and the Lebanon slaughter, America is obliged finally to address the root of the problem. Israel needs to recognize the need for a Palestinian home and to begin by suspending the colonization of the West Bank and Gaza, which are home to more than a million Palestinians.

If there i: a justification for the new devastation in Lehanon, it is that Israel emerges more secure than it has ever been. Repeatedly attacked, maligned and shunned by the read the accords very differently. Arab world, it has truly conquered a hostile environment. With mastery in the east, peace now begs for America's diplomatic lead in the south and victory in the north, it confronts no significant challenge to its power only its motives. For again in Lehanon, the to define America's conditions for a Palestin-Begin government has left the unavoidable impression that it aims not only for safety

Israel's path out of Lehanon can be more and peace but also for more land and thus dominion over alien peoples.

To be sure, Mr. Begin covets "not one inch" of Lehanon. But driving the PLO rockets out of range of the Galilee did not require a bloody march to Beirut and all that bombing of strongholds in civilian centers.

Israel fought — and now hargains — to destroy the PLO's military power and to intimidate Palestinians against collaborating with it. But the ultimate audience for that object lesson is not in Lebanon at all; it is the Palestinians of the West Bank and Gaza, who were promised "full autonomy" but are threatened with absorption or dispersal.

Mr. Begin is plain about using his occupation powers to prepare the territories for annexation. His defense minister, General Sharon, is even plainer about wanting to chase the inhabitants to Jordan.

Israel's security is also America's fight; Israel's claim to the West Bank is not. Israel cannot be expected to yield territory or independence to Arahs who refuse to reciprocate. But it can be expected in its present pre-eminence to be not only generous but farsighted.

If Palestinians are to accept defeat and shrunken amhition, rejecting terror for negotiation, they need a political structure. And they need evidence that negotiation can lead to genuine self-rule. Properly read, the Camp David accords provide that promise. Yet Americans, afraid to provoke Mr. Begin or to harm Israel by withholding aid, have let him

Lebanon should dispel those fears. Israel and cannot now be militarily injured by diplomatic pressure. Mr. Reagan has the chance ian peace and to insist on Israel's help.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

The Rights of Illegal Aliens

wise for a state to bar the children of illegal aliens from the public schools. The state of Texas, swamped with undocumented Mexifor its own citizens by enacting a statute authorizing local school districts to turn away or charge tuition to children whose parents are there illegally. A handful of smaller jurisdictions across America adopted a similar policy. Not only does this practice penalize children for something that is beyond their control, it is also not in the long-term interest of the government to impede the basic educa-tion of children, most of whom will probably reside in America for the rest of their lives.

Having said that, it is quite another thing to find that the exclusion policy is not simply unwise but unconstitutional. This is what the Supreme Court did when, in the case of for the majority, found that discrimination hy a state against the children of illegal aliens is a violation of the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment. Chief Justice Burger, writing for the dissenters, put their objections in the clearest possible terms: "Denying a free education to illegal alien children is not a choice I would make were I a legislator

... But that is not the issue; the fact that there are sound policy arguments against the Texas legislature's choice does not render that choice an unconstitutional one." Emphasizing the rights and responsibilities of elected legislatures in formulating social policy, he continued, "The Constitution does

There is widespread agreement that it is un- not provide a cure for every social ill, nor does it vest judges with a mandate to try to remedy every social problem."

The dissent is a resounding call for judicial can workers, sought to discourage such im- restraint in the face of demands upon the migration and save scarce education money courts to remedy the failures - or the slow pace - of the political process.

The practical impact of this decision will not be broad. It is estimated that only 20,000 to 30,000 children are involved, and Gov. William Clements of Texas says the state will find the money to educate them. But questions with much wider application that involve enormous amounts of money lie ahead. Justice Powell, in a footnote to his concurring opinion, invites further litigation by asserting: "If the resident children of illegal aliens were denied welfare assistance, made available by government to all other children who qualify, this also - in my opinion would be an impermissible penalizing of chil-Plyler v. Doe, it struck down the Texas stat- dren because of their parents' status." The ute by a 5-to-4 vote. Justice Brennan, writing fact is, of course, that most states already deny welfare benefits to illegal aliens, who are also harred by federal law from the food stamp program, Medicare, Medicaid and a host of other social welfare programs.

In sorting out society's responsibilities for those who are in the country in violation of law, the courts would be wise to attach great weight to the decisions of elected legislatures. Judicial extension of entitlement programs to millions of illegal aliens will be a lot more controversial than providing public education to 20,000 young children. And it is a good bet that these more difficult questions are just around the corner. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE WASHINGTON POST.

Peace Refused

Anthony Lewis (in "Grotesquely Illegitimate Means," IHT, June 15) states, regarding Israel, that a great military victory in 1967 produced not magnaminity but delusions of empire. This is historically untrue. After that war Israel offered in return all conquered territory in exchange for peace. This offer was refused by the Arab states at Khartoum in July, 1967.

Geneva. NORMAN ADES.

Regarding "Cure by Mutual Recognition" (IHT, June 16): Philip Klutznick cites some dubious polls and opinions but omits to mention one incontrovertible fact: The PLO in its charter denies the right of Israel to exist and proclaims the destruction of the Jewish state as its supreme aim.

As to Klutznick's advocacy of a Palestinian state, I quote from George Will two days earlier: The Palestinian state is Jordan." Zurich. A LINTON.

No Applause

Regarding "The U.S. Should Applaud Israel" (IHT, June 18):

should applaud Israel's blitzkrieg into Lebanon. I fail to see anything applause-worthy in the kill-ing of 10,000 people, and I am disappointed that Norman Podhoretz's article was chosen to appear on your editorial page.

One wonders why the Israeli Air Force is capable of knocking out a nuclear plant in Iraq in a single raid, yet needs to destroy the lives and homes of thousands of people in Lebanon in its reckss pursuit of the PLO.

Begin has oow replaced Qadhafi as the most dangerous man in the Middle East.

STEVEN B. HOWARD. Yes, history does repeat itself - and in strange ways, when the victims of the Holocaust of the 1930s and '40s become the perpetrators of one in the '80s. And again the major powers stay passively on the sidelines. Geneva. THOMAS AITKEN.

As an American Jew I am appalled to see that Israel's hloody invasion of Lebanon has met so little crincism in the United States, f am outraged that the murder and wounding of thon-It is preposterous that the sands of people, mostly civilians, ons. And I am ashamed that the Jewish people, who so narrowly escaped annihilation by the Nazis, now seek to annihilate their Palestinian cousins.

The killing must stop and a peaceful solution to the long-raging conflict based on recogniflon of the rights of both peoples BESS BROTSKY.

A Mediator?

The editorial entitled "Arafat's Moment of Truth" (IHT, June 17) concludes that a statement by Yasser Arafat that Palestimans are ready to live side by side with Israel in peace would be "the only sane thing."

It would be a waste of time to look to the United Nations to bring this about. But I believe there is a man who could achieve it: Dr. Bruno Kreisky, Chancellor of Austria. Such a solution has always been his aim, and the goal in his talks with Arafat.

STEFAN KLEIN. Munich. Perhaps only the pope can prevent extermination of the Christians in Lebanon and a "holy war" of Arab states against Israel. GUY MATHIEU. Mougins, France.

June 24: From Our Pages of 75 and 50 Years Ago

1907: Miffed Mullahs Walk Out

United States or any other nation was committed with U.S. weap-

TEHRAN - The dispute between the Mullahs and the Reformers of the fundamental laws continues. During a sitting of the National Assemhly a deputy asked why the Reform Bill had not been placed on the agenda for the day. The president answered that owing to some difficulty in the text it had been decided to report it to the high Moslem officials at Kuhna and Najeb and await their discussion. This reply hurt the feelings of the Mullahs here, who deem themselves quite competent to discuss religious questions. Many of the Mullahs left the house in a rage, uttering threats. But the Reformers were not perturbed, for they regard the struggle against the Mullahs as a fight for Persia's freedom.

1932: French Soffragettes Fail

PARIS - Sitting in accustomed austerity, the French Senate heard debate on a bill proposing important extensions of civil rights to women, while police and the Republican Guard kept order within and without the Luxembourg Palace to prevent feminist demonstrations. Despite the senators' original desire to bar women entirely from the debate, a few members of the weaker sex managed to storm the building for the session under promise that they would remain quiet. Slight hope that French women's suffrage will win its long-awaited victory existed after the session. The whole Left wing of the Senate appears as opposed as ever to grant women in this country equal rights with men.

Before, During and After the Pipeline Decision

Then the President Decided

By William Safire

WASHINGTON - The National Security Council gathered in the Cabinet Room at the White House at 1:30 p.m. last Friday to consider whether to offend America's European allies hy denying them access to U.S. tech-oology in the construction of the Siberian gas pipeline.
President Reagan's national se-curity adviser. William Clark.

called on Larry Eaglehurger (sitting in for Secretary of State Alexander Haig) for the State Department's view. Undersecretary Eagleburger went through the defeatist litany: The West Germans insisted the deal could not be un-done, and the U.S. legal position on extraterritoriality was challengeable. State recommended an exemption on deals made before the Polish repression.

Treasury Secretary Don Regan

was generally but unquotably supportive of a harder-line view. Defense Secretary Fraspar Weinlucci (Caspar Weinberger and Frank Carlucci have merged) made the case for refusing to help had promised "further steps" if the Soviets did not ease up in Poland; the pipeline would make the Europeans dependent on the Soviet Union for energy: an alternative potential supply exists in Norway; the hard-currency earnings of the Soviets on this European-linanced deal would enable the Kremlin to buy more Western technology. Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige hoped that the United States would not shoot itself in the foot with the denial of licenses. He argued that sanctions might penalize the West Germans and the British and reward the French, who had heen the most contemp-nous of the U.S. position. The NSC members were aware that President Mitterrand, in a press conference after the Versailles summit, had snatched away what-ever tiny fig leaf U.S. negotiators thought they had arranged on subsidizing Soviet-bloc credit. Then, at 1:45, with Admiral John Poindexier taking official notes, Ronald Reagan asserted himself as leader of the free world: "I don't want in short ourselves in WASHINGTON — President Reagan, citing continued martial law in Poland, said Friday he was maintaining and expanding a ban on the sale of equipment to the Soviet Union for a natural gas pipeline to Western Europe. The ban was part of a package of sunctions imposed by the president against the Soviet Union on Dec. 29 after the introduction of martial law in Poland.

- From the front page last weekend.

the foot, either." he said, "but a ventures — even denying spare matter of great principle is at parts for technology that was stake. It affects our credibility with our allies and with the Russians."

He went on to say that be had just made a speech calling on the Soviets to come up with "deeds, not words," and that he could hardly send a signal of a deed that went against his strong words. The president then decided not only to refuse to ease sanctions on oil and gas equipment, but in take a long-promised "further step" — to extend sanctions to foreign companies producing such equipment under American license An opdon to exempt the Japanese for their Sakhalin oil-and-gas deal was swept aside. A group beaded by Lionel Olmer at Commerce was directed to draw up regulations to capture subsidiaries, licensees and joint

West German Cancellor Helmut Schmidt, who sees this huge gas deal as the political basis for decades of expanding East-West trade, will mutter bloody murder.

President Mitterrand may take the United States to the World Court or pass blocking legislation, precipitating a minor trade war. Or he might just back off.

The irritation and the respect of other world leaders will increase as they detect an American seriousness of purpose.

Hard-liners, resigned to a Haig-ian hegemony, are delighted. Detentniks are confounded. The Russians now know that continued repression in Poland could lead to a grain embargo.

Reagan Seems to Be Marching Toward Economic War

WASHINGTON - President Reagan's decision not to ease the ban on the sale of equipment for the 3,700-mile gas pipeline from Siberia to West Germany runs counter to an unwritten understanding that America's Euro-pean allies reached — or thought they reached with Reagan at the Versailles summit.

A the-off to Reagan's current thinking can be found in the assertion by a White House official that the Soviet Union is "an economic basket case." Thus, "selective steps" to tighten the noose around its economy "can affect their allocations of resources at the margin, Translated, that means it is wise to deprive Moscow of hard currency that it would earn from sales of gas, because the cash would enhance its military capability. Moreover (the White House argument goes),

if Europe depends on Russia for gas, Moscow has increased leverage in Europe, Presumably, in the presidential mind any the that binds West and East has more bad than good in it.

A formal rationale along these lines has been articulated by Thomas C. Reed — a former National Security Council consultant who was last week named a full-time special assistant to Reagan — supporting the hawkish views of Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger. Reed is a new came oo the Washington sceee, with apparently growing influence.

Europeans, dismayed by Reagan's latest Cold War move, are convinced not only that it makes good sense to maintain a husiness relationship with the Soviets (because that reduces the chances for a hot war) but also that it is wise to minimize the extent to which Europe depends on the Middle East for energy.

It becomes clear, despite official denials, By Hobart Rowen that Reagan is girding up for economie war against the Soviet Union and its satellites, matching a hardening line on arms control that be displayed in his United Nanons speech. Both lines are decidedly not in accord with the more accommodative vibes the administration gave off at the Versailles summit. At Versailles, after fighting for language that would have prohibited government export-credit sub-sidies to the Soviet bloc. Reagan settled for a milder expression of restraint, suggested by Secretary of State Alexander Haig. It promised "a prudent and diversified economic approach to the U.S.S.R. and Eastern Europe, consistent with our poliocal and security interests."

The American propaganda machine was immediately cranked up to claim a "victory." Europeans were allowed to gain the impressioo that having got a "first-time" commitment to limit credits to the Soviet bloc, however vague, Reagan would allow the sale of equipment for the pipeline to go forward. Haig contended that to do anything else would merely hurt American companies, infuriate Western Europe—and fail to prevent the pipeline.

Now a White House official asserts that Reagan oever made a deal in Versailles linking credits limitation with the pipeline approval.

"The extension of the sanctions was decided on exclusively because the situation in Poland has not changed, and may have actually worsened." the official says.

At Versailles, this reporter did not hear the situation in Poland linked to the pipeline decision in any conversation or hriefing with any official of the Reagan administration. The Reagan team merely said that the president, after the summit, would review what had been accomplished at Versailles on the question of credits, and make a decision on that basis.

Despite Reed's assessment of the Soviet economy, there is a weighty body of opinion that economic sanctions "have had very limited effections in the next." That were the ed effectiveness in the past." That was the theme of a recent Trilateral Commission report written by three internationally known establishment thinkers — Robert V. Roosa of the United States, Michiya Matsukawa of Japan and Armin Gutowski of West Germany.

In a telephone interview, Roosa said that Reagan's pipeline decision is "absolutely stupid. It not only creates an inflammation in the alliance, it ignores the fact that the Europeans are conscious of the concerns [about dependency] and have taken steps to meet them."

Roosa ridicules the White House notion that the Soviets can be crippled by denying them hard currency. "So long as we are not going to hard currency. "So long as we are not going to try to completely quarantine the Soviet Union, we've got in have trade with them, and one of the few ways in which they can get hard cur-rency, so they can pay for the goods they buy, is through the sale of gas. And it makes good sense for Europe to draw on those reserves, so long as they are available."

Officials in Europe are convinced the Soviet Union will take Reagan's move as a sign of aggression. They believe it will be counterproaggression. They believe it will be counterpro-ductive in terms of Poland. As for the Alliance, the decision raises a question of credibility for Reagan, who talked in grand terms at Versailles about the "spirit of partnership."

Firms Object By Dan Morgan

WASHINGTON — On the eve of the National Security Council meeting, two of America's largest companies had appealed to President Reagan to case his ban on sales of oil and gas equipment to the Soviet Union, in the interest of saving jobs for Americans and keeping French and Japanese firms from capturing the business.

"We now have a situation where the Soviet market is closed to us. wrote Chairman Lee L. Morgan of Caterpillar Tractor Co., which was denied permission to sell Moscow $90 million worth of pipe-laying equipment. The Japanese have the business. The unemployment lines in Peoria. Ill., have grown longer, and it appears that the Soviet natural gas pipeline to Western Europe will be built anyway." In a separate letter to Reagan. Vice President P.S. Peter of General Electric warned that continuation of the trade sanctions "would reward the French, who at Ver-sailles were more resistant to credit restrictions on Russia."

In any case, Peter argued, the sanctions "will not stop or materially delay the pipeline."

Reagan was under political pres-Reagan was under pointed pressure to maintain a tough line with the Soviet Union. Sen. William L. Armstrong, the Colorado Republican, wrote the president saying that an easing of sanctions would "strike a savage blow at the world crusade for democracy" that Reagan amounced in Loudon.

A strong faction in the administration argued that easing sanctions would contradict the tough

tions would contradict the tough line Reagan took at Versailles.

A report on the Versailles credit discussions, ascribed to Henry Nan of the National Security Council staff, says the United States "obtained agreement to the word 'limiting' only after a long and tough discussion." It describes Reagan and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher "shugging it out" with French President-François Mitterrand, West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, and finally Piecre Ellion Trudeau, and finally overcoming their objections. The staff report concludes: "We should not underestimate the psy-chological and political benefits of a statement by sumant leaders which for the first time acknow-ledges the need to limit economic activity with the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe ...

"The use of such language by heads of government can have a discouraging effect over time on East-West trade, not unlike the encouraging effect détente lan-guage had in the 1970s. The Washington Past

Watching the Suspenseful Coalition Serial in Bonn

UNICH - Watching West M German politics can be like following a soap opera. The story line runs like this: Will Laura leave Bill and go to live with John with whom she has much more in common, or will the social ostracism attached to desertion deter her from such a drastic step? Will Bill continue to suffer the humiliation and indig-nities to which her flirtations and shrewishness subject him, in order to keep the home together for the sake of the children? Or will

he simply show ber the donr? Substitute Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher and his Free Democrats (FDP) for Laura. Chancellor Helmut Schmidt's Social Democrats (SPD) for Bill, and read Helmut Kohl's Christian Democrats (CDU/CSU) as

John, and yon've got it. For those who may have missed an episode or two due to watching global crises oo another channel, here is what happened. There was that city-state election in Hamburg where both SPD and FDP suffered a scathing defeat which they are now blaming on each other. And there was last week's decision by the FDP in Hesse to switch sides and run in alliance with the CDU in the state elections of next September. Make a point of watching the current installment. Never has divorce seemed so imminent. Granted, the breakup of the predicted often since it was reelected with a record margin a scant 20 months ago. But, for better or worse, the crucial moment has come. The decision will be reached this week, when the partners have to agree on the size of the deficit in the 1983 federal budget and on how much new debt will be necessary to finance it.

The SPD finance minister, Manfred Lahnstein, has presented a draft that calls for borrowing some 30 billion Deutsche marks. The FDP says the figure must be "substandally lower." The FDP wants trimming of the social safety net. The SPD, which regards the social program as already pared beyond tolerable limits, proposes reductions in various subsidies and tax beoefits for industry and business. The apparently irreconcilable positions express the fundamental differences between the two parties that have governed West

By John Dornberg

Germany in tandem for 13 years. The FDP is a "liberal" parry in the old laissez-faire capitalist sense. The SPD is just a genera-tion away from being socialist. Those lines of division have ofleft-liberal evalition has been ten been blurred by the existence wings, factions and interest groups in each party. When the economic future was hrighter, differences were overshadowed by consensus on foreign policy, education and judicial reform. But under the pressure of spiraling debt, recession and the highest unemployment rate in three decades, the ideological economic impasse has come to dominate the coalition relationship. The temptation for the FDP to jump ship and join forces with the present opposition has been growing since the 1980 elections. It has always been strongest at times of fiscal dispute. The coalition nearly broke up last summer over the 1982 budget and again in February over a patchwork package to reduce unemployment and stimulate the economy. The FDP's inclination to switch has been heightened by its losses in and exclusion from three state legislatures in receot local elections. Opinion surveys give the CDU/CSU an absolute majority of 53 percent were a general election to be held now. But the SPD, too, is under pressure to call it quits, because it has made concessions that some regard as intolerable to keep the marriage going. Com-promisiog on social welfare has cost the party large defections from both its ideological left and organized labor wings.

Agreement may yet be reached on the 1983 budget. If so, the coalition will probably stumble on in mounting disharmony until the 1984 elections. But if not?

Abandoning the partnership means incalculable political risks for Genscher and the FDP. Always the dog-wagging tail of West German politics, the party won handsomely in 1980 on a promise of four more years of co-aliuon with the SPD. Within the FDP there are strong forces determined to keep that pledge.

Nor is the CDU/CSU overly enthusiastic. A shift in alliances

now would almost automatically make Helmut Kohl the new chancellor, a prospect that ap-palls not only his immediate other leaders, who regard him as incompetent to govern and in-creasingly beholden to Franz-Josef Strauss, the 1980 candidate for chancellor. Strauss already claims four key Cabinet posts for himself and his Bavarian cronics in any enalition with the FDP.

Knowing that it, too, has no quick fixes for what ails West Germany today, the CDU/CSU fears that hy taking power now it would have in take responsibility for continuing economic deterioration, and then have to pay the price in 1984.

The CDU/CSU would prefer the SPD-FDP coalition to either keep on roasting in its own juice or call an early election, which the CDU/CSU would expect to win handsomely and which would lead to Kohl's replacement as standard bearer. The party would have four unchal lenged years in which to govern. How all this will end has in-trigued West Germans almost as much as who shot J.R. in the television serial "Dallas." That mystery was finally unraveled last week, but the climax to the political drama has yet to come,

Stay tuned.

About the Incompatible Marriage of Law and Psychiatry

WASHINGTON — The verdict finding John W. Hinckley Jr. not guilty by reason of insanity of shooting President Reagan and three other men on March 30, 1981, illustrates three perversities: The most morally indefensible crimes are becoming the most legally defendable. The idea of the individual is being obliterated in order to maximize the rights of the individual. And the quest for the chimera of perfect justice is subordinating the social good, including the rule of law, to the quicksilver axioms of a "science"

that is long on pretenses and short on testable assertions. Seated atop a ramshackle scaffolding of superstitions, merrily minting nouns that denote nothing, many psychiatrists are today condescending to the American people, chiding them for not comprehending the intellectual marvelousness of the Hinckley verdict. But the verdict will serve the social good only if it generates disgust psychiatry and law. In "The Killing of Bonnie Garland," Willard Gaylin, a practicing psychiatrist, argues that the premises and purposes of law and psychiatry are in tension. The oremise of the law is that the self is autooomous. The premise of psychiatry is that the self is a cauldron of im-

The purposes of the law include protecting the social order and expressing its moral sentiments. The purpose of psychology is to explain an individual's behavior.

pulses that determine behavior.

with the incompatible marriage of

An explanación may facilitate a "cure," but any explanation can be made to seem exculpatory by dilnting to the point of disappearance the idea of responsibility.

The insanity defense is many centuries old, and is indispensable to justice. What is incompatible with justice is the proliferation of categories and gradations of diminished capacity. The old, workable questions were: Did the accused know the oature of his act (that he was, for example, shooting a person, not a policrecist) and did he know it was wrong? Those questions lead to this conclusion: Hinckley is a very strange, very guilty individual. Law must assign responsibility. All of psychiatry's permutations of determinism locate "responsibili-' somewhere else than with an autonomous "self."

The rule of law requires predictability and regularity: treating like cases alike. But a judicial system that is deferential to psychiatric storytellers invites extreme individuation: No two cases can be alike because each defendent is determined by his idiosyncratic jumble of impulses. Did a killer act io a rage? If so. he was sick. Did he kill without passion? Even sicker. He shows no remorse? That clinches it: He is no more "guilty" of his behavior than he would be of appendicitis.

It is an old joke: A person kills his parents and demands mercy because he is an orphan. The joke By George F. Will is now the jurisprudence of "compassion." A crime becomes the ground for evading punishment for the crime. The more odious the crime, the more "reasonable doubt" there is about the person's sanity at the time.

The law performs an expressive function. It teaches - incluctably, for good or ill. The Hinckley verdict does not teach the idea of responsibility on which hahits of restraint and moderation depend.

The trial allowed required a jury to pick between numerous flativ incompatible theories spun hy credentialed "experts." theories purporting to divine Hinckley's mental state on one day 15 mooths ago. Now the same wonderful psychiatric "professioo" (the word is evanescent as snowflakes.

barely applicable) that produced a cacophony of loopiness in court and cannot even define its terms will dazzle the world by predicting Hinckley's future behavior. Is he dangerous? The trial verdict means the jury thought it had a reasonable doubt about Hinckley's sanity last year. Surely there can be as much uncertainty about his dangerousness. So let him loose — that is the logic of the process. Some alarmed lawyers propose restricting psychiatric testimony to statements of "fact" — what psyehiatrists see or hear - and forbidding conclusory statements. But psychiatrists often are hired to put an acre of embroidery around a pinhead of "fact." So they bandy diagnostic categories that are as

Psychiatric "defense" of the individual often obliterates the indiment of Hinckley causes him to disappear, leaving only a residue of traits that may or may not be symptoms of this or that "distarbance." Psychiatry as practiced by some of today's itinerant experisfor-hire is this century's aicheasy. But no. that simile is nothin to alchemists, who were confused but honest chemists. Some of today's rent-a-psychiatry is chariotamism laced with cynicism. Much psychiatry is ideology masquerading as medicine. In Ardous Huxley's nightmare of descr-minism, "Brave New World." when someone commits a crime the normal response is: "I did not know he was ill." We are not yet in that mental world, but you can see its suburbs from here.

The Washington Post

Publisher

Executive Editor

Editor

Deputy Editors

Herald Eribune

John Hay Whitney (1904-1982) Chnirman

Katharine Graham Arthur Ochs Sulzberger Co-Chairmen

International Herald Telegraph S.A. on capital & 1 (M000) F. R.C.S. Nantere B. 93/931106 179 185, one Challen de Grade, 93/931 Nearly-on-Sone, Rei. 74/11465 Teles. 18771 Renall Para Cabler Herald. Plans Determine de la publication Walter N. Tanner U.S. industriques peur $1.55 marie. Servot class possess para el 10/93 fallant Con. N.T. 1.100 1. 100 Literature and Herald Techner et rights received Commission Parabart No. 94.20 General Manager, Ann. Alam Lenger 24 % Hersen & Rosel Rosel 1931, Hong King, Tel. 5-78 56 19 % Teles. 610 D HETHIKHO.

Philip M. Foisie Walter N. Wells Robert K. McCabe Samuel Abt Carl Gewirtz

Roland Piason

François Desmaisons

Richard H. Morgan

Rene Bondy

Lee W. Huebner

Associate Editor Associate Publisher

Director of Finance Director of Carolintia Director of Admits 1 the leading

Lander

· house

17 17 (24) 11.5 or the pates of 1970 PM PR 100 100 4

. 1485

20.00

71 1.94

111 May 10

12.05

1111

": " si Silma The Magazine

INSIGHTS

U.S. Fears Struggle May Be Lost On Spread of Nuclear Weapons

By Judith Miller New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — U.S. officials and nuclear policy specialists fear they may be losing a 35-year battle to curb the spread of nuclear weapons.

They attribute this not in a relaxation of American efforts, but to growing international and regional tension that puts pressure on nans such as Israel and Argentina to develop and test nuclear devices.

Robert H. Kupperman, a nuclear specialist at Georgetown University's Center for Strate-gic and International Studies, said with reference to the Israeli invasion of Lebanon and the British-Argentine fighting on the Falklands:

"We had better start thinking not just about how to stop nations from getting nuclear weapons; but how to stop them from using the capons they will inevitably get."

The emergence of some additional countries with nuclear weaponry is unavoidable, con-duded Lewis A. Dunn in a book published soon after he joined the administration as spe-cial assistant to Undersecretary of State Richard T. Kennedy, a central figure in U.S. nuclear policy. Increasingly, the focus has been put on "managing" a world in which many nations have nuclear weapons, rather than preventing

However, the Reagan administration remains officially committed to preventing the spread of nuclear arms. In Senate testimony last month, Mr. Kennedy called this a funda-

Mixed Reaction

Toward that goal, the administration has emphasized measures to allay political and military security concerns of other countries and to enhance regional stability.

This approach has been criticized by several congressional nuclear policy specialists, but it has been warmly endorsed by, among others, Hans Blix, director of the International Atomic Energy Agency, the United Nations organization in Vienna that promotes peaceful use of atomic energy and monitors nuclear facilities tn verify that they are not being used for military purposes.

Mr. Bix has repeatedly voiced concern over the fact that India. Israel, Pakistan and South Africa refused to sign the 1970 treaty that became the cornerstone of efforts to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

"The alarm bells are ringing loud and clear with respect to these four," Mr. Blix said earlier this year. Under the treaty, 116 nations have forsworn nuclear weapons. Forty-five have

These other alarms are sounding, if more softly:

Nn country capable of developing nuclear weapons has accoded to the treaty in the last five years. Switzerland was the most recent. The International Atomic Energy Agency has become increasingly polarized and politi-cized, as have many other UN organizations.

Some government analysts fear that growing political confrontations between Western industrialized countries and developing nations could eventually undermine the agency's sys-tem of international inspections. Israel's attack on an Iraqi research reactor

a year ago weakened the IAEA's ability to safeguard nuclear facilities ostensibly for peaceful purposes. The air strike touched off a debate on whether the agency was capable of quickly detecting a diversion of nuclear material from a facility. The dispute has further shaken international confidence in the agency.

 A sagging demand for energy has triggered a slump in sales of nuclear reactors and a decline in the growth of nuclear power. This, in turn, has increased strains on the international system of export controls aimed at slowing the spread of sensitive technology to countries that might be trying to develop nuclear weapons.

 Growing sophistication of terrorist groups and a spread of "minimukes" has increased the threat of nuclear terrorism, U.S. officials say. The CIA has concluded, for example, that in Europe there is a "moderate damage a nuclear weapons storage facility, to attack a weapon in transit, to raid a nuclear power plant or simply to carry out blackmail by pretending to have a nuclear weapon.

 Lack of progress on arms control agreements between the United States and the Soviet Union has led to a surge in nuclear weapons arsenals and destructive ability. This, in turn, encourages other countries to develop a nuclear capability, Mr. Blix and other specialists

The conflict over the Falklands has focused administration concern on Argentina. While there have been no startling new developments in Argentina's nuclear program, now in its 31st year, some administration officials fear the humiliation in the Falklands will prompt Argentina to try to build a nuclear weapon.

The CIA has estimated that Argentina could build an atomic bomb in three to five years. A new report prepared by the Congressional Research Service concludes that Argentina would be able to test a nuclear explosive by the mid-1980s, "if it is willing to run the risks of getting caught at diverting safeguarded materials or of abrogating its safeguards agreements." The re-port also reported that Argentina could not chice an arsenal of weapons at least until Argentina poses a special problem not only because it has declined to sign the nonproliferation treaty or to submit all of its nuc facilities to inspection, but because it is build-ing what is known as an independent fuel cycle the ability to produce everything required for nuclear power. This would give Argentina the ability to make nuclear weapons quickly, without violating any agreements.

"Nuclear tests are political statements, a country's way of showing that it has hair on its chest," said Warren H. Donnelly, a senior spe-cialist at the Library of Congress and anthor of the report on Argentina. "So naturally, there is concern about the growth of pressures that could lead a country like Argentina to prove

The Iraqi nuclear reactor complex before it was put out of operation by Israeli warplanes in a bombing attack last June.

Mr. Donnelly and other specialists are concerned about Argentina's proclaimed intention to export photonium, which arms control offi-cials assert would immeasurably complicate ef-forts to stop the spread of nuclear weapons and would increase the threat of nuclear terrorism. Photonium, a man-made substance that is extremely dangerous, is a primary weapons

The administration is also concerned about China's nuclear export policies. Intelligence re-ports indicate China, a nuclear power that has not signed the treaty or joined the IAEA, has attempted to sell through third parties heavy water to Argentina, and even to India despite border conflicts between the two countries.

Officials said China's onwillingness to permit inspection of its nuclear exports is a major obstacle to concluding a nuclear cooperation agreement with the United States. Such an accord has been the subject of low-level diplomatic discussions between the two governments.

Another source of administration concern is Pakistan, which has been resisting for more than six months the atomic energy agency's requests for improvements in inspection arrangements. The agency has said it can m longer assure that Pakistan is not diverting nuclear material for military purposes.

The CIA concluded recently that, while Pakistan would be able to test an atomic device within three years, it is unlikely. Intelligence officials concluded in the estimate last December that the six-year, $3.2-billion U.S. military and economic aid program had made Pakistan reluctant to jeopardize it by testing a nuclear Several U.S. officials consider Pakistan a key test of President Reagan's approach to stemming the spread of nuclear weapons. Other analysts, however, insist the administration's emphasis on thwarting the detonation of nuclear devices is misplaced.

"Israel, which is only a screwdriver away from a bomb, is so sophisticated and has access to such good information that it doesn't need to test," said nne U.S. official.

India, which tested a device in 1974, has also aroused concern. The United States has been trying to terminate a 1963 agreement to supply fuel for India's Tarapur nuclear power plant. But Robert F. Goheen, ambassador to India until 1980, said recently that diplomats had told him India is preparing to transfer the used fuel to a nearby plant for reprocessing, in apparent violation of its agreement.

South Africa is also viewed as a major problem involving nuclear weapons, but last month the Reagan administration adopted a more flexible policy that would allow the United States to increase sales of nuclear materials to Pretoria.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, Republican of Illinois, who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said last month that nuclear nonproliferation is "slipping among our foreign policy priorities."

Some members of Congress have strongly criticized the administration for issuing a na policy paper that permits advanced countries to have more control over the reprocessing of American-supplied fuel.

They also chided the administration for considering the sale of centrifuge enrichment techmilogy to Australia and for a vague offer in Mexico of assistance with research relating to reprocessing — the separation of uranium and plutonium from spent nuclear fuel. The Carter administration attempted to discourage both those technologies.

Despite Signs of Prosperity, Britain Troubled by Slow Rise in Living Standard

By Steven Rattner

New York Times Service

T ONDON - To the casual visitor to this L cosmopolitan city, signs of prosperity abound. Shoppers crowd fashionable Bond Street boutiques and make the aisles of Harrods department store virtually impassable on busy days. Prices in London remain high and restaurants of even modest culinary pretensions seem extraordinarily expensive, even to New Yorkers.

But such impressions belie the fact that Britain has shown only modest improvement in living standards in recent years and has slipped badly in relation to other countries. The crowded stores and imposing 19th-century townhouses, symbols of past prosperity, bear little relation to the way of life pursued by Britain, in fact, has fallen to 10th of 15 mafor countries in standard of living, according to a recent survey by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

"Most other European countries are moving well shead of Britain," said Motris D. Morris, an American economist specializing in development. "The inability of the British to get their act together in the last five or ten years doesn't surprise me at all."

By most economists' reckning, the economists' reckning.

ic burden resulting from the Falkland Islands war can only accentuate these trends, although even with the loss of a number of ships and planes the cost of the operation in the South Atlantic has not yet been significant enough to have a noticeable impact. The comperatively low standard of living here is largely the result of earnings that are almost shockingly low by American standards. In Britain, the average wage for unskilled workers is $175 a week, as compared with $255

wock in the United States. In addition, taxes in Britain are significantly higher than in the United States. Workers face a basic income tax rate of 30 percent with almost no deductions permitted. The "free" National Health Service is financed by additional taxes - nearly 9 percent of the average work-

Take, for example, Steve Briggs, 31, a contract scaffolder who earns $360 a week working for a municipal council.

Local governments have been pressured by Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's government to tighten limits on their spending, limits that bave resulted in an equally tight hold on Mr. Briggs' wage increases. To make ends meet. Mr. Briggs' wife works. And despite that added income, money problems caused him to stop renovations on his house before they were

"My money hasn't gone up in two years," he said, regretfully but without rancor. "The present government has cut back overtime."

The slow growth of the standard of living in Britain is the most tangible manifestation of the years of economic stagnation and of the restructuring of the economy. The prime minister says her policies are the best hope for reversing the long-term trend.

The state of buildings here is one reflection of the modesty of the fiving standards of most Britons. Homes are often not repainted for several years, and even in fashionable parts of London plumbing pipes are aften attached to the outer walls rather than buried within them. As of 1980, only 57 percent of Britain's homes had central heating.

Diets Restricted

Diets in Britain also are restricted. As long ago as 1974, Britons on average consumed less animal protein than the French and West Germans, and today the gap is substantially wider.

Tn be sure, British living standards in abso-lute terms are now higher than they have ever been as the rush, for example, to buy video tape recorders and other new electronic items suggests. All told, British consumers have about 12 percent more money left over after taxes and inflation are taken into account than they did in 1975. But in the United States over the same period, "real disposable income"

"My standard of hving is exactly the same, but the whole of my bank balance has vanished in the last five years," said Ray Low, 34, a watchmaker.

In Britsin, to a greater extent than elsewhere, individuals have been able to go on consuming in recent years only at heavy cost to investment - in effect, by borrowing from the future. Total capital investment, after adjusting for depreciation and inflation, has dropped from $18.3 billion in 1970 to $12.8 billion in 1980, the most recent year for which figures are available.

Much of that has occurred in the public sector, which in Britain includes such industries as railroads, automobile manufacturing and steel. When Mrs. Thatcher has encountered difficulties in reducing spending on welfare programs, she has moved to cut government

In the last five fallen rather sharply," said Mervyn A. King, professor of economics at the University of Birmingham. "So much of our investment here takes place through the public sector."

The British government has also been able to leave welfare and other transfer programs relatively intact because of the revenue from taxes on the production of North Sea oil, a total of $11 billion this year. Because such transfer payments support consumption, the benefits at North Sea oil are being used to a considerable extent to protect British living standards.

Living standards also have been sustained at the expense of corporate profits, which at one point last year had fallen so low that the average company's return on investment was down to 2 percent. In essence, companies were forced into accepting high wage settlements but were not able to recover the costs through higher prices.

The average Briton has tried to mitigate effects of low wages in a variety of ways. With a basic income-tax rate of 30 percent, the underground economy is booming as workers take on side jnbs and a variety of "fiddles," as unreported income is known. As in the United States and elsewhere, a growing proportion of families now have at least two wage earners.

Perhaps most significantly, Britain, as a nation, may not have high earnings, but it still has a lot of wealth, the legacy of being for decades the richest country in the world. On a national level, Britain, in decades past, made considerable investment on "infrastructure" items such as urban mass transit that other nations are now having to make at great cost.

For individuals, some forms of public investment, most notably housing, minigate the effects of low salaries. Until a "privatization" program was introduced, government-subsidized housing provided homes at extremely low rents for nearly a third of all Britons. But that housing is now aging, and at the current rate of demolition it would take over 500 years to replace it.

In many cases, Britain is now being overtaken in the head start it had on the rest of Eu-rope. In 1974, Britain had 366 telephones per thousand inhabitants, a considerable edge nver France's 236 and West Germany's 302. But by-1980, the figures for the three countries were virtually identical - the United Kingdom had 477 telephones per thousand people, France 459 and West Germany 464.

Private wealth is still considerable in Britain and helps to coshion families against economic setbacks. The national newspapers, which print lists of large estates, most days unearth at least a half-dozen with a value of $400,000 or

In the upper middle class, many young couples survive in their modestly paying jobs with the help of small trust funds, a family-owned weekend cottage or a generous aunt who provides for children's schooling.

Sometimes members of the working class do chauffeur, bought his first home, he did it partly with money borrowed from his wife's parents. "I don't know how other people cope," said Mr. Seymour, whose wife also works. "You have to get a leg up the first time."

The London boutiques are busy because an unusually large part of personal wealth is concentrated among a small group of people in Britain. Approximately 24 percent of Britain's private wealth is controlled by 1 percent of the population, which is significantly higher than the U.S. figure.

And contrary to popular opinion, inheritance taxes have done little to impede the perpetuation of large fortunes, particularly since Mrs. Thatcher instituted reforms of the laws. In Britain, about two-thirds of the wealth held by the top I percent is inherited; in the United

Tell the homefolks how you're getting around Europe and make a pretty fare saving on the call.

Traveling through Europe can be a moving experience—and you want to stop just long enough to tell your family and friends about it. Check out the money-saving tips below, then give them a call. It's the first-class way to reach them-at bargain rates.

Bell System

Save on surcharges. Many hotels outside the U.S. charge exorbitant surcharge fees on international calls. And sometimes the fees are greater than the cost of the call itself. But if your hotel has TELEPLAN, the way to keep hotel surcharges reasonable. go ahead and call. No Teleplan? Read on! There are other ways to save money.

Save with a shortie. In most countries there's no three-minute minimum on selfdialed calls. So if your hotel offers International Dialing from your norm, place a short call home and have them call you back. And you pay for the callback from the States with dollars, not local currency, when you get your next home or office phone bill,

Save these other ways. Telephone Company Calling Card and collect calls may be placed in many countries. And where they are, the hotel surcharges on such calls are usually low. Or, you can avoid surcharges altogether by calling from the post office or from other telephone centers.

Save nights & weekends. Always check to see whether the country you're in has lower rates at night and on weekends. Usually the sayings are considerable. Now woull get more mileage for your money.

China to Build Its First Superhighway

By Christopher S. Wreu

New York Times Service

CANTON — China is preparing to build its first superhighway, a toll road linking Canton with the British colony of Hong Kong on one fork and the Portuguese enclave of Ma-

The cost of the project, using Hong Kong capital and Chinese labor, is expected to top $400 million by the time it is finished in 1985. 3400 million by the time it is mission in 1763. The investment is to be recovered by toils over a docade. Survey work began in March.

"It can be said that the highway is the first of its kind on the mainland of China," said Li Mu, communications chief of the province of Gungdong, where the road will be built. A superhighway cutting through the lush farms opening the said to the existing narrow asphalt and rutted dirt to the existing narrow asphalt and rutted dirt roads along which farmers move their produce by track, tractor, water buffalo or bicycle.

Because the roads are so primitive, cargo moves between Canton and Hong Kong only by rail, boat or air.

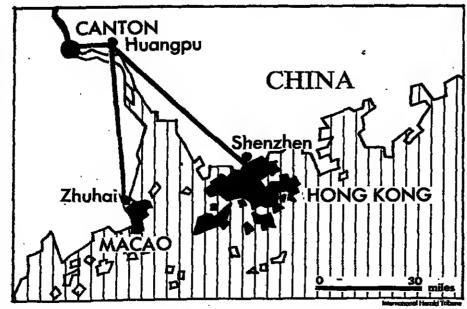

The proposal for the superhighway came from Gordon Wu, a Princeton-educated businessman in Hong Kung whose company, Hopewell Holdings, has large investments in Guangdong, including a new hotel in Canton. It is ins company that will raise the money for the histography.

The 2 Forks

The highway will run south from Canton and its river port of Huangpu. One fork will run about 70 miles (112 kilometers) in Sheuthen on the horder with Hong Kong's New Ternitories, 20 miles from the center of the

The other fork will run about 60 miles to Gongbei and Zhuhai, one of China's special economic zimes on the border with Macao, Hong Kong residents now take a hydrofoil ferry the 40 miles to Macao.

Mr. Li said the highway, which will eventu-ally be expended to six lanes from four, will accommodate vehicles at speeds up to 90 miles an hour, but at regular speeds it would take about an hour of driving time from Canton to Shouzhen and only about an hour and a half from Canton to Hong Kong. He said he does

"It's not just for tourists but also for economic development," he said. "Of course, tourism is one of the purposes, but the road will also promote commerce between Canton and Hong Kong."

In particular, the highway will make it easier m send goods through the Shenzhen special economic zone, which was set up to offer cheap land and labor to expanding Hong Kong industries.

A New Start

Twn additional border crossings are planned to relieve the congestion of truck traffic that builds up at the only border crossing between China and Hong Kong's New Territories, according to Chen Enyun, a Shenzhen city official.

The superhighway will connect with a good network of existing roads in the New Territories. China is also investing $110 million to

In Guangdong province, though, Mr. Li said, "We have to start all over again; in some sections, there is no road at all."

The projected highway crosses marshy countryside that includes small hills and rice paddies. "We have to admit that the soil quality is poor and the area we pass through is not good, so there will be difficulties to overcome," Mr. Li said. More than two miles of bridges will be needed to span 27 large and medium rivers. Mr. Li declined to estimate how many Chinese workers would be employed, although they will probably number in the thousands. He expects engineers and technicians to come from throughout China, if only to learn how a superhighway is built. "We are hoping to acquire expertise from the construction of this highway to prepare to build other roads in other parts of China," Mr. Li said. The state of the s

| 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100

ARTS/LEISURE

'Captain Brassbound's' Bossy Revival

By Sheridan Morley

ONDON — After a shaky start with the wildly miscast "Hnb-son's Choice" and Ronald Millar's son's Choice" and Ronald Millar's uneventful trip through C.P. Snow-covered territory ("A Coat of Varnish"), the new Haymarket rep has at last come up with something stronger in "Captain Brassbound's Conversion," a reasonably solid Frank Hauser production in the Shavian traditions of his old and much-missed management at the Oxford Playhouse.

Penelope Keith is as right for the indomitable Lady Cicely Waynflete as she was wrong for Maggie Hobson, and the result is a splendidly bossy turn, absolutely true to Shaw's intentions in depicting the Victorian female explorer as a peculiarly intrepid sort of nanny-figure. It might be argued that, this being distinctly minor Shaw, two revivals within a London decade (Ingrid Bergman did it at the Cambridge in 1971) is at least one dust of a theatrical museum piece. too many, but as it seems to be the Haymarket's intendon to bring long-lost star-vehicle habits back into central London, short runs of over-familiar classics are only to be expected.

This one lasts in the repertoire until the end of next month, and provides precisely the kind of mildly amiable upmarket cultural evening which the West End is forever accused of having abandoned in a headlong flight to old musicals and farces. Michael Denison is a suitably pompous Judge Hallam, John Turner is a comic-opera swashbuckling Brassbound, and the supporting cast looks like left-overs from a Lewis Casson season.

At the King's Head, "Marry Me a Little" is more "Side by Side by Sondheim," this time an anthology not of his hits but of his flops, the songs that got cut from Broadway shows or were written for shows shows or were written for shows that for one reason or another never quite made it. There are about 20 of these, and though the best of them are already very familiar ("Can That Boy Fox-Trot," "Girls of Summer" and "There Won't Be Trumpets" all turned up in "Side Trumpets" while "So Many People" by Side," while "So Many People" and "Uptown Downtown" are on a superb Richard Rodney Bennett recording) there are one or two le Sport," written for an abortive 1956 Hal Prince-Jean Kerr musical called "The Last Resorts."

The problem that has faced the makers of "Marry Me a Little" (Craig Lucas, Norman Rene and the current director, Robert Cushman is how to make these songs into a coherent evening, and hav-ing them sung by two solo singers living in adjacent but non-connect-ing flats in Brooklyn does not seem to be the answer. Only about half the songs are actually suited to the setting, and by casting a couple of chunky, perky belters who look as though they've been spending just too long on a third tour of "Oklahoma," the production jettisons precisely that lean, spare, ice-cold, acid urban asexuality that is at the very heart of much ty that is at the very heart of much Sondheim's lyric-writing.

Watching Mandy More and Martin Connor doing this song cycle is, in a very minor key is like watching Ethel Merman and Howard Keel attack "Company": They tackle these infinitely tricky, schizoid, ambiguous numbers as if there was a show to stop rather than one to start, and the result is a disap-pointing bodgepodge, albeit one with a certain fascination for those of us who believe that even bad Sondheim badly done is still a great deal better than no Son-dheim at all.

The Royal Shakespeare Company's move to the Barbican has meant their leaving not only of the Aldwych for the main stage of the new arts complex but also of the Warehouse for the Pit, a 200-seat studio theater in the deepest part of the new building, which they have chosen to open with Peter Flannery's "Our Friends in the North." While, a few feet above, Shakespeare's "Henry IV" is unfolding a seven-hour tapestry of England past, in the basement Flannery seems engaged on what often appears to be a no shorter tapestry of England present.

The thesis bere is that all English corruption over the last 20 years, from the jerry-building of Newcastle flats through the bribing of the Metropolitan Police to the smuggling of oil into Rhodesia in sanction time, was somehow linked by a vast network of national moral collapse, and though the play could do with some massive cutting, it does have a kind of raw theatrical energy. Any part might have been more powerful than the whole, and the idea that Britain's present national ill-bealth is all traceable back to one unprosecuted Newcastle councillor running over a bike in about 1955 might seem a bit over-simplistic, but Flannery is well-served by John Caird's agile production and a versatile RSC cast.

The American notion of a dinner-theater has been far too long in coming to Britain and now that it is here (at the Astoria, Charing Cross Road) I hope it survives. But if it is to do so, it will oeed a show vastly better than "Wild Wild Women," oervously billed as "a fun musical," though it is oeither a lot of fun oor bugely musical. The composer-lyricist team of Michael Richmond and Nola York wrote a decade ago a much-underrated and enchanting small-scale musical called "Lady of the Tiger." This time they have settled for the per-fectly appalling ootion of tran-sposing "Lysistrata" to the Wild West and having it performed by a company most of whom should have their Equity cards ceremoni-ously removed and destroyed. U.S. dinner theaters on this scale (tickets up to £15 to include a threecourse meal served before and during the show) have survived by staging cut-down versions of acknowledged musical classics from the '50s and beyond, but the rule of thumb is that the show has to be at least as good as the food. At the Astoria, brought back to life at bage cost and well able to fill the gap left by the sudden closing of the Talk of the Town, they seem to

A Cloudy Day at the North Pole

By Charles Campbell

OVER THE NORTH POLE — A jetliner full of Canadian and American adventurers, provisioned with champagne and filet mignon, took an overnight trip to the top of the world and found it

The organizers called it the first-ever venture to the North Pole by commercial airliner, open to anyone intrepid enough to write a check for $463, spend 13 hours in a Boeing 707 and put up with spend 13 hours in a Boeing 707 and put up with the tannts of the disbelievers.

"My family nearly died," said Agnes Asta, who came up from Cleveland for the flight. "I kept telling them 1 was going to the North Pole. They thought 1 was kidding."

"Everybody laughed at me," said Iva Rhodes, a Toronto resident. "I had one friend who just didn't believe me But the little girl next door the first believe me. But the little girl next door, the first thing she said to me was, 'Say hello to Santa Claus.'" Early Tuesday, as the expedition approached its goal, Captain John Waldie, the pilot, got on the intercom to say, "I hope you're all aware that the pole is just the Arctic Ocean with ice on it, and I'm oot sure there's much to see." There was oo shortage of ceremony, An acting postmaster applied a special cancellation to stamps on envelopes commemorating the expedi-tion, A cake was presented to a woman who, as the plane circled over the pole and across the interna-tional date line, celebrated ber birthday twice.

For a few minntes, the clouds parted to show the Arctic Ocean ice cap at mid-summer, the white sheet laced by cracks of open water.

But by the time the arrival at the pole was annonnced — to a chorus of cheers and applause — there was nothing to see but cottony clouds. No red-and-white striped barber pole. No Santa's

Larry Moore, a computer software salesman, was responsible for the trip. "A bunch of the boys were sitting around, and I said we should get 20 guys, each invite to friends, rent a plane and go to the North Pole," Moore said. "Everybody said. Yeah!' That was five years ago."

There were complications, especially in arrang-ing for use of a suitable plane and making sure there wouldn't be any problems in venturing across the pole a few miles toward Soviet airspace. "It appears the Russians don't have radar that goes that far," Moore said. "It was a matter of some concern. A 707 has the same radar profile as

But once the plane was arranged and the project announced, the response was overwhelming, Moore said. Toronto's radio shows talked enthusiastically of the expedition and the 161 seats for

Humanities Chief Sets Low Profile

By Herbert Mitgang

New York Times Service
NEW YORK — It's a long way from Public School 92 and Holy Cross Boys School in Brooklyn where he grew up to the chair-manship of the National Endowment for the Humanities in Washington. But thanks to his own strong academic credentials and the support of oeo-conservatives, William J. Bennett, who faced strong opposition among some senators, is oow at the belm of the agency that finances everything from esoteric literary studies to television documentaries.

Bennett, 38, has oot yet met President Reagan — but he hopes to some day. Nearly a half year after his oame surfaced and the president appointed him chairman of the endowment, he says the lack of disturb him because there was a certain advantage to going by the book - the National Endowment for the Humanities law - and flying on one's own.

Bennett's first moves and his general outlook indicate that the agency will maintain a low-profile and that, because of his scholarly background and conservative pobtical orientation, the endowment will be stressing noo-controversial educational projects. In interviews, Bennett disclosed that among other things he is encouraging the observance of the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution through bumanities studies and events. One of his major efforts will be setting up summer seminars for 250 high-school teachers starting next year to study the humanities in a college atmosphere. There would be 10 or 15 seminars.

The Jeading Hotels of the World

William Bennett

"This would give high school teachers a better chance to prepare students for college" he said. Rarely are high-school teachers invited to use their minds."

He is also seeking to improve state programs in the bumanities. As chairman, he has discretionary funds, which be will use after consultation with his panels. Up to $750,000 will be divided among the 10 states — $75,000 each — that come up with the best projects. ects. The money would be passed to state councils for distribution.

Bennett is in favor of the president's budgetary cuts for his en-dowment — from $130 million this year to a proposed $96 million in 1983. Last year, the endowment received $151 million.

Bennett received a bachelor's degree from Williams College, a Ph.D. in political philosopby from the University of Texas and a law degree from Harvard. He taught law at Boston University, where he was associate dean of liberal arts and assistant to the president. Before his appointment by President Reagan, Bennett was president of the National Humanities Center in Research Triangle Park, N.C. Although a registered Demo-crat, Bennett voted for Reagan

By Noel Goodwin

International Herald Tribune

Nijinsky in the days of the Ballets

Russes, dancing them nightly at the Coliseum through July 3 to cli-max the so-called Nureyev Festi-val. The roles are Mikhail Fokine's

"Petrushka" and "Spectre de la rose," and Nijinsky's own "L'Après-midi d'un faune," and the program brings the British de-but of the Ballet-Théâtre Français of Nancy as a young, attractive company in a tricky test of histori-cal style.

Fortunately they have been guided by Serge Golovine in a spirited and sharp-featured production of "Petrushka," the elements of which Golovine in turn learned from Bronislava Nijinska, who danced in the original cast in Paris

n 1911. In such ways does a dance

traditioo survive and fluurish, fur-careful copies of the Alexandre Be-nois designs, which are so import-

ONDON - Rudoif Nureyev ONDON — Rudolf Nureyev bas put his own gloss on three roles first made famous by Vaslav and strongly supports his policies.

Asked if he minded being labeled a neo-conservative be said, "I'm not crazy about the title, but I can live with it and with the company associated with that label."

But it was backing from the oeo-conservatives that led to his appointment when the favorite for the job, M.E. Bradford, a professor of English at the University of Dallas, stumbled. Bradford had written several documents criticizing Lincoln, contending that be had taken property without due process when be emancipated the slaves. The neo-conservatives op-posed Bradford as too extreme and advanced Bennett's name.

As with all agency heads, Bennett's effectiveness may depend on bow close be is to the White House. Thus far, President Reagan has taken no actions that indicate any special interest in the bumanities. Bennett deals through aides of the president and Mrs. Reagan.

Controversial Comment

Bennett's most controversial act since taking office involved a comment he made deploring a televi-sion film about Nicaragua that was underwritten before he took office. He charged that the project, feder-ally financed in part through the Visconsin Committee for the Humanities and broadcast over PBS was "unabashed socialist realism propaganda." He declined to define what he meant by that.

Among those who criticized him for "inserting his intellectual or political views" into the program was Joseph Duffey, chairman of endowment from 1977 to last year. Bennett later said his position was misunderstood.

"I did not say that the film should oot have been shown," be said. "What I said was that it should not have been supported by funds from the endowment because neither its theme oor its approach was related to the humani-cal scene-painting.

Nureyev bimself, all pursed bps

and sagging frame as the fortorn puppet, is seen to expressive effect in the portrayal of character through the angles of limbs and head, a technique also successfully assumed by Dominique Khalfouni

as the ballerina doll. Aliocha Gor ki is a tough yet eleverly observed Moor, and there are several good smaller roles from the French dancers in a performance marginally slow in pace under André to Debussy's phrasing in "L'Après-midi d'un faune," where Nureyev hrings sensuous subtlety to the stylized Nijinsky ehoreography that now looks like a quirky form of modern danne. "Spectre de la rose" is the most conventional.

la rose" is the most conventional, in spite of what Nureyev does with the abstraction of character to be come a dream-fantasy. Leonid Massine's "Boutique Fantasque" opens the prngram withnut Nureyev, and looks, to me, the most dated in its relentless comedy

34, FG-SAINT-HONORÉ SA COLLECTION . ENSEMBLES SOIE

resser's conducting.

Presser is nevertheless attentive have got the restaurant working adequately. All they need now is a Nureyev Puts His Stamp on 3 Nijinsky Roles > ant in reflecting Stravinsky's musi-Also in London for the first time is the Australian Dance Theatre, following its European debut at the 1980 Edinburgh Festival. Based at Adelaide, where the present company was brought together five years ago under the direction of Jonathan Taylor, formerly of Britain's Ballet Rambert, the 17 well-trained dancers perform a varied repertory in the modern dance mainstream at Sadler's Wells until Saturday.

One of their signature works is Taylor's "Stars End." to music of that otle by the English composer David Bedford. An orchestral rhapsody involving rock and symphonic elements combined in a dramatic musical structure, well prepared and conducted by Ray Cook, it features five pairs of dancers in changing relationships and solo reflections, each conveying expressive intensity of feeling through the movements they make.

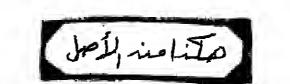

tors are two more Rambert alum-ni. Julia Blaikie and her husband Joseph Scoglin, and they have also turned choreographers for the company. Blaikie's warmly lyrical company. Blaikie's warmly lyrical "Impromptu" has a sequence of open-hearted dancing to three Schubert impromptus played by pianist Sally Mays. This I thought more successful than Scoglio's "Winter by Spring," a somewhat superficial response to four sections wrenched from, and submerged by, Mahler's "Song of the Earth."

Wednesday's NYSE Closing Prices

18th	744 CRILLY	9	216
2014	244	244	244	244	244	244
214	244	244	244	244	244
215	244	244	244	244	244
215	215	215	215	215
216	216	216	216
217	217	217	217
218	218	218	218
218	218	218	218
218	218	218	218
218	218	218	218
219	218	218	218
219	218	218	218
210	218	218
211	218	218	218
211	218	218
212	218	218
213	218	218
214	218	218
215	218	218
216	218	218
217	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	218	218
218	pf 2.18 8 .60 8 .85 .80 1.20 1.20 2.14 .24 81.92 2.20b 1344 Artion
1342 ArioRt
5% Armood
16 Armco
28 Armco
214 Arvon
114 Arvin
1174 Asoroo
2014 Ashiol
2015 Ashiol
2016 Ashiol
2017 Ashiol
2017 Ashiol
2017 Ashiol
2017 Ashiol
2017 Ashiol
2018 A 2.490 4.250 1 .500 1 .500 1 .72 1 .43 2.200 2.200 2.400 8 .501 1 .12 1 .43 1 .43 2.400 1 .200 1 .200 1 .200 1 .200 1 .200 1 .000 19% 1116 Bolleron 90
2216 Blarbrill 92
2216 Blarbrill 91
2216 Blarbrill 92
2216 Blarbrill 92
2216 Blarbrill 92
2216 Blarbrill 93
2216 Blarbrill 140
2217 Blarbrill 140
2317 Blarbrill 140
2317 Blarbrill 140
2317 Blarbrill $1:00

BUSINESS/FINANCE

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Estel Hoesch Says It Is Back in Black

DORTMUND, West Germany -- Estel Hoesch, the German operating ann of the Dutch-West German steel group Estel, returned to profit in the first five months of 1982, chairman Detley Robwedder said Wednes-

ry. He told the annual meeting of Hoesch, Estel's German parent, that the profit, the first after years of losses, amounts to tens of millions of Deutsche marks. The firm expects to show a full-year profit, be added. The improved performance so far this year mainly stemmed from internal modernization and workforce cuts, he said.

Midland to Enter U.S. Credit Market

LONDON - Midland Bank plans to raise at least $500 million in the U.S. commercial paper market to fund current transactions, the company said Wednesday.

Midland said its commercial paper has been given the highest ratings of Al by Standard & Poor's Corp. and Pl by Moody's Investors Service, Salomon brothers, advising the bank, will be the exclusive dealers.

Bayer Sees Weakness in Exports

COLOGNE - Signs of weakness are appearing in exports and the intest European Monetary System parity changes have made it more difficult for Bayer to compete internationally, chairman Herbert Gruenwald said Wednesday. The chemical group reported that its pre-tax fell 2.6 percent to 240 million Deutsche mark.

But he told the annual shareholders' meeting the group is well equipped for an economic upswing, which be boped will come in the

Hongkong, Carrian Set Joint Venture HONG KONG - Hongkong Land said it will sell three wholly-owned subsidiaries for 998 million Hong Kong dollars to a 50-50 joint venture it plans to form with Carrian Investment The three subsidiaries each own a block of apartments on Hong Kong Island. Hongkong Land will retain a 50-percent stake in the properties through the joint venture and will continue to manage the properties

Meanwhile, Carrian chairman George Tan said the company has arranged credit facilities of up to $180 million in Europe through Bovis International, a member of the Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Company, to help finance the second phase of Carrian's property development project in Oakland, Calif., managed by Bovis.

Fiat Cedes Argentine Plant Control

TURIN — Fiat said Wednesday it has reached an outline agreement for Argentine interests to hold a 60-percent controlling stake in Fiat subsidiary Sevel Argentina.

Sevel, which produces Fiat and Peugeot cars with a total capacity of 100,000 rars a year, reported heavy losses last year after output slumped to 33,000 vehicles, from 66,000 in 1980. Fiat earber this year reported its car subsidiary Fiat Auto lost 250 billioo lire ($178.6 million) in 1981 on its holdings in Latin American operations.

Becker Sees $2 Million 8-Month Loss

NEW YORK - Becker expects an estimated loss of $2-million in the eight months ending June 30, compared to a profit of $6 million in the same period last year, Chief Executive Ira Wender said Wednesday. He denied rumors that have circulated in U.S. financial markets since late last week that the privately held company is experiencing financial difficulties in its government-bond department or in its repurchase agreement activitles. He said the company has ample capital to cover its commitments and that it is in compliance with capital requirements set by the New York Stock Exchange.

Mr. Wender said the losses primarily stemmed from brokerage, partictharly in the retail and international areas, Because of the weakened market conditions, he said Becker had laid off 250 employees, mostly in the firm's support areas, between mid-March and May.

Compiled From Agency Dispotches

Fung King Hey: Masterful Maker Of Classy Deals

By Pamela G. Hollie , New York Times Service

HONG KONG - In Hong Kong, where making money is a national pastime, nothing is more ap-plauded than a consummate deal, and oo individual is more revered than the businessman who can make one. Perhaps most revered of all is Fung King Hey, an immigrant from China whose formal education stopped at about the eighth grade. Widely recognized as king of the deal makers here, he has built a real estate, securities and banking empire.

Mr. Fung and Merrill Lynch plan to sign a deal early next month that has clear advantages for Mr. Fung's Sun Hung Kai Securities and Sun Hung Kai Bank. And it advances the Sun Hung Kai motto:
"With our feet in Hong Kong with our back against China, with our face towards the Asia-Pacific region, with our eyes open, we scan the world."

Colleagues describe the financial wizard in terms that suggest science fiction rather than high finance. Physically, be could have been designed by a graphic artist: a pencil-thin body that seems to be powered by a dozen glasses of water a day, an angular head and spare features with hardly a wrinkle after 60 years.

'Very Clever'

Mr. Fung does not grant interviews, but his efforts to stay out of the limelight have been thwarted by his attention-drawing deals.

"He is an exceptional businessman," said Robert Fell, Hong Kong commissioner for securities. "He has a keen sense of timing and he is not afraid to take chances. He has made some mistakes, but he is very

The latest development, under which Merrill Lynch is acquiring 25 percent of Sun Hung Kai Securities and 15 percent of Sun Hong Kai Bank, could make Mr. Fung the largest individual shareholder in Merrill Lynch & Co., parent of the largest U.S. securities The arrangement, said William R. Arthur, chairman of Merrill Lynch International, "will greatly strengthen our ability to serve individuals, corporations institutions and accurate individuals, corporations institutions and accurate individuals."

tions, institutions and governments throughout the Pacifie region." But it is Mr. Fung who is being congratulated on this side of the world for pulling off a classy deal. He personally will make $60 million, and the deal gives him a strong footbold in the U.S. market.

The Merrill Lynch agreement, which has been valued at $81.5 million, calls for Merrill Lynch to buy 20 percent of the stock of Sun Hung Kai Securities directly from Mr. Fung. Sun Hung Kai Securities has assets of $478 million, and its 1981 after-tax profit totaled $32.6 million.

The Right Opportunity

Merrill Lynch also is to buy 17.3 million shares, or 10 percent, of Sun Hung Kai Bank directly from Mr. Fung. Formerly known as Sun Hung Kai Finance, the bank received its license only two months ago. It has assets of about $760 million, and its after-tax profit was $12.5 million in 1981.

Mr. Fung is to be paid in Merrill Lynch convertible debentures, which if converted would give him 4 percent of Merrill Lynch. Whether he will convert has

In the same deal, Cie. Financière de Paris et des

Pays-Bas, known as Paribas, is to sell some of its holdings in Sun Hung Kai Bank to Merrill Lynch, cutting its share to 25 percent from 30. By reducing Paribas' holdings, the bank will be able to offer higher deposit rates than allowed at banks owned more than 25 percent by foreigners. But Paribas is to increase its holdings in the securities firm to 10 percent from 5 percent. Merrill Lynch and Paribas are buying another. er 10 percent of Sun Hung Kai Securities through a

"Even before Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas be-came a minority shareholder in 1978, Sun Hung Kai had already mapped out a strategy for cooperation in Europe, America and Asia," said Mr. Fung through the buffer of executives who isolate him from the press. "Objectives were set for the desirable distribution of share holdings. After that, it was a question of waiting for the right opportunity. When this presented itself, Sun Hung Kai was able to reach agreement with Merrill Lynch almost immediately.

Sun Hung Kai is expected to end a five-year-old oint venture with ACLI International, a commodities brokerage house owned by Donaldson Lufkin Jen-rette, a rival of Merrill Lynch's, and end a nine-month-old arrangement with Bear, Steams & Co. to market U.S. securities.

Mr. Fung, who had a money-exchange business in Canton before the Communist takeover and began his China trading ventures in 1978 with his Sun Hung Kai China Ltd., is considered to have better trade links with China than any other Hong Koog business-man. Sum Hung Kai China has liaison offices in Pe-king and Shanghai and enters joint undertakings with U.S. and European multinationals mostly in equipment and technology projects.

Mr. Fung, who byes in Hong Kong's exclusive Victoria Peak area, is quiet and unassuming, people who know him say. He loves European antiques and has an exceptional memory, but be is most excited by a deal, his associates say. The deal, not the money, interests him. He is, some say, embarrassed by his wealth and prefers to ride in a Cadillac than in the Rolls-Royce that serves as his company car. His son is in training on the company's board, but

(Continued on Page 9, Col. 3)

Budget Approval Sends Prices on NYSE Surging

NEW YORK - A late rally Wednesday sent prices on the New York Stock Exchange sharply higher for the second day in a row as Wall Street welcomed approval by Congress of a federal budget. The Dow Jones industrial average meandered in a oarrow range most of the day, then soared late in the session to close with a gain of 13.51 points, to $13.17. It was the biggest one-day rise since March 22, when the average climbed 13.89 points.

The late spurt extended a rally that began Tuesday, when the average gained 9.71 points after plunging about 80 over the previous 30 sessions.

On Wednesday, advances led declines by around five to two, and volume swelled to some 62.7 million shares from 55.29 million Tuesday. Analysts said the market drew strength in the afternoon from news that the Senate gave final congressional approval to a 1983 The budget vote "removed a major negative" from the market, said Michael Metz, technical analyst for Oppenheimer & Co. "The worst thing for a market is uncertainty. At least we oow do have a budget, whether you like it or not." Analysts continued to say, how-ever, that the rally is primarily technical in nature and that there must be some downward movement in interest rates before any gains can be sustained, Even though a compromise has been reached on the budget, the Treasury will have to borrow heavily to cover the projected deficit of $103.9 billion. That beavy borrowing is widely expected to keep in-terest rates high and cut short the recovery of the U.S. economy.

Robert O'Connor, a vice president of J&W Seligman & Co., said that the market was oversold but that a sustained rally "cannot be expected until the government completes its massive financing program.

There was some speculation that short interest would show a rise, a bearish signal for the market. Short interest on the NYSE, released after the close, was down 4,547,118 shares for the month ended June 15. Short-interest represents the number of shares needed to be purchased to cover the sale of saviog measure allowing Malaysia

slock not owned by the seller. Blue-chip and technology stocks had slight gains, while transportation and interest-sensitive issues, such as banks and utilities, were

Cities Service, which rose 1% points Tuesday, slipped & Wednesday in heavy trading. Gulf Oil, which has begun a $63-a share offer for 51 percent of Cities' stock, ended at 26%, of %. After that it has $3 billion in credit lines available for the merger. The credit lines include $2 billion arranged in July, 1981, and $1 billioo in reent commitments. Mesa Petroleum, which last week ended its bid to take over Cities, gained 1/4 to 14%.

Purolator, also active, slipped one point to 33½. IBM rose 1½ to 61½.

Tin Pact Adopted; Price Rises Sharply

GENEVA - Tim prices surged Wednesday after producers and consumers adopted a new agree-ment aimed at stabilizing the met-

The action, ending more than a week of uncertainty over whether the accord would be renewed, cleared the way for the loterna-tional Tin Council to impose righter curbs on exports. Tin for delivery in three months surged in London Wednesday morning to £6,700 ($11,675) before falling back to finish curb trading at £6,520, which still represented a rise of £265 from Tuesday's close. The new agreement, which comes into effect July I, calls for a support price of about £7,000.

Tin prices fell to a five-year low of £5,500 last week after producing and consuming countries at a meeting in Geneva June 11 failed to adopt the agreement. That failure raised fears that the oldest intergovernmeotal commodity agree ment would lapse when the fifth version expired June 30. At the June 11 meeting, Malaysia, the world's largest tin pro-ducer, said it could not say whether it would join an agree-ment in which only about 50 percent of the consuming couotries would participate. The United States and the Soviet Unioo have refused to join,

However, Malaysia, Indooesia and Thailand agreed last weekend to form a producers' association to promote their interests, a move delegates in Geneva saw as a face-to join an agreement it was not sat istied with.

Malaysian officials have said the association will support prices through limits on production and buffer-stock operations, sponsor research and work to reduce the involvement of third parties in marketing. Indonesia has insisted that the association will not be a cartel and should oot be compared to OPEC.

Peter Lai, executive chairman of the tin council, which administers the tin agreement, told reporters that the producers' association need not hinder the accord, "Producers' associations are quite compatible with international commodity agreements," he said, Cocoa and rubber producers' groups successfully fuoction alongside in-ternational agreements in those commodities, Mr. Lai said.

He said producing countries will have to tighten their export controls, "bearing in mind the surplus of tio overhanging the market. In April, seeking to halt the price de-cline, the tin council ordered producers to withhold 10 percent of their potential export tonnage in the second quarter.

Malaysia, Indonesia, Thailand and Australia, which together provide about 79 percent of the world tin output, all accepted the new accord. Another major producer, Bolivia, rejected it. The 16 participating consumer countries, which inelude the European Economic Community nations and Japan, account for less than half of the world's consumption of tin.

S&P Will Rate New Eurobonds

NEW YORK -- Standard & Poor's said Wednesday it will immediately begin assigning ratings to new Eurobond issues of both U.S. and non-U.S. entities that have other outstanding long-term debt issues rated by S&P.

A rating will be assigned whether or not one is requested by the issuer and, whenever possible, prior to sale date. Issuers of Eurobonds will not be charged for unrequested rat-ings. Those Eurobond issuers without an existing S&P rating will be rated only upon request, and in accordance with S&P's normal fee policies. S&P said the decision was based on the increased internationalization of the world's capital markets, the greater degree of financing flexibility as a result of the recent Security Exchange Commission's shelf-reg-istration and the increased importance of ratings to Euro-

NEW YORK - Iran, which had discounted its oil price far below official OPEC levels earlier this year, has notified customers of a $1-a-barrel increase effective July 1. industry sources said Wednesday.

The new price for Iran's high-quality light crude will be $31.20 a barrel, while the lower-quality crude will go for $29.30 a barrel, the courses said.

The July increase, while coming as a surprise in light of Iran's cagerness to boost oil sales, still leaves Iran's official price below the level at which its oil is selling on the spot, or noncontract, mar-

branish light crude has traded hands on the spot market in recent days at about $31.65 a barrel, according to Platt's Oilgram Price Report, a trade journal.

Iranian heavy crude has been quoted at about $30.20 a barrel.

Most oil is sold by contract rather

U.S. Agency Adopts Interim Rules For Direct Satellite TV Broadcasts

By Patricia Koza

WASHINGTON - Interim rules to govern a new and poten-tially far-reaching venture in U.S. television, direct broadcast of pro-gramming from satellites to homes, were adopted Wednesday by the Federal Communications Commission.

To a 7-0 vote, the commission said the experimental service has the potential of vastly increasing television service, particularly in rural areas too remote to receive cooventional signals or be wired economically for cable. FCC staff member Florence Setzer, who presented the proposal during a commission meeting, said. We believe the benefits of said, "We believe the benefits of DBS (direct-broadcast satellite) service to the American people will he great."

The commission adopted a staff recommendation to impose miniistration in November, 1979 short-mum rules on an interim basis un-til standards for the Western Hem-isphere are set at a 34-nation conference in 1983. The commission spent much of its session debating the potential effect of a new oational broadcast service on current requirements on broadcasters to serve their local

Joseph Fogarty said it was the first time the commission would be approving a national broadcasting service without imposing rules under the local service concept. He said, "It may be the death of localism; we doo't know."

However, chairman Mark Fowler, who has devoted much of his efforts to deregulation of the broadcast industry, said it is up to the public to decide through its viewing habits what it prefers to walch.

Conventional broadcasters see direct broadcasting as a threat to local broadcasting and to their industry.

The National Association of Broadcasters has said interim anthorization would in one fell swoop be premature, prejodicial in the extreme to permanent poli-cymaking, and nothing short of imprudent rule making Another issue is the treatment of earth-based microwave users now on the 12 gigahertz frequency band proposed for DBS. They would be required to shift within five years of final commission ac-

DBS was first proposed by the Communications Satellite Corp. in 1980. Under the concept, television programming would be transmitted by powerful satellites directly to small "dish" antennae on home rooftops that would cost about $300.

Some companies propose offer-ing their programming on a sub-scription basis, for perhaps $25 a month, while the services of others would be advertiser-supported.

The commission has conditionally accepted the applications of mine companies to provide direct broadcast services.

you should not miss

EDWARD IEWELS Via V. Veneto 187 Tel. 49 38 09

This advertisement appears as a matter of record only

Banco Central de Reserva del Peru US$200,000,000

Stand-by Credit Facility

Lead Managed by

Arab Banking Corporation (ABC)

Arab Latin American Bank - Arlabank Banco di Roma Banco do Brasil S.A.
Banco Exterior de España/Banco Exterior de los Andes y de España S.A. "Extebandes" The Bank of Tokyo, Ltd.

First Interstate Bank of California

Arab International Bank, Cairo

Banco Ambrosiano Andino Managed by

Banco do Brasil S.A., Nassau branch

Banque Sudameris, Miami Agency National Bank of North America

Banco Hispano Americano S.A.

First Pennsylvania Bank N.A.

Banque Sudameris

Co-Managed by Banco de Bilbao, S.A.

National Bank of North America Banco de Bogotá Banco Hispano Americano S.A. Banque Intercontinentale Arabe First Pennsylvania Bank N.A. Libyan Arab Foreign Bank

Provided by Arab Latin American Bank - Arlabank

Arab Banking Corporation (ABC) Banco di Roma, New York branch Exterior de España S.A. The Bank of Tokyo, Ltd., New York Agency
Banco Exterior de los Andes y de España, S.A. "Extebandes"
Arab Interstate Bank of California Arab International Bank, Cairo Banco Exterior de España S.A. First Interstate Bank of California Banco Ambrosiano Andino, Lima Banco de Bilbao, S.A. Banco de Bogotá Banque Intercontinentale Arabe Libyan Arab Foreign Bank

Libyan Arab Foreign Bank Allied Bank and Trust Company (Bahamas) Limited Arab African International Bank – Cairo Banco Arabe Español, S.A. "Aresbank" Banque Worms European Brazilian Bank Limited – Eurobraz Kuwait Foreign Trading Contracting & Investment Co. (S.A.K.)

> Ageni Bank Arab Latin American Bank

The price increase will not affect fuel prices in the United States because U.S. oil companies have not bought Iranian oil since imports were banned by the Carter admin-World Bank Loan for Thais than on the spot market.

Resters

BANGKOK — The World Bank has approved a $90-million 20-year loan to the Petroleum Authority of Thailand to help construct a natural gas separation plant on the Gulf of Thailand, the bank said Wednesday.

ly after Americans were seized and held hostage in Tehran. Earlier this year President Reagan ended the import ban, but U.S. companies bave been reluctant to renew their relations with Iran. In April the Defense Depart-ment bought 1.8 million barrels of Iranian oil for storage in the gov-erument's Strategic Petroleum Re-serve io Louisiann. There was speculation that the new price increase, which was not announced by the Iranian government, is an attempt by Iran to mend its poor relations with some key members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. Iran had angered many OPEC members in February when it

Iran Reportedly Raises Oil Price barrel. It later cut the price another $2 a barrel in a drive to attract buyers while it was seeking to finance the war with Iraq.

Some industry analysts have said recently they believed Iran would be seeking an accommodation with its OPEC critics in order to win a bigger production quota.

Iran already is believed to be exceeding that quota, which is currently 1.2 million barrels a day under the production-sharing plan. der the production-sharing plan adopted by OPEC ministers in

The individual quotas may come under review this summer as the cartel seeks to raise its overall production ceiling, currently 17.5 million barrels a day.

CURRENCY RATES

Int	terbank e	xchange	rates for	June 23	, excludir	ng bank s	ervice ch	orges.
Antsterdom Brussels (o) Frankfurt Landon (b) Milen New York Partch	$ 2,7345 47,12 2,4815 1,7323 1,399,30 4,8955 2,109	2.412.90 17.433 17.84 2.412.90 17.433	D.M. 110.04 * 17.0525 	F.F. 39.67 - 4.8445 36.05 - 11.6975 202.90 0.1581	#.L 0.1957 3.3845 • 1.774 × 2.412.58 0.872 • 4.928 × 0.1807	Ghdr. 17.3045 90.82 • 4.7163 511.62 0.3667 252.18 •	8.F. 5277 • 5.271 • 81.29 29.554 6.0213 14.572 •	S.F. 129.10 ° 22.361 117.35 ° 3.461 441.48 0.4802 325.75 °	D.K. 37.82 • 5.51 28.95 • 14.845 163.12 0.1176 80.35 • 24.57 •
1 ECU 1 SDR	0,9512 1,88737	0,5518 0,4303	2.3439 2.7032	4.5554 7,498	1331.37 1521.50	2.6012 2.9734	44,95 51,5033	2.0133 2.3022	9.3367
5 Currency Per Equity, Currency U.S.S 1,0706 Austrolaus S 9,9798 9,8571 Austrian schillion 17,51 9,0172 Belgion Rd. Srund 52,09			Dollar Values Squiv. Corrency U.S.S Equiv. Currency 0,010 isroell sheke! 2334 0.469 Singapore 5 0,0039 Janonese van 25520 0.673 S. African rund 1,4674 Kurushi dipar 1,2884 0.003 S. Koraon van 1,422 Markey, rissolit 2,3495 0.0039 Securità pesselit					742.00
0,1145 Dan 1,2098 Flas	nadion 5 ish krone iph mark	1,2995 8,5825 4,7645	0.422 0.1567 0.1151	Norw. k Phil. p	rene 4.30	0,14	27 Swedi 34 To	Sia Peselli Isti Kripaçı İwazı S IJ Iwali

THE CONTROL OF THE STATE OF THE

1711 Hexcell
7 Hispan
놠 27% IC Ind
44% IC Ind
44% ICN
12% INAIN
12% INAIN
12% INAIN
12% IU Im
14% IdoNoP
11% II Ind
12% I n2.951 2.10u 2.88 21.20 2.40 .60 3.44 6 25 7 481 9 32 1 82 1 82 2 22 735 9 349 2 47

Olckinsin A) Olckinsin B)
Domein I Echiemet
C Falcon C Fibre Nik
Fed Ind A Froser
Fruehauf
G Distrib A Gibratibar Government
GI Forest
GF Factific
Greythid
H Graup A Hirding A I Howker
Howes D
Howker
Howes D
Howker
Howes D
Howker
Howes B
Journace
Komein Gray
Libratibar
Libratibar
Libratibar
Koff A Libratibar
Lib

23% IntTT # 15% Int T # 15% In 7 17% light(p 17% light)
186 Jimes
186 Jimes
186 Jimes
186 Jimes
187 James
1 20 KDI 2814 KLM 12 KLM 12 KUSTA 12 KUSTA 13 KUSTA 14 KUSTA 14 KUSTA 16 KUSTA 16 KUSTA 16 KUSTA 16 KUSTA 16 KUSTA 17 KUSTA 18 KUSTA 19 KUSTA

Murphy Hard National Hard Tray Hard National
23 263 1351/4 1074/4 1174/4 1174/4 2074/4 20 Canadian Stock Markets

1.72 200 274 25 200 200 200 1 1914 Knopen

2514 Kyebot

2514 Kyebot

178 L N He

2514 Kyebot

178 L N He

2615 L L CCp

2615 L CCp June 22

High Law Class Ch's 944 - 44 1614 - 44 1770 + 45 170 - 45 170 - 45 170 - 45 170 - 45 170 + 45 170 + 45 170 + 45 170 + 45 170 + 45 170 + 45 170 + 45 170 - 45 170 20200 21413 6254 15225 11730 100 1700 37510 1240 200 450 6290 2700 7700 Trackie UA
TrCan PL
Trismac
Turbo f
Ualgarn A f
Ua Carbid
Union Gos
U Kens
U Kens
U Kens
U Kens
Western
Wester High Lew Close Chris 21/1/11/25/50 15/25/50 12/4/65 7 11/4/16/50 11/4/60 11/4/66/50 11/4/66/50 11/4/66/50 11/4/60 11/4/66/50 11/4/60 11/4/60 11/4/60 11/4 Montreal 171/2 18 + 1/2 171/2 181/2 + 1/2 171/2 181/2 - 1/2 450 445 + 1/0 171/2 171/2 + 1/2 411 3 84 81912 445 3 814 31916

Canadian Indexes

June 23
Previous 255.97
1,74.00
als index.

Productivity international finance. subsidiary in Luxembourg, we have the capabilities and llexibility to meet the Landesbank Stuttgart is based in the heart of Baden-Würtlemberg, noted for productivity and for its achievemen nancial requirements of a growing inter national clientele in Zurich we are represented by our affiliate Bank für Kredit in science, technology, and industry. For pioneers such as Johannes Kepler, und Aussenhandel AG (BKA) and in Pans whose epoch-making studies of the planelary system helped lay the foun-dation of modern dynamical astronomy. by Banque Franco Allemande S.A.(BFA). A government-backed bank authorized to issue own bearer bonds, Landes-Repier is a typical example of the bank Slutigart is part of Germany's vast Sparkassen network. deep-rooted commitment to diligence and productivity that has made gaden-V/untembergione of West Germany's For a banking partner whose hist primost prosperous states and headonty is productivity, please contact Landesbank Stuftgart. quariers of some of the world's leading names in business and industry. Productivity is also the cornerstone of Stuttgart Head Office Lautenschlagerstr. 2. D-7000 Stuttgart Telephone: (7 th 20 49-0, Telez: 72 519-38 our banking philosophy at Landesbank Stuttgart, one of southern Germany's eading banks with assets of over

London Branch

Luvembraing Subsidiary

72 Basinghall Street, London EC2V5AJ Telephone, 01-6068651, Telex; 8814275

Landesbank Stutigan International S.A. 1, Place d'Armes, Tel.: 4 1884, Tele - 3551

Landesbank Stuttgart

CiM 24 billion.

Combining domestic strength with presence in the key Euromarket centers in international finance. With a full-service branch in London and a wholly-owned.

of Europe, we are a reliable partner

Comments of the comments of th 18th Pool of the P

2.7 TV-0.0 TV-0

9997447280039241728123949 121-136649 121-136649 140-1459 447-1459 447-1459 121-13649 121-136649 121-136649 140-1459 147-1459 147-1459 121-136649 121-136649 140-1459 147-1459

PARSON PROCESSION OF PROCESSION P

TOTAL REPORT TO THE STATE OF THE STATE STA

15th October 15th

SA RBING
1958 RCA
1971 RCA
1972 RCA
1972 RCA
1973 RCA
1974 RCA
197 71/2 SCA 1946 SCAM 1946 SEN 13 13 SPSTRec 13 SPSTRec 11 Styctics 44 Styctics 14 Styctics 15 Styctics 15 Styctics 15 Styctics 15 Styctics 16 Styctics 17 Styctics 17 Styctics 17 Styctics 18 Styctics 18 Styctics 18 Styctics 19 Styctics 1 16%- % 17%- 14 25 + % 15% 5 17%- 16 27%- 16 27%- 16 27%- 16 Company of the control of the contro

201746464041244455173175046177471745517504617747174551750461745175046175046174517504617504617451750461750461745175046175 ,90 pf2.16 3 n1.20 1.70 3.80 pf2.40 pf2.47 1.90 2.05

P Triade
22 Triades
22 Triades
23 Triades
24 Triades
174 Treathin
175 Treathin
175 Treathin
175 Treathin
175 Treathin
175 Triades
175 Treathin
175 Triades
175 Triades
175 Triades
175 Triades
176 Triades
177 Triades
1

15th UAL
19th UGI
19t

United property of the propert

10177266236 121 141615 130 141615 3.60 4.74a 3.3 2.29: 1.52: pf 4.4 pf2.13 1.300 pf 4ee 2.32: pf 2.32: pf 4 12764 4914 4914 4914 491 491 1114 491 1114 491 1114 491 1114 491 1114 1 45%+ % 12

مِلْنَامِن الأصل

Sanctions, Falling Sales Hit Polish Trade Fair

By Paul Lewis

New York Times Service POZNAN, Poland — A sharp rection in the number of Western hashesses exhibiting their wares at this year's Poznan Trade Fair appears to be at least partly a result of the economic sanctions the United States and its allies imposed on Poland after martial law was declared in December.

Trade between Poland and the West is falling sharply, and that has kept Western industrialists from the fair, which closed Tuesday. The fair is widely seen as a major event on the East-West trade calendar.

Polish imports from the West in the first five mooths of the year ran at only balf last year's pace of $4.1 billion a year, according to Polish figures. The drop reflects the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's ban on fresh export credits for Poland as well as Poland's for-sign currency shortage. Polish exporters, short of vital foreign supplies, sold only $1.9 billion of goods in Western markets during the same period, suggesting that Poland will have difficulty meeting its declared target of $5

Other Markets

Brussels

Frankfurt

Clasing artices in local currencie

Milan

45.00 14.00 15.00

Zarich

77.55 Bass
77.55 Bass
77.55 Bar Ind,
88.65 Beechurin Ge
88.61 Bit CC
88.68 Bit CC
8

Selected Over-the-Counter

billion to $6 billion of hard currency exports in 1982.

The decline in U.S. trade with Poland is even steeper, largely as a result of the suspension of credits to Poland for U.S. grain purchases. During the first four months of this year, sales by the United States to Poland dropped to $55 million from $390 million in the same period last year. same period last year.

U.S. imports of Polish goods tumbled to $47 million from $132 million. In addition to suspending the grain credits, the Reagan ad-ministration restricted high-techcology exports to Poland and end-ed Export-Import Bank credit in-surance to the nation. It also imposed sanctions against the Soviet

However, the few Western businessmen who made their way to the Poznan fair said they were pleased they had come. Some are still able to sell the Poles essential imports for cash, while others suggested that, when Poland's econo my eventually recovers, the Polish authorities will give preference to foreign suppliers that stood by them during the bad years.

This year, even Polish officials do oot dery that sanctions, com-bined with Poland's own economic difficulties, have made the fair a pale shadow of its former self, de-spite efforts by the Soviet Union and other East bloc countries to compensate by mounting excep-tionally large displays of goods and machinery. Henryk Sitarek, the fair's director, said, "The present crisis in our economy was bound to influence our foreign trade and the Poznan

While the Poles say they have kept oo official tally, Western diplomats reckon that non-Commu-nist participation at this year's fair was down to about a third of what it was in 1981, when the Polish economy was already in trouble.

NATO governments did not sponsor official pavilions in which goods, as they did in the past. And they generally gave oo other assistance to companies that did come.

Last year, 19 U.S. corporations took space in the official pavilion at the fair. This year, there was only one U.S. exhibitor listed in the guidebook: Ingersoll-Rand, the machinery maker. nachinery maker. The West European subsidiaries of several other big U.S. multina-tional corporations also exhibited however, including the Swiss sub-sidiaries of Philip Morris and the 3M Company, and the Austrian subsidiary of Unioo Carbide. U.S. diplomats said that, in all, about six U.S.-controlled companies were represented.

Last year, West Germany, which does relatively more business with Eastern Europe than any other NATO country, was represented by 340 concerns. This year there were only 107. The number of British companies fell to 12 from 124, while the French contingent dropped to 12 from nearly 40.

fish to Taiwan. En route he be

During the Korean war, he

two partners began a property con-cern, which prospered until 1967

when riots inspired by the Cultural Revolution soured Hong Kong husiness. He fled to Canada

But Mr. Fung returned to Hong Kong and in 1969 formed Sun Hung Kai Securities and Sun Hung Kai Finance, which now controls 25 percent of the trading in Hong Kong stocks. With Marsh & McLennan, Sun

Hung Kai has formed an insurance brokerage and consulting business. Last year, Sun Hung Kai Securities established a joint venture with

West Germany's AEG-Telefunken

to set up a link between China. West Germany and Hong Kong.

10% Belgian Inflation Seen

BRUSSELS - Inflation in Beigium is likely to be between 10 percent and 11 percent this year mainly as a result of the 8.5 per-cent devaluation of the Beigian frame in February, Economic Affairs Minister Mark Eyskens said

Sun Hung Kai Chief Dazzles Hong Kong With His Deals

Mr. Fung recruits managers from came so seasick that he was unable to keep the oxygen hubbling through the containers holding the fish. When he arrived, the fish were dead. Uodaunted, he loaded all over the world to run the company while he plans and makes his deals. He does not get involved much in day-to-day operations.

In style, Merrill Lynch and Sun Hung Kai seem well suited. In Hong Kong, Sun Hung Kai was the first to market stocks to the the ship with bananas for the return trip, but bad weather delayed the voyage and the bananas rotted. made money selling supplies to Macao. When refugees began pouring into Hong Kong from China in the 1950s, Mr. Fung with man in the street. Stock markets had been exclusive clubs. No one offered shares to taxi drivers and hawkers until Sun Hung Kai set up retail brokering operations. A trial-and-error businessman Mr. Fung came to Hong Kong af-ter the Communist takeover of China. In one of his earliest trading efforts, he tried to ship tropical

Volcker Counsels Brake on Loans

To Latin America

WASHINGTON - Federal Reserve chairman Paul Volcker has said the recent pace of Western lending to Latin America is not sustainable and will have to be cut. He said, however, that an abrupt cutoff of loans would be disastrous and should be avoided at all costs.

Singapore

France Ind. Index :4,817.11 Previous :4,828.61

Appearing Tuesday before a meeting of the Council of Americas, Mr. Volcker said there is "some sense of growing risk on the part of [Western] lenders and on the part of [Latin American] bor-

He said the problem stems in large part from the tennous bal-ance of payments positions of many Latin American countries. The two largest borrowers, Brazil and Mexico, realize the problem and are making appropriate judgments, he said.

Portugal, EEC Discuss Foreign Bank Terms

LUXEMBOURG - Portugal has asked for a ten-year transition period before foreign banks could set up branches in the country, but the EBC will agree only to seven years, EEC sources said after talks on Portugal's application to join the Common Market.

They also discussed banking and taxation rules, the free movement of goods and Portugal's trade relations with Japan. Portugal has imposed more restrictions on Japanese imports than has the EEC.

COMPANY REPORTS

1.41 2.58 2.58 2.50 1.35 2.35 1.35 2.35 2.35 2.35 2.35 2.35 2.35 2.35 2	of goods and Portugal's trade rela- tions with Japan. Portugal has im- posed more restrictions on Japa- nese imports than has the EEC.
200 155 145 250 250	1	IPANY
150 N.Q.	ORTS
1370	Revenue and profits, in milions, are in local currencies unless otherwise indicated
470	United State
2.50		ire and Rubb
•	2nd Quar. Revenue	1982 585.6	1781 565.4
	Profits	29.93	22.67
284	Per Share	1.27	0.92
272	6 Months Revenue	1,040.	1,060.
254	Profits	loss4.456	24.79
745	Per Shore	loss0,20	1.00
拐		Strauss
1,440	2nd Quar.	1982	1991
760	Profits	612.5 18.5	686.t 34.6
75	Per Share	0.45	0.83
277	6 Months	1982	1997
2.110	Revenue	1,150,	1,330.
器	Profits	35.52 0.86	1.75
48	West Germo	iny
311	В	аует
10	1st Quar.	1982	1981
26	Profits	240.0	246.0
316		i Werke	1990
350	Year Revenue	10.540	8.690
870	Profits	143.6	-
250		d Krupp	1990
410	Revenue	1981 14,690.	13,900.
107	Profits	loss 37.0	98.0
3.370	Philipp	Holzmann	7.4
500	Revenue	1981	1980
141	Profits	3,820. 47,73	40.65
200
210	Gold Market	m Z	me 23
448	GOIU MAIKE	60 J	CP,000
314	Hone Kode Luxemboure	775.15 272.53	-1.40
1.020	Parts (12.5 kHo)	Closed 291,94	-0.36
3,2	Zurich Landen	297.50 302.00 300.75 364.60	1,75 Unch.
	Men York Official fixings	or Lender Por	Unch.
	Hoop Kong and Zuric	a and closing pr	loss for larman,
	I III delles see

_	_
	Go	d Opti	0105 (jelo	u in $/ex.)
E	-	Asp.	Nov.	P4
	REREGE	12.08.14.09 4.00.12.09 4.50. 8.50 3.00. 3.00 1.50. 3.00	24.00.27.00 14.00.27.00 11.00.44.00 7.00.9.00 4.00.400	54.50.77.50 14.50.77.50 11.69-14.50 7.00-7.50 4.00-4.00
1			7242
ı	Valeurs White Weld S./
111	LO	usi de M Geseva	ont-Blanc

Eurocurrency Interest Rates

Floating Rate Notes

Banks

Non Banks

Weekly net asset value Tokyo Pacific Holdings N.V.

on June 21, 1982: U.S. $71.03.

Listed on the Amsterdam Stock Exchange

Information: Pierson, Heldring & Pierson N.V., Herengracht 214, 1016 BS Amsterdam

. $ CORUM Maitres Artisans d'Horlogeric Les Spéciales The Corum ingot watch An authentic Swiss ingot 999.9% pure gold encased in 18 ct. gold Each ingot is poured and numbered by the Union Bank of Switzerland. A collector's piece sure to become more precious with years. Les Speciales, an unprecedented collection of distinctive models, created by Corum's master craftsmen. For a brochure, write to Corum, 2301 La Chaux de Fonds, Switzerland.

New York's Best Business Address.

any Hilton Hotel, or HILTON RESERVATION SERVICE

|In Loodon, call 01-631-1767. lo Paris, call 687-34-80.)

301 Park Avenue • New York, NY 10022 • Teles: 666747

(Advertisement) DAI-ICHI KANGYO BANK DKB ECONOMIC REPORT

Production turns weak again as the Japanese economy continues in the doldrums

other hand, showed a moderate advance of 4 per cent in fiscal 1981 (ended March 31, 1982).

Stability in wholesale prices and relatively small rises in public services charges were responsible for the stability.

for an explosion of consumer spending in the near future,

consumer prices are expected to maintain a stable trend for the time being.

Behind the stability of domestic prices is the fact that mining and manufacturing production activities are becoming

In March, seasonally-adjusted output rose 1.4 per cent from the preceding month, the first upturn in five months.

while the inventory ratio of finished products fell t.9 per cent, the first decline in three

However, seasonally-adjusted output during the first quarter of the year was off t.0

per cent from the preceding period, the first decline since 1980 third quarter. The inventory ratio likewise rose 3.5 per cent, the first increase in three

Drop in production is sharp in construction goods and producer goods for mining and manufacturing: consumer durables are still considerably ahead of the level in the third quarter of Exports are stagnant of late.

Customs clearance statistics show that in terms of dollar value they dropped 4.2 per cent in April from a year earlier, the third consecutive such decline

since February. In volume

the year-before level every menth since last December, with the sole exception of January when deliveries of ships were concentrated. Sluggishness in exports appears to have Three factors are behind the been established as a trend.

Continuous slowdown of ex-quarters.

overclouded again.

In the absence of prospects

Despite the growing interna-tional call on Japan to activate domestic demand and open its market wider, the Japanese economy is increasingly stagnaot, with mining and manufacturing production coming under a spreading shadow of sluggishness. The Government is trying to shore up business by speeding up public works investment, but no significant impact is expected to be forth-

With worsening unemploy-ment in industrialized conories looming as a major pobbeal problem, governments are beginning to attach as much importance to cranking up of the economies as to control of inflation. At a recent OECD ministerial meeting, the United States came under attack for its high interest rate policy as a major stumbling block to stimulation of business in other countries. Japan was oot spared either for allegedly keeping the yen weak, failing to boost domestic demand and being slow in opening up its market to foreign products.

If the U.S. interest rates get headed downward, Japan may become the sole target of criticisms at the forthcoming summit meeting of the industrialized countries. What Tokyo should do under such circumstances will be to come up with bold measuras for market opening and at the same time to publicize the policy to keep short term interest rates high to support the yea's value, on one hand, and fiscal sleps to stimulate domestic demand within the confines of budget deficits, on the other.

Price stability: slowing output In contrast with high inflation in the industrialized world in general prices in Japan are showing a marked stability.

Wholesale prices in April rose 0.3 per cent from March and 2.8 per cent over a year earlier. The third consecutive menthly advance of the index was almost entirely caused by a rise in import and export prices reflecting the depreciation of the yen 19 per cent during Consumer prices, on the es at: London, Düsseldori Representative sted Companies at: London, Luxemburg

t) Measures taken earlier in response to escalation of trade friction are taking their tolls. 2) Inventories abroad of commodilies in which Japan

Heed Office: 1-5, Lichselwercho 7-chome, Chyroca-ku, Tokyo 100, Japan Tel (03) 596-1111 Branchez and Agency at: New York

Los Angeles, Chazgo, Panama, Tapes, Seoul, Singapore Representative Offices at Houston, Toronto, Sub-Paulo, Alexico City, Casicas, Buenos Ares, Belham, Bangkok, Jakenta, Kuela Lumpur, Sydney Sobeldiaries et: Los Angeles, Toronto, Hong Kong, Associated Companies et: Toronto, Hong Kong, Bangkok, Singapore, Kuela Lumpur, Jakenta, Manila, Melbourne, Sydney has outstanding compeboveness, such as video tape recorders (VTRs) and seamless pipes, are swelling. 3) More fundamentally, the stagnation of the world economy is becoming unexpectedly prolonged.

Since these problems obviously cannot be resolved overnight, it will take some time for exports to recover from the present slowdown. Sluggish exports are resulting in a narrowing of trade surplus as a whole, but not with markets with which trade friction is escalating, such as the U.S. and the European Economic Community. Oo a cus-toms clearance basis in April, the trade surplus with the U.S. was $1,052 million (compared with $850 million in the same

1981 month) and that with EEC

was $920 million (compared with $996 million). Speeding up of public works in-vestment In an attempt to shore up business, the Government has come up with a policy of having 77.3 per cent of public works investment contracts budgeted for fiscal 1982 signed during the first half of the fiscal year. Such concentration of public works expenditures during the early months will prove effective in providing a prop to the economy, but it at the same time leads to concern that too little is left of such spending for the second half of the fiscal year. In view of such a possibility, some are arguing for compiling a supplementary budget on a major scale to provide for additional public works investment through issuance of more construction bonds. Such an option, however, needs careful examination because of possibility of budget delicits of staggering dimensions.

Moderate recovery of domestic Household consumption expenditures in February rose 6.4 per cent in nominal terms and 3.2 per cent in real terms over a year earlier, the highest rise since February, 1980. It was the rise after inflation.

Note Seasonally adjusted Source Bank of Japan

recovery of personal There are some stirrings in vestment in view of uncerhousing too. Housing starts in tainties over the future business March edged up 0.8 per cent trend and depressed markets. Spendings for plant and equipment planned by larger over a year earlier, the first increase since last May. This presumably reflected relaxbusinesses for fiscal 1982, howation of lending terms of the ever, are generally firm, if not as strong as last fiscal year. public bousing financing agency and for that reason may Various surveys show that they are to increase by more than 8 be brushed aside merely as a temporary phenomenon; but it may also be taken as indiper cent on an average. Particularly large investment is caling there does exist sufficient planned by steel, electric power potential demand for homes and leasing industries. and the only thing needed to Huge revenue shortfalls tap them is easier finance With some improvements tak-

The Bank of Japan sold a significant amount of Treasury Bills on the money market in May in order to absorb surplus fund generated by seasonal factors. TB selling by the central bank during the month followed similar operations in April, and it now appears to have become an established tool of monetary adjustment.

The biggest problem in the fiscal and financial scene in Japan at present is the growing prospect of huge tax revenue shortfalls in the Treasury. Shortfalls for fiscal 198t are said to be reaching a stagger. ing ¥3,000 billion. While shortfalls for fiscal t981 are going to be met by makeshift methods, like drawing oo various re-serves, the real trouble they represent is the prospect for even larger revenue shortfalls in the current fiscal 1982.

creasingly cautious about in-Talk it over with DKB The international bank that listens.

The next DKB monthly report will appear July 27.

trend of gradual

ing place in that direction, the slump of housing may have

The future trend of business capital investment is not clear.

Seasonally-adjusted shipment of capital goods texcluding transportation machinery) rose

0.2 per cent in January, t.t per cent in February and 2.6 per cent in March, respectively

from the preceding month.

But orders for machinery

rexclusive of those placed by the electric power industry and those for ships: likewise dropped 6.2 per cent in January, rose

4.0 per cent in February and went dowo 0.8 per cent in March. The zigzag movement presumably reflects businesses' sentiment, especially among smaller enterprises, in-

reached the low point

INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES

Geologists/ Geophysicists at salaries up to

The Department of Energy's Petroleum Engineering Division has a central and essential role in Britain's energy programme. It is responsible for ensuring that all the nation's natural reserves of oil and gas are recovered efficiently, safely and to the fullest extent.

Through monitoring and advising on the activities of companies engaged in exploration and production on the UK Continental Shelf, its Geologists and Geophysicists gain a unique overview and enjoy involvement at the very heart of the constantly evolving hydro-carbon energy industry. By interpreting comprehensive seismic and geological data from large and small areas with hydro-carbon potential, the Division ensures that the recovery of our reserves is maximised. All of which provides invaluable and wide-ranging experience in a professional but informal team based in London.

Posts are available at a number of levels in both disciplines. Applicants for senior posts should have at least 10 years experience in the oil industry, including previous supervisory experience. For less senior posts a minimum of 2 years experience is necessary together with the relevant degree level qualifications. Suitably qualified specialists who are not British Nationals may be considered.

For more information about the work, ring JRV Brooks on 01-211 4983.

SALARY within the range of £11,130 to £27,960 depending on qualifications and experience. Promotion prospects. RELOCATION ASSISTANCE MAY BE PAYABLE.

For an application form write to Civil Service Commission, Alencon Link, Basingstoke, Hants, RG21 LJB, or telephone Basingstoke (0256) 68551 (answering service operates outside office hours). Please quote ref: T/911/5 for Geologists and

Chicago Futures London Commodities Ju 857 842 921 960 991 1,005 1,020 London Metals PORK BELLIES Paris Commodities New York Futures

Commodity Indexes Highs and Lows U.S. Money Rates MEW LOWS- 5 Warner Seeks MGM Library NEW YORK — Warner Com-munications said Tuesday it signed an agreement in principle to buy the amisic publishing and pre-1950 film library from MGM-UA for SSS million in care. $95 million in each ASK FOR IT EVERY DAY EVERYWHERE YOU GO International Herald Tribune

International Herald Inbune

We've gol news for you

International Sales Manager Compucorp*

Word/data processing Europe, Middle East and Africa to c.US$80,000 package + stock option West London-based Computorp, a highly successful American company, designs, manufactures and markets a range of word and data processors, which is now expanded with a highly imaginative network facility. Worldwide sales are accelerating rapidly and are expected to double this year. The company has established a well-organised. well-motivated and trained distributor network in Europe. and the enormous potential in Africa and the Middle East presents an excellent opportunity for its further development.

Now to ensure this sales pattern is maintained, an International Sales Manager is needed. Located in the company's UK headquarters in Slough, his or her brief will be to strengthen and extend the dealer network throughout the territory. Extensive travel will therefore be involved. For this highly important appointment, you must have a strong background in word-processor sales and be at home negotiating with senior management in both large and small organisations. Essentially, you must be a "shirt-sleeves" individual and be prepared to spend considerable time with distributors' sales forces. Probably aged 3S-45, you possess a strong desire to achieve sales targets, a talent for man management, and the ability to speak an additional European language reasonably

The salary package is negotiable and the total of c.US$80,000 incorporates a base salary, performance bonus and car allowance. A stock option is also available. Please send CV, or write for an application form, quoting reference SS63/0037/IHT, to James Gunn.

PA Sales Selection Limited

(Recruitment Consultants) Hyde Park House. 60a Knightsbridge. London SW1N 7LE, England. Telephone 01-235 6060

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE

TREASURER '

Swiss national, age 39, ETH and MBA, speaks 4 languages, presently based in France, responsible worldwide for all treasury aspects of a major international company, experienced in cash monogement, investments, foreign exchange, bank financing, has previously worked as CFO of a division of an American multinational, seeks new challenging position in Switzerland, France, Belgium or Italy.

Picase write to Box 0.1918, International Herald Tribuna, 92521 Novilly Codes, France.

Legal Counsel

Wang Laboratories, Inc. seeks in-house legal counsel for their European support headquarters near London. With over a billion dollars in revenues. Wang ranks 341st among the Fortune 500 and is the recognized leader in the office automation computer market.

In this newly created position, the successful candidate will furnish legal advice to headquarters staff, including finance and administration, sales. marketing, personnel and customer engineering. Candidates must be fluent in English, possess a minimum of 5 years' experience in the representation of U.S. clients, and demonstrate superior academic credentials. Your background must include exposure to varied multinational legal matters and the high technology industry.

Send English language resume only to Office of General Counsel, M/S 13B3F, Wang Laboratories, Inc., One Industrial Avenue. Lowell, Massachusetts 01851, U.S.A.

WANG

The Office Automation Computer Company

INTERNATIONAL SALES DIRECTOR

and a division of a multi-national corporation seeks an international sales director with heavy experience in selling direct as well as through distributors,

Qualifications must include a minimum of a Bachelor's degree with 7 years experience in the medical/surgical field including 5 years experience in worldwide sales and sales management. Previous P & L responsibility and foreign language capabilities

The individual who could be based in the United Kingdom or Europe will possess a strong knowledge of international markets and marketing combined with an ability to motivate area sales managers and distributor sales forces.

Qualified candidates should forward their resume, which must include current and expected solary information to:

Box D 1912, International Herald Tribune, 92521 Nevilly Cedex, France.

An equal opportunity employer M/F

JEUNE MANAGER BILINGUE ANGLAIS

Un groupe français à vocation internationale recherche un(e) jeune diplôme(e) GRANDE ECOLE DE COMMERCE ou BUSINESS SCHOOL

Rattaché à la Holding, il assurera une fonction de gestion et d'organisation pour les filiales du Groupe, tant en France qu'à l'Etranger. Il devra être parfaitement bilingue anglais ou de natio-nalité anglaise ou américaine, pour participer à des negociations commerciales internationales en collaboration avec les dirigeants.

Ce poste est un tremplin pour un jeune débutant Adressez votre candidature sous référence 1307 à :

OFF organisation et publicite

Sales Director Europe Mid East and North Africa

We have been retained by a major international corporation with worldwide activities and a significant commitment to the heavy vehicle sector of the automotive industry to assist in the recruitment of a senior sales professional to lead an experienced and established team of account executives.

Direct knowledge of the heavy vehicle marketplace and extensive sales management experience are critical attributes. Candidates will ideally possess an engineering background and be used to high level negotiations and technical discussion with automotive vehicle engineers. Multilingual capability including English is essential.

Our client offers first-class opportunities for career development and excellent working conditions. Salary indicator is 60.000 dollars but could be more for candidates from high salary countries.

Please contact David Dillistone of Tasa International at 17/18 Old Bond Street, London, W1. Telephone: London 409 22 60.

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE

EXPAND YOUR OPERATIONS-IN ARAB COUNTRIES

Commercial executive, 37 y., fluent Archie, French, Italian and practical English, extensive Intervelope of International trade and business environment in Aidde-East and N.-African countries, seeks suitable post with EPORT-COMPANY in building, industrial products, all kinds of equipment or services fields. Immediately positivation.

Write to: GHOZLEN, 7, the des Champs, 92600-ASNISHES, France.

AGENCE SPECIALISEE

AGENCE SPECIALISE

DES INGENIEURS ET CADRES

12, rue Blonche 75436 PARIS CEDEX 09

Tel.: 280.61.46, Ed. 71.

285.44.40, Ed. 42.

e Informationed Business Excessives, 39, French, fluent English, Swedish, Spenish some Germon, wide experience of financing, budgeting, supervision oversees subsidiories (M.S. in Econometrics, Institut de Contrôle de Gestion - Paris), good frouble-shooter, stobles, lively, mody to tackle unusual or problem situations 8 to travel extensively or relocate. Seeks chellenging position in international management team, durage, North America. Ref., 232

- Paris Cectes 1/1/C8.

INTERNATIONAL PHARMACEUTICALS

Our client, a major international pharmaceutical company having a leading role in the advancement of medical and health care services in developing countries, now requires o:

REGIONAL MARKETING MANAGER

LATIN AMERICA

This position offers full management responsibility for the activity in the region, it will be attractive to condidates who are seeking the entrepreneurial challenge of a new business venture, within one of the world's best known pharmaceutical companies. Good renumeration, pension scheme and benefit programs are provided.

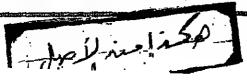

Qualifications and Experience:

- Several years line management experience in the marketing of ethical pharmaceuticals.
- especially antibiotics. ☐ Experience in the field, preferably in Latin America.
- ☐ English and Spanish necessary. German and ' or French language ability also desirable. ☐ Age 30-40, prepared to travel.
- Swiss nationality an advantage.

interested candidates for this excellent management opportunity should send full curriculum vitae, which will be handled in the strictest confidence, to the Consultants to the Company:

JOHN FEARN ASSOCIATES MANAGEMENT CONSULTING - EXECUTIVE SELECTION

P.O. BOX 255, 1009 LAUSANNE-FULLY, SWITZERLAND TEL: (021) 29 43 37

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE, THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1982

| The state of the Principal of the property of t

The Light of the Control of the Cont 17%+ 16 20%+ 16 20%+ 16 11%- 16 11%- 16 11%- 16 41%- 16 40%+ 18 40%+ 18 17%- 16 11%- 1 1.50 - 1.

40b Ind. 40 n 44b 125 n The world at your finger tips.

International Herald Tribune

ABU DHABI NATIONAL OIL COMPANY ANNOUNCES THE FOLLOWING VACANCIES:

51. N°	POSITION	LOCATION	BASIC FUNCTIONS	JOB REQUIREMENTS	St. N°	POSITION	LOCATION	BASIC FUNCTIONS	JOB REQUIREMENTS
7.	HEAD OF PRODUCTION ENGINEERING	Abu Dhabi City	Heads a Technical Support Group which assists the Site and Production Managers on all prob- lems related to the Production Policy or the fol- low-up and improvement of the whole field per- formances.	A degree in Petroleum or Chemical Engineering with 12 years Production experience in the off includry in functional and operational responsibilities and computational process engineering studies. The candidate should also have a good browledge of surface facilities and well completion equipment.	10.	SENIOR SUPERVISOR CELECTRICAL	Off-Shore (Fields)	Follows up the daily implementation of the Elec- trical Maintenance Program in the plant and the workshop and solves related technical, coordi- nation or personnel problems.	A degree in Electrical Engineering with 8 years experience, including 4 years in Operational Supervisory position involving both trouble- shooting and preventive maintenance responsi- bilities. Goal knowledge of high, medium and low voltage installations, gas turbines and stan- dard electrical safety regulations is also re- caired.
2.	PRODUCTION SUPERINTENDENT	Off-Share (Fields)	Supervise all Crude, Gas Process and Loading Operations on the Off-Shore Site and ensures a smooth, efficient and safe meeting for the out- put targets in the long run.	A degree in Patroleum or Chemical Engineering with 10 years production experience as a Petro-leum field (surface facilities) and/or a Petro-chemical Plant. Good knowledge of computerized process follow-up techniques is also required.	11.	SUPERVISOR INSTRUMENTS	Off-Shore (Fields)	in charge of the day-to-day instrument mainte- nance, in workshop or site, either on his own witiotive for ordinary jobs or upon instructions from the Senior Supervisor for major jobs, Pro- poses modifications on the Instrumentation Sys-	A degree in Electronics or Instrumentation with 4 years experience in the oil industry, prefera- bly in operational supervisory position in addi- tion to good knowledge of electronics and con- ventional instruments.
3.	ASSISTANT PRODUCTION SUPERINTENDENT	Off-Shore (Fields)	Supervises, directs and coordinates activities related to Production and Water Injection.	A degree in Patroleum Engineering or equiva- lent with 7 years Off Field Operating experi- ence, including 2 years in Senior Supervisory positions. Broad process and doverhole apera- tion experience and good knowledge of off- store operations and computatized process fol- low-up and data acquisition system is also re- quired.	12.	MAINTENANCE COORDINATION SUPERVISOR	Off-Shore (Fishis)	Plans and coordinates the maintenance activi- ties of all sections, taking sho account the vari- cus constraints, in view of obtaining mainte- nance activities on Site with parties autitate the maintenance group (i.e. with material, logistics	A 2-year post Secondary Technical Diploma with 8 years experience in maintenance activities including 3 years involvement in maintenance planning and control tasks.
4.	SENIOR ENGINEER (PRODUCTION-STUDIES)	Abu Dhabi Chy	Reviews periodically the production process and suggests any improvements. Obtains informa- tion from professional literature, Engineering Companies/Vendors so as to conduct freesibility studies for improvement of the process through success the interface of the production group, Engineering Companies/Vendors, Moin- tenance Specialists, Process Group and Produc-	A degree in Petroleum Engineering or similar discipline with 8 years experients in Project Engineering including site follow-po and foundative responsibility in oil and petrochemical industry.	13.	SENIOR TELECOMMUNICATION SITE ENGINEER	Off-Shore (Fields)	Supervises the activities of telecommunications section on Site which covers all types of telecommunication equipment such as Microwave, Telephone, Telex, Fac Simile, Mobile Radio and CCTY.	A degree in telecommunications or equivalent with 3 years field experience in the oil Industry, including maintenance and operation with at least 3 years in supervisory position.
5.	SENIOR SUPERVISOR ENVIRONMENT (SAFETY)	Abu Dhabi City	tion Programming Group. Assists head of safety in all his duties particularly with coordination, procedure and review of environment protection matters.	A degree in Engineering with 8 years experi- ence in administrative and technical supervisory position in Environment and Safety, in the oil industry.	14.	SENIOR SUPERVISOR FIELD	Off-Shore. (Fields)	Supervises all the Operations carried out on Well Head Platforms, mainly Well Servicing, Well Testing and control and safety devices maintennes. Maintains a high level of safe practices and good house-terping on all Well	A degree in Engineering with 8 years experi- ence in a patroleum field, mainly in down-hote operations, including 4 years of Supervisory level.
6.	SENIOR SUPERVISOR SAFETY	Off-Shore (Fields)	Helps Head of Safety and Site Manager to en- sure maximum safety on the off-share site. Plans Training Programs, specifies Safety Rules and Methods and checks Working Activities that are in compliance with safety regulations. Keeps regular maintenance of safety equipment.	A degree in Engineering with 8 years experi- ence in safety in the oil industry.	15.	GENERAL SERVICES SENIOR SUPERVISOR	Off-Share (Fields)	Head Plotforms within the field. Responsible for the safety of all Well. Head Plotforms. Supervises and directs, on site, the accomplish- ments of general maintenance contractors which	A 2-year past Secondary Technical Diploma with 8 years experience, including 4 years in
7.	SUPERINTENDENT MATERIAL PLANNING AND CONTROL	Abu Dhebi City	Supervises and directs engineering equipments, Technical impection and inventory control activ- lies. Participates in reviewing and approximg technical preparation of calls for tenders, tech- rical makes of technical preparation on the control and technical preparation on the control of technical and the control of th	A degree in Mechanical or Petroleum Engineering with 10 years experience in Contraction/Patroleum Industry, including 5 years in Petroleum activities (especially equipment engineering). Good knowledge of Inventory control	16.	MOORING AND	Off-Share	include all buildings, roads, corport strip and harbor, earthwork and embandments and irri- gation and plantations. Ensures that the pilating, mooring, loading and	site technical work and supervision and adminis- tration of contracts in the Civil Engineering and building construction. A Manters Ticket for Ocean Grains Vessels with
8.	SUPERINTENDENT MATERIAL	Off-Shore (Fields)	moterials and equipment in order 10 get the data processed by the computer. Plans, directs and controls the entire range of material activities of the OH-Store site for en-	system and moterials definition, closeffication, coding and use of computer is also required. A degree in tinginsering with 8 years experience in all equipment and material, including 4 years in Logistics Support of off-shore operations and a good knowledge of handling all	17.	LOADING MASTER FLOW TESTING VESSEL	(Fields)	unpooring of tankers around the tempinal are safely and efficiently conducted. Supervises Well Testing operations carried out	5 years of nevigorion on tonkers as First Made or Chief Officer, Pileting experience is desir- able. A 2-year post Secondary Technical Diploma
				sons of squipment, computerized siveritory con- trol system and warehoosing extileties.		SUPERVISOR	(Fields)	by the contractor with a flow testing vessel. Acts on board as company representative.	with 6 years experience of Well Testing opera- tions, mainly in Offishere, including 3 years in a Supervisory level.
	ENGINEERING LABORATORY AND FOLLOW-UP UNIT	Abu Dhabi City	Supervises a repair laboratory for a Predeter- mined Falled hem from the Talesystem and as- sociated instruments at any level. Improves, when necessary, repair proadures according to quality assurance required. Supports technically repair team and is responsible for all took and	A degree in Electrical or Electronic Engineering with 8 years experience in repoir Laboratory, Good involvedge of slectronics, electron ma- chanical experience and Supervisory and Ad- ministrative experience is essential.	18.	SENIOR SUPERVISOR INSTRUMENTS	Abu Dhabi	To take charge of the definition of overall main- tenance procedures and schedules and to arga- nize a maintenance cost control for the instru- ments on site. Supervises maintenance con- tracts, carries out mad projects and controls	A degree in Electronics or Instrumentation with 8 years experience in the oil industry, including 4 years in Operational Supervisory positions. Good practical inswiredge of telesystems and conventional instruments is size required.

Preference will be given to UAE nationals, then to other Arab candidates. Good knowledge of English and Arabic is required.

Interested candidates are invited to send their detailed applications together with photocopies of their education and experience certificates, within 3 weeks from the date hereof, to:

PERSONNEL DIRECTORATE - EMPLOYMENT DIVISION

ABU DHABI NATIONAL OIL COMPANY (ADNOC)

P.O. BOX 898 - ABU DHABI - U.A.E.

You're through lying in

THAT THING ALL DAY

WATCHING TV AND EATING

JUNK FOOD! AND YOU'RE

GONNA START EXERCISING!

AM I

BEAT IT, OTTO!

I DON'T WANT

YOU AROUND

HERE BEGGING

FOR COOKIES

I KNOW IT'S SHORT NOTICE, PERCY, BUT COULD YOU ACT AS REFEREE?

WHERE IS YOUR

DIET FOOD?

ERRUPTING

HOW LONG YOU

BEEN ENGAGED!

SIR

BEETLE'S GOT IT

ALL WRONG ... I

DON'T BEG

SHADDUP

SURE BE WITH YOU IN A MINUTE. IN THE MEANTIME, DO YOU MIND GETTING

THAT NEW

BUT WHAT ABOUT MY

TO USE IT ?

12 YEARS

SNATCH

WALKER -

THAT'S OKAY.

PERCY, I KNOW OW IT IS

SORRY ANDY, BUT-

THAT'S ALL

YOU HAVE?

BEANBAG? WHO'S GOING

NOT TO WORRY.

SOUNDS LIKE YOU'RE

BOTH FOOLING AROUND.

COME BACK WHEN

IAM

DEMAND

0

GIVE SOME BLOKES A BIT OF AUTHORITY AN IT GOES TO THEIR TEADS

TRYING

TOCUT

DOWN

IT'S NOW TIME FOR ME TO SHOW MY RIGHTEOUS IN-

GROSSLY UNETHICAL BEHAVIOR AND ANY-THING ELSE WE CAN CONJURE UP!

DIGNATION -AND INSIST THAT MORGAN BE SUED FOR

HELL, SO DO I.

I WERE THE ON-

LY SURVIVORS.

COMPLIMENT

RECEIVED

ON THIS END, SIR.

Reviewed by Ross Terrill

LIOW does Orwell know that Russia is so had? the English historian R.H. Tawney used to ask a close friend. That George Orwell knew hitle of the Soviet Union didn't stop him from judging it, and being right about it. On China too, generations of Westerners have pronounced judgment in the abstract (favorably in the Europe of Voltaire's day, unfavorably in the United States of the 1950s). Fear, hope, the balance of power, the temperament of the observer, all can affeet judgments of a society as determined to keep itself mysterious as China is. Since the 1960s, when the China is, Since the 1900s, when the United States became a base for modern Sinological study, the pendulum of academic judgment of Chuoa has not swung very widely, but journalists, busioessmen and politicians have sharply changed their minds on the question of whether Communist China is benign or still is there no way to na is benign or evil. Is there no way to demythologize our response to China? Time magazine's correspondent in Peking, Richard Bernstein, who was a graduate student at Harvard when East Asian studies there were buoyant, has written a book that helps. A very personal book, it is a wry, acerbic masterfully conceived account of China in the early 1980s. Bernstein does not rush us through a menu of predictable topics; rather, he acts as a literate, opinionated leader of a walk-ing tour, now recalling history, now handing out digested portions of his experiences in China, never piling up facts just because he knows them, always keeping a theme before us—and always in quest of the reasons why China is so bad. He had decided before he took up residence in Peking that Chinese Communism was a "tragic failure." but it was living there that really appalled him. Everything in China disappoints Bernstein — as perhaps some things at Harvard and Time do too - though be had not been so dismayed in 1972 when he made his first trip to China and wrote a series of laudatory pieces for The Washing-ton Post, Now, the oorth of China is "forbidding" and the south is "fever infested": the vegetables are "rotten" and the women are "sexless"; the hotels are "gloomy" and the handsome Red Flag sedans turn out to be "obscene brontosauruses of the road." This does oot mean that Bernstein often gets things wrong. Although he is too rosy about pre-Communist China, and one wonders if his view of Chinese culture as a "desert" would be less harsh if the winters were less cold and the women less sexiess, the book is a well-informed judiciously impassioned report on oppressiveness in China.

Dispirited Boredom

Bernstein finds China wrestling with issues that are 100 years old — mainly how to heave a big, old, proud civilization onto the path of modernity; the only clear-cut progress he sees is in the realm of China's unity and stature as a nation. The government terms struggle and marching to prosperity. but the people seem sunk in dispirited boredom; their twin concerns are to get enough, in the face of maddening scarcities, and to get along, in the face of a bureaucracy obsessed with the procedures of control. Bernstein hopes China can move into the world of modern Asia, but be seems to doubt that it will, given its population of more man one billion and Manist hostility toward the creative spirit. Bernstein is excellent on food mar-kets, which he bung around like a bungry dog in order to find out exact-clear-cut judgments than Sioologists ly what the Chinese eat at home, and on architecture as a badge of Commu-nism's failure ("I have oot seen a single building in China constructed since 1949 that is distinguished"). He has chilling stories about the lengths to which Peking goes to keep Chinese and foreigners from unsupervised encounters with each other, and to keep information, which is as precious as shark's fin. to be nibbled gratefully and oot taken for granted, from bungry foreign journalists.

leans heavily on the official press, makes this clear in his excellent rather than finding things out for himbook. I for one am by no means unself, because he is unsophisticated to

Solution to Previous Puzzle OTHO ALARON RHOS.
BROOKLYNNOOCGERS.
BER JILES WAITTER
KNAAR ALLIVE
SIRLED TRIBEME
OSIER CAGEY PRO.
MACE FANOS LEAR
BAH CAOET CASTE
CAYALRY PHOTOS.
ROUSE ALAS
NOOLICE TSAR ETA

el power struggie has been detailed for years by Smologists, as in the pages of China Quarterly or in Edward Rice's "Mao's Way." That those correctly in power should reinforce this message should not surprise or impress us; I prefer Deng Xiaoping's policies to those of the ultraleftists of the Cultural Revolution, but I no more believe what he says about them than what what he says about them tags what they, when in power, said about him. "China itself" now "admits" to its evils of the '60s. Bernstein keeps saying to bustress his points about how had things are. But in the 1960s, when I first went there. "China need" used weighing what is said today shout

how horrible yesterday was. That the Cultural Revolution was a costly, cro-

to "admit" to evils of the 50s, even to evils that did not exist. (For instance, the "crimes" of Liu Shaoqi, purged by Mao, and now a font of truth once more.) To believe the Communist power holders of today when they talk about the "fascism of the 1960s" would be like believing a burglar when he, on being confronted in the lobby, tells you he only stole one of your silver locks and not the entire dozen. Bernstein finds it hard, as have others before him, not to be unduly influenced by currenct Chinese politi-cal and cultural self-images. Even as the Chinese disappoint us, they man-age to manipulate our view of China.

Bernstein tells us that "commecient mechanisms of control" seek to keep the one billion orchestrated into one gigantic, never-ending ballet of order and brightness, while the "dependable phrase makers of the propaganda bu-resus" describe the alleged result. Fortunately the buman reality is more ragged, less terrifying, more humorous, less hopeless than the guardants intent; otherwise Bernstein would not have found the people and stories that give wit and poignancy to his book. But I think Bernstein is correct to look beyond the ultraleftists, beyond the Gang of Four, to the Communist system itself as the source of Chana's ailments. Although Mao is in a crystal coffin, and his widow in a concrete cell, China "remains a society where the imperative to control, and the concomitant inclination of the individual to play it safe, interferes with any theoretical respect for the rights of the individual to be bold or to be different." A very personal rejection of China's social conservatism has at the heart of the book. Bernstein cannot abide the prudery, timidity, hypocrisy and con-formism of new China; and his voice is persuasive in part because be is of a generation of foreign correspondents that by no means gives the benefit of every doubt to our own Western values.

At times Bernstein seems as disappointed in the people as in the government; his aesthetic distaste for Chrnose cultural ways (people elbowed him on buses) often matches his political distaste for Chinese Communism. He finds the wretched petitioners from the countryside ignorant of the root of their miseries, and the stu-dents at Democracy Wall imbued with some of the same authoritarian values as their rulers. Are the Chinese people only as good as their government? Now that everyone has discovered China, and Peking and Washington are dealing with each other in a businesslike way, we need the steadying influence of most modern Sinological scholarship, which treats China neiclear-cut judgments than Sicologists are accustomed to making. Orwell, without detailed knowledge, was correct about Russia; the evidence tric-kled in later. On China the evidence trickled in for years, but the judgments lagged. I myself would not say the Chinese revolution has been a failure, yet by the standard of how most people, Western or Eastern, seem to want to live. China today is pretty bad. Bernstein, who has lived there, as the scholars have not been able to do, and Bernstein is least reliable when be who has also learned from the scholbook. I for one am by no means un-comfortable with his implicit conclusion that the West, with all its faults, is superior, not only materially but morally and culturally, to China, with all its fascinations. But I'm a Western-er; perhaps the Chinese will reply to Bernstein and will also give us. instead of the propaganda about the United States in their official press. an account of purseives as interesting and well informed as Richard Bernstein's account of them.

> Ross Terrill, awhor of "R.H. Tawney and his Times," "Moo," "Flowers on an Iron Tree," "$00,000,000" and "The Future of China." is at work on the story of Jiang Qing, Mao's widow, He wrote this review for The New York

BRIDGE

By Alan Truscott

R EACHING a slam with 24 high-card points is oot easy after the opponents have opened the bidding. but North-South managed it on the diagramed deal.

North's two no-trump overcall showed minor-suit length, and be then indicated considerable extra strength with a cue-bid. This encouraged South to jump to five clubs, and North continued to slam. Since the trumps broke evenly, de-clarer had little trouble. He ruffed the opening lead of the beart ace, ruffed a diamond and led to the club ace. He ruffed a diamond, ruffed a heart, and ruffed another diamond with his last

ишр. He then ruffed a heart, removing West's king, and cashed the club king. When the trumps divided, he had the rest of the tricks. If East or West had had three trumps, he would still have made 12 tricks by discarding dummy's spade loser on a winning heart. NORTH 488 ७--CAQJ95 ♣AK95Z WEST EAST (D) ◆Q7632 ♥ 10854 ◆ 168762

₽QJ SOUTH ◆K 105 ♥QJ9732

#8753 East and

bidding: West North 2N.T. Pass 34 54 Pass Pass Pass Pass Pass Pass

West led the heart ace.

CROSSWORD

ACROSS 1 Vino center Homo'

13 Looking like Cassius 14 Macaw 15 Duplicate event 16 Talk-show name 17 Sunlike bodies 19 Start of a saying made famous by 5 21 Haunts 23 Magic Johnson 29 ice breaker of 33 --- about 34 Čity of Spain night 37 Lacin man 38 Kind of maid 39 Compass pt. 40 Greek letter 41 Type of house 42 Arouse

ISCTC VSS

43 "Inferno"

46 Collars or jackets 47 Barry

e.g. 49 Tra trallers 51 End of saying at 19 Across 58 Do a zoning job

59 Quechuan 60 Sevareid 61 A Papuan people 62 Thor's sire 64 British gun 85 Predecessor of

DOWN 1 Something for the poor 2 Exude 3 Weight allowance 4 Hannibal was 5 Sometime signature of "Bull Moose" 6 Third-quarter antecedent 7 Part of Q.E.D.

9 Will subject 10 The Campbelis, e.g. 11 Joker 12 Rad -

14 Y, e.g. 18 Seltzer bottle 20 Prefix for plop 23 " Tis better to

N

U

0

N

Ð

 \mathbf{B}

E

E

T

L

E

A

L

E

N

 \mathbf{D}

Y

A

P

Z

 \mathbf{A}

 \mathbf{R}

0

N

E

S B U

5

OH, NO, YOU DON'T! STAY

away from that beanbag

I THINK MY FIANCE IS

FOOLING AROUND

BUMSTEAD I WANT YOU

TO WORK ON THIS

Colby 25 Allah's revelations 27 Yugoslav seaport 28 Party of 5

Down 30 Musical direction 31 V. I. Ulyanov 34 Biographer Winslow 35 Dancer's move

38 Breaks B Commandment 42 Pennsylvania, for one 44 Twice plus once 46 Chi trains

50 Ten-pci. 51 Word with cloth 52 Mine entrance

(stagnating) 54 trascibility 55 --- Europe an 56 A fifth of MXX 57 Welles role

WEATHER

C F 24 75 23 73 21 71 26 21 72 20 66 21 73 30 84 21 75 24 75 24 75 C F
14 67 Cloudy
15 59 Overcost
25 77 showers
14 57 Cloudy
17 81 Cloudy
19 66 Foody
11 52 Cloudy
12 54 Overcost
15 59 Showers
14 57 Cloudy
24 75 Cloudy
25 77 Foir
15 69 Fair ALGARVE LOS ANGELES ALGIERS AMSTERDAM MADRIO MANILA ANKARA ATHENS MEXICO CITY MIAMI MILAN MONTREAL MOSCOW MUNICH NAIROBI LUCKLAND BANGKOK BEIRUT BELGRADE 14 57 Overcost
14 57 Cloudy
15 54 Feir
15 54 Feir
16 61 Cloudy
20 68 Feir
19 64 Cloudy
20 68 Feir
19 64 Covercost
17 63 Feir
10 50 Feir
10 50 Overcost
16 61 Overcost
16 61 Overcost
17 62 Feir
18 57 Feir
25 77 Rein
25 77 Feir
25 77 Feir
25 77 Feir
25 77 Rein
26 Feir
27 Cloudy
28 Feir
28 78 Feir
29 78 Feir
29 78 Feir
20 79 Feir
21 79 Cloudy
22 79 Cloudy
23 70 Cloudy
24 70 Cloudy
25 77 Rein
26 77 Rein
27 78 Rein
28 79 Feir
29 79 Cloudy
20 70 Cloudy
20 70 Cloudy
21 52 Rein BERLIN HEW DELKI BUDAPEST BUENOS AIRES CAIRO
CAPE TOWN CASABLANCA
CHICAGO
COPENHAGEN 9 48 Fossy 19 46 Overce 17 63 Cloudy 14 57 Fossy 20 ell Fossy 19 46 Cloudy 19 46 Cloudy 21 70 Rain 18 44 Foir 17 63 Rain 18 64 Foir 17 63 Rain 18 64 Foir 17 63 Rain 18 65 Foir 19 65 Rain 10 55 Foir 14 57 Overce REYKJAYIK RIO DE JANEIRO COSTA DEL SOL ROME SAO PAULO SEDUL SHANGHAI SINGAPORE STOCKHOLM DUBLIN FRANKFURT FRANKFURT GENEVA HARARE HELSINKI HONG KONG HOUSTON JERUSALEM LAS PALMAS LIMA LISBON LONDON SYDNEY TAIPE(TELAVIV TORYO TURIS VENICE VIENHA WARSAW Readings from the previous 24 hours.

> ADVERTISEMENT INTERNATIONAL FUNDS June 23, 1982

UNION INVESTMENT Frankfurt Other Funds $11.37 $10.24 $1.37.49 $1.14.28 $1.201.76 $2.7.25 $1.201.76 $2.7.25 $1.201.76 $2.2.24 $12.201.76 $2.2.24 $12.201.76 $2.2.24 $12.201.76 $2.2.24 $12.201.76 DIT INVESTMENT FFM | FIDELITY PD Box 579, Homilton, Bermado | (m) American Values Common | 18.38 | 18.39 | (w) Fridelity Amer. Assets | 53.54 | (d) Fidelity Amer. Assets | 53.54 | (d) Fidelity Amer. Assets | 53.54 | (d) Fidelity Por East Fd | 52.31 | (d) Fidelity Fd East Fd | 52.31 | (d) Fidelity Fd East Fd | 52.31 | (d) Fidelity Fd East Fd | 53.35 | (d) Fidelity Fd East Fd | 53.35 | (d) Fidelity Variety Fund | 51.91 | (w) Fidelity Pagin F Fund | 51.93 | (w) Fidelity Pagin F Fund | 51.93 | (w) Fidelity Pagin F Fund | 51.94 | (w) Fidelity Pagin F Fund | (w) Fidelity Pagin G.T. MANAGEMENT (UK) LTD
— (wi Berry Poc Fd. Ltd.
— (wi G.T. Asia Fund.
— (wi G.T. Band Fund.
— (wi G.T. Dollar Fund.
— (d i G.T. Dollar Fund.
— (d i G.T. Investment Fund.
— (d i G.T. Investment Fund.
— (d i G.T. Technology Fund. $ 5.57 HKS 18.30 $ 10.29 $ 10.98 14.20 $14.47 $ 19.65 INTERNATIONAL INCOME FUND 28-34 Hill St. St. Heiler, Jarsey -- (d) Short Term 'A' (Accum) ... -- (d) Short Term 'B' (Accum) ... -- (d) Short Term 'B' (Accum) ... -- (d) Short Term 'B' (Olstri | Prantes Shipping S.A. |
| Putnam Intern't Fund, |
| Putnam Intern't Fund, |
| Putnam Intern't Fund, |
| Quantum Fund N.V. |
| Rani Press |
| Softe Trust Fund |
| Softe St. American |
| Shocker B. |
| Takva Poc. Hold N.V. |
| Transpacific Fund |
| United Cap Int. Fund |
| United Cap Int. Fund |
| United Softe Overses |
| Winchester Overses |
| Wortdwide Securities |
| Wortdwide Securities |
| Wortdwide Securities | — id) Certera internati — (wi OBLI-DM — (wi OBLIGESTION... — (w) OBLI-DOLLAR... ROTHSCHILD ASSET MGTM (CI):

— Ir) D.C. Dir Commodity Tr $ 27.09 Withdrawan Section 1. SWISS BANK CORP

ID I'LL DROP YOU OFF HERE AT THE APARTMENT. WHERE ARE YOU GOING E M 0 ${f R}$ N AND WHILE I I MIGHT BE HONEY. IT WASN'T HIS 0 FAULT, THOUGH

QUELL THE MUTTHY, THE CHART WAS WE HIT THIS DAMN NEARLY THREE

Unscramble these four Jumbles

one letter to each square, to form

lour ordinary words.

COPAH

AJURAG

DUCINE

Print answer here:

THE CHART WAS

be nuts

Jumbles: BORAX CAKED ABOUCT BUCKET

Imp par l'Imprimerie de l'Evangile, rue de l'Évangile, 75018 Paris

Answer: What gardening that begins at daybreak often ends up with—"BACKBREAK"

SER ON THE RUSTY

NAIL! NOW I'M MR

DUKES GAL

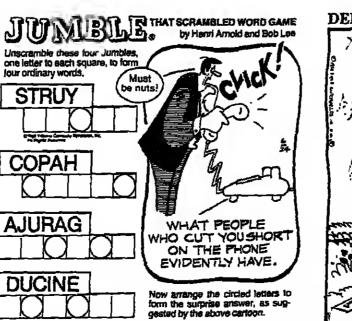

FRIDAY.

.57

BE, YOUNG

 $oxed{L}$ Just can't seem to get waited on . $^\circ$

DENNIS THE MENACE

MINNIM

tha

SPORTS

Rose Passes Aaron With Hit No. 3,772

ST. LOUIS - Pete Rose of the Philadelphia Phillies moved past Henry Aaron mto second place on the all-time major league hit list here Tuesday night against the St. Logis Cardinals.

The 41-year-old Rose lined a rookie John Stuper for the 3.772d bit of his 20-year career. Rose now trails only Ty Cobb, who had

The Cardinals won the game, 3-when reliever Ed Farmer walked Mike Ramsey with the bases load-ed in the eighth inning. The double extended Rose's current hitting streak to 14 games; he has hit safely in 17 of his last 18.

Playing in game No. 3,002 of his career, Rose is only the fifth player

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

in baseball history to play in 3,000 or more games. Tuesday's was his 525th consecutive game, "I'm in the history books, even in two runs, including an insurance

run in a three-run seventh, to lift

Dodgers 4, Braves 1

In Atlanta, Steve Garvey and

Dusty Baker each hit bases-empty home runs and three pitchers com-

Astros 2, Glants 0

In Houston, Vern Ruhle pitched a three-hitter, retiring 23 consecutive batters during one stretch, as the Astros blanked San Francisco,

Pirates 9, Cabs 2

Red Sox 5, Tigers 4

Major League

Standings

-575

810 206 010-5 14 1 111 000 21s-4 12 1

Chicago 111 809 21x—6 12 11 Vivia, Pocalia (31, Feiton (7) and Laudner; Trast. Excervage (7), Kopumen (7), Solomon (8) and Fisk, W—Galemon, 1-0. L—Feiton, 6-7, HR2—Minstede, Laudner (1); Chicago, Leffors (4). Texas 200 800 900—4 9 0 Colffornia 200 800 900—6 7 1 Hansycott and Sundbarra; Klaon, Goffz (21, Carbett (8) and Fersuson. W—Honeyout. 3-7. —Klaon, 4-2.

BASESALL

comp over Chicago.

Montreal New York Philadelph Philadelph Philadelph Chicope 1

Setton Milwayla Detroit Boittman Cleveland New York Toronto

Section Mark Library

OR IT EVERY DAY

AMPLESE AON CO

. (g.

e-1 . 474

the Reds past San Diego, 7-5.

Indians 8. Orioles 6 if it's in a dubious way," comment-ed Stuper. "That's OK — it's an In Cleveland, rookie Von Hayes began a six-run fifth with a triple and climaxed it with a two-run sinhonor just to be on the same field gle as the Indians defeated Balti-Reds 7, Padres 5 In Cincinnati, Mike Vail drove Mariners 6, Blue Jays 5

Rangers 4, Angels 0

Royals 2, A's 1

seventh loss in eight sames, 2-1.

In Seattle, Julio Cruz stole third base and scored the winning run on a throwing error by catcher Buck Martinez in the seventh in-ning, giving Seattle a 6-5 triumph over Toronto.

Brewers 3, Yankees 2

bined on a three-hitter to lead Los In Milwaukee, Pete Vuckovich Angeles over the Braves, 4-1. and Rollie Fingers stopped New York on a four-hitter and Marshall ... Expos 4, Mets 3 In New York, Warren Cromar-tie's two-run first-inning single and Al Oliver's ninth homer of the year Edwards drove in the tie-breaking run in the second as the Brewers triumphed, 3-2. The victory was Milwankee's seventh in a row. in the third propelled Montreal to a 4-3 victory over the Mets.

Pete Rose, banging out the double that leaves him second only to Ty Cobb in lifetime hits.

Grand Design: At Play in the Fields of the Lord

By Jim Murray Los Angeles Times Service

LOS ANGELES - One day, God got bored and decided he would make a ballplayer. "I'm fed up with politicians and prime ministers and generals and rock stars," he said, and summoned his angels "How about," said one, "we build this guy with a pot belly and

In other men's matches, 15th-

seeded Buster Mottram of Britain defeated Swede Anders Jarryd, 6-to devise the perfect antidote.

McEnroe, Struggling, Winner at Wimbledon

In Pittsburgh, pitcher John Candelaria, Dave Parker and Jim Mor-WIMBLEDON, England rison drove in two runs apiece and John McEnroe overcame erratic strokes and erratic behavior to Johany Ray had three hits and scored twice in the Pirates' 9-2 post a 6-3, 6-3, 7-5 victory over Edlie Edwards of South Africa Wednesday and advance to the third round of the Wimbledon ten-In the American League, in Bosnis championships,

Umpire George Armstrong is-sued the first warning of the tour-nament against McEnroe "for abuse of ball" in the third game of the final set when the defending champion, upset because he missed an easy volley, smashed the ball into the oct.

The brief exchange that folcarried on with officials during the match, in addition to berating himself for poor shots. Despite serving 13 aces. McEnroe double-faulted eight times. But Edwards presented McEnroe with only a handful of match behind her. problems and never seriously threatened.

Both men held third-set service to 4-5, McEnroe had three match points, but Edwards toughened, putting away one volley, getting an unforced error on the next and pulling into deuce after a lively exchange of volleys at the net.

But McEnroe held service and went up, 40-15, in the 12th game. Edwards fought off one match point with an ace, but lost the match when he hit a forehand ions.

McEnroe easily woo his first match, Monday, over compatriot Van Winitsky. Compared with his play then, he was dissatisfied with his performance Wednesday.

My rhythm was way off, especially on my serve. That's been my

"The only thing I was happy about [against Edwards] was that at least I won the big points when I had to. But hitting the ball well one day and badly the next is not the way to win tournaments.

cials, he said: "I'm backing off because I don't want to go through what happened last year again. I want to enjoy my tennis at some point, and I hope as time goes on it

Alex's Slagies
First Rosed
Lloyd Bourne, U.S. del. Ille Naskase, Romania.
61, 6-3, 3-4, 6-4; Buster Mathrans. Britain, del.
Andrew Jarryd, Sweden. 6-7, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2;
Stantstov Birner, Crechestovakia, def. Rond
Evett, U.S., 6-4, 6-4, 6-5-2; Francisco Gonzales.
U.S., del. Sooth McColin. U.S., 6-1, 2-6, 7-7, 6-1; Mark, Edmonson, Austrolto del, Martin Davis.
U.S., 7-4, 7-5, 7-4.
Nauka Odizor, Niperio, del. Jone Laboz-Massa.

Weenen's Singles
First Recod
Paulo Smith, U.S., del. Shelley Wotcole,
British. 64.6-2. Alytic Mostrian, U.S., del. Helens
Suitevia. Czechoslovokio, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4; Condy
Raymolds. U.S., def. Renee Saturb. U.S., 7-4, 6-3; Zino Goriston, U.S., def. Lalon Thomson, U.S., 6-6, 6-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 6-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 6-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., def. Sondy Collins, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Kim Jones, U.S., 6-6, 8-2; Ki 6,6-2; Rimi Jones, U.S., def. Circobeth Jones, 4-43; Beth Norian, U.S., def. Circobeth Jones, Britain, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4; Leatle Alten, U.S., def. Contertos Touvier, Francos, 6-4, 4-6, 8-4; Parm Crasole, U.S., def. Koffin' Horvetin, U.S., 6-4, 6-1; Jonane Russell, U.S., def. Susan Moscorin, U.S.

Wester Watte, U.S. def. Brende Remitten, Australia, 4-4; Anne White, U.S. def. Berly Remitten, Australia, 6-3, 6-1; Tonya Haribrit, South Africa, def. Les Antonopits, U.S., 6-2, 6-4; pipe-stem legs and a big, wide nose Max Carey for the National record) in 1984. You've got to have and he hits tremendous bome runs

"f got it!" said the planning committee's newest angel. "How about this guy, he's always 9 years old, see? He has these little-boy black eyes and gap teeth and he goes around like the circus just runs everywhere. He even runs out bases on balls. "I'm just needling now, but how about if we have him break every hitting record, even Ty Cobb's and Stan Musial's? "I like it," cried the Lord, "A when someone comes up to him and says how many hits are you ahead of Stan the Man, he doesn't paw the ground and pretend not to know. 'Eleven,' he says. Twelve, if the official scorer doesn't see that he cats it. His secret is, he's the oldest little boy in the big leagues. He's the only 41-year-old in the country who wants a first-base-sign details. Tell him we want something between Huckleberry Finn and a guy who jumps frogs.

Check With Mark

try needs. Get 'em back to apple nie and homemade fudge - boy, do I love homemade fudge. Listen: Tell 'em to hold back on the poets and painters for awhile. This is top priority. By the way, what are you going to call this creation?"

nice," said die angel.
And that's how Peter Edward Rose came into being and why he's the way he is.

and there's joy in Mndville. Life is a three-bagger down the a ballroom the morning after the dance. Mickey Mouse with the flu. Someday, you'll close your eyes and you'll remember the head-first. slides, the dirty uniform, the Prince Valiant baircut that made the face look like something you should buy a lollipop for.

Lord is going to call in his mark-ers. Rose can't stay in life's kindergarten forever. I went out to Dodger Stadium one night not long ago to check for telltale signs of mortality. Maybe Rose would show up late. Maybe he'd be grumpy. Maybe he'd be sneaking a pair of glasses on to read his mail. Maybe he'd look 41. Everyone

Rose got to the ballpark at 3:30 for a 7:30 game. He would still rather be in a ballpark then anywhere else in the world. It was Rose, all right — bubbling over, the hard body that has oever betrayed him.

As usual, Rose had an opinion on everything. Oh, oot the Falk-land Islands — they're not in the league, oot even in baseball. But he about anything between the white

Onick Reminder

prize the most, came a query. would say it was games played," be said with oo besitation. oever read about that. I set the record for consecutive years - six in a row -for 600 or more at-bats. You gotta be durable in this game average 198 hits a year and in my

Against the Dodgers that evening, Rose had the ninth five-hit game of his career. That, Rose was quick to remind you, tied him with League record and put him only five behind Cobb. things to posh you." Monday in St. Louis, Rose got his 3,771st career hit, a sixth-innning single that tied him with Henry Aaron for second place on the major leagues' all-time list. Did he ever know it. "I'm oot one who is aware of all the records," he deadpanned, "but I do like to keep up on certain things.

And Tuesday night, Rose don-bled to knock Aaron out of his share of second. The only man remaining to be overtaken is Ty Cobb, who had 4,191 hits. Rose figures hit No. 4,000 will come at some point next year, "That will keep me driving in 1983, and then when I surpass that I'll drive for the other one [Cobb's

Had he dreamed of challenging Cobb's records when he was a

The Argentines narrowly missed series of excellent chances, and rookie back in 1963? "Heck, oo. 1 just dreamed of making the big leagues. That's all I ever wanted to be — a big league baliplayer. That's all I want to be now." Conclusion: God is a baseball tan. Probably has his Phillie hat on and yells, "That's my boy!" as Rose breaks records. Maybe, like the rest of us, he feels as if he's chasing Cobb's record, too.

Maybe he sometimes looks wist-fully at all the fun his boy is hav-ing and all the good he's doing, and then looks at the problem he's having with his other creations and sighs, pointing to Rose, "There, but for the grace of God, go I."

10 minutes from the eod of the ALICANTE Spain - Defeud-Brazil already had qualified for the second round of the 24-team tournament and New Zealand had ing champion Argentina advanced easily to the second phase of the World Cup by eliminating El Sal-vador, 2-0, here Wednesday in the tournament's final Group 3 match, been eliminated. But the Brazilians fielded a full-strength lineup and while in Seville, Zico scored two easily recorded their third straight victory.

Zico, whom many call "the new
He opened the goals as Brazil, the favorite, trounced New Zealand 4-0 in a Pele," was superb. He opened the scoring with a 29th-minute hooked Earlier, in Vigo, Italy scrambled volley and made it 2-0 three minutes later with a sharp shot from 12 meters out. Both goals were cre-WORLD CUP SOCCER to a 1-1 draw with Cameroon and advanced despite having failed to ated by fullback Leandro.

Roberto Falcao scored the third goal in the 54th minute, running at the New Zealand defense before Captain Daniel Passarella nettslipping the ball past goalkeeper Frank van Hattum. Serginho nett-ed from close range in the 69th minute, after Zico had created the The Argentines, who dominated, chance with a mezmerizing run.

New Zealand, playing in the cup finals for the first time, suffered its third straight defeat but played with pluckily, unhesitatingly running at the Brazilian defense when the opportunity was there.

Cameroon, which like Italy tied in all three of its matches, was eliminated on the basis of goals scored. It was Cameroon's first appearance in the cup finals.

Francesco Graziani's 61st minute header, off a Paolo Rossi pass, gave Italy a 1-0 lead as goalkeeper Thomas N'kono stumbled slightly in reacting to Graziani's place

But a minute later, with the Italian defense napping. Ibrahim Aoudou and Gregoire M'bida seized on a long ball in the Italian area and M'bida neatly flicked the equalizer past advancing goalie

Dino Zoff. The goals were the only relief in the sort of grim defensive struggle that had been the hallmark of Group 1.
"We played a clever game," said

Italian Manager Enzo Bearzot.
"We were expecting Cameroon to come out and attack, giving us the gaps to move in, Instead they played their usual game.

They erected a barrier in midfield, hoping we would clash into it and get tired so they could counterattack. We did not fall for the

"We did well. We created more scoring opportunities than Peru and Poland against Cameroon. We should have led 3-0 at halftime, and we missed other good shots in the second half. I feel we clearly deserved (o win.)

Unswamped

Cameroon's French manager, Jean Vincent, said his team had lost its chance to qualify oot Wednesday but in the second half against Poland last weekend. "Itacould have easily woo [Wednesday] — they had three good chanc-es and they had more experience than us," he said. "The Italians played their usual defensive

Vincent, whose contract with Cameroon expires oext month, de-nied he had thrown away a chance of qualifying by insisting on defen-sive play. "Even if we only got one goal, we did not get swamped as Peru did," he said in reference to Poland's 5-1 win over the South Americans Tuesday.

Italy's second-round matches in Barcelona will be against Brazil and Argentioa. Berzot said his team would not play the role of "a Cinderella." "Brazil and Argentina are favored, hut we are not offering ourselves to a holocaust. We will play the same as we have done so far We will go to barcelona and do our best."

Wednesday night's stadium in Alicante, with its largely pro-Ar-gentine crowd, was a kaleidescope of flags and banners bearing anti-British and anti-U.S. slogans. The messeges included "Yankees out of South America," and "The Malvinas are Argentine." But it hasn't been that way in all venues of the 1982 tournament. In Malaga Tuesday night, shortly after a 2-2 tie with the Soviet Uoion denied Scotland a secondround spot for the fifth time in five World Cups, a lone Scot stood in the oearly deserted La Rosaleda Stadium and played a lingering lament on his the pipes.

And as the Scottish fans walked back to their hotels and appart-ments, thousands of Spaniards lined the streets and applauded.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

AUTOS TAX FREE SERVICES

TRANSCO SHIPSIDE TAX FREE CARS

European and worldwide delivery Insurance - Shippenn PREE MULTICOLDE CATOLOG

S-RPSIDE BUILDING POS 7568, Amsterdam Airport - C Holland, Tel: (20) 152833 - Telex 12568

WRIGHT BROTHERS MONTE-CARLO
Tid: (93) 50 64 BA
Tidin: 449475 MC
SILVE SPRET - SILVE SPUR SHADOW B - CORNICHE
CAMARGIE - PHANTOM VI
ALSO Mo 7
FOR SERVICE IN BRIOFE

EXCLUSIVE TAX FREE CARS For immediate delivery MERCEDES, NAMES ROVERS ROUS ROYCE Tel: [01] 471 8845. The 8813663 SYMBOL INT, GROUP

66-70 Fork Lone Landon, England

ESCORT SERVICE

. ESCORTS NY &

EVERYWHERE

America-Transworld

212-591-2934

212-461-6091

212-961-1945

Telephone write POB 174, Fresh Meadows, NY 11365, USA

English Excert Agency, (21)1/383141 HAMBURG ESCORT SERVICE T 040/410-5238 or 410-3906

DUESSELDORF/Cologne/Rone

YOU ARE--OR GO

Paris 562 05 87. PARES - YOUNG LADY P.R. Excellent opportunes, multilinguel, 553 52 52. YOUNG ENTERPRETER & travel core-portion, Paris. Tel: 633 68 09. ESCORTS & GUIDES

SERVICES

 CONTACTA INTERNATIONAL e Escart Service in Europe DONNA EVITA ESCORT AGENCY 06103-8612 Frankfurt - Wiesbrann Cologne - Bern - Deen Eseas - Berlie - Hombe Statigart - Metalch AMSTERDAM

WITZERLAND: 0049-6103-86122 Zurich - Benef - Lucerne - Berne -Lucerne - Geneve. TALY: 0049-6103-86122 Reme-Milan CAPRICE 0049-6103-86122

NGLAND: London 01-628 796 OTHER ESC CAPITALS
Tel: Germany 0-6(03-86122

INTERNATIONAL

AND PROMOTIONS
N.Y. - U.S.A.
Travel crywhere with mathematic secure.
Major Credit Cards Accepted. ESCORT SERVICE TEL. 233143. CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED 212-765-7896 Excert Service 212-765-7754 330 W.56th St., N.T., N.T. 10079
This service has been featured in U.S.A. & International medic including radio & T.V.

CLUB 33 ESCORT SERVICE LONDON 286 6528

LONDON OXFORD ST ESCORT SERVICE Tel: 01 582 2408 WEST END & HEATHROW

PRANKFURT - WIESBADEN - MARKE Dietro Eccut Service. Tel: 06190-4680 FRANKFURT - KAREIN Escort Service Tel: 0611-681662 Tel: 05T1-051662.

FRANKFURT ESCORT SERVICE mean Frankfurt einpert 1el: 05171-73908.

ZLERCH-SAMONE ESCORT Service. Tel: 241 63 76

GENEVA JADE DOMBNA ESCORT Service. Tel: 022/31 95 09

DUSSEDONE-ESCORT & TRAVEL Service. Tel: 02311-672505

(Continued From Back Page)

MEINGLIAL BUSINESS & traveling to sistors, Paris 500 58 17 PARIS YOUNG INTERPRETER lody.

LOW COST FLIGHTS PARES - NEW YORK: F1 200. (Under partoin conditions.) NEW YORK - LOS ANGELES: $129. Contact your Poris U.S. Agent. Tel: 225 92 90 Poris.

EJROPORT TAX FREE CARS All makes. Call for free catalog. Box 12011, Rottendom Airport, Holland Tel: 010-623077. The 25071 EPCAR NL

LEGAL SERVICES US TAX, VISA & HANGGRATION specialists. Tex returns prepared. Consultants USA, 97 Fbg St. Hospira, Paris Be. Tel. 266 90 73. Tbu 642066 F.

SARONEC STAR On 3-tsle Scronic Gulf Cruises ily from Foliron (Athens), Only $30 THE LUDGRY MOTOR YACHT FOANNIS

On 7-day Aegean Cruises To 8 "off the beaten path" islands, Every Fri. from Faliron, from US$ 500 PR/INTERPRETER & TOURISM GUIDE

See your travel agent or SARONIC CRUISES, 14 Xenofontos: Athens, Telex 216661, Tel: 3234292.

PRIVATE SARING party of 10.
Greece, Ageon. August, Moce for 4 more. Quality letch, wind surf board.
$1280/person. Morich 98 32 94 p.m.

ESCORTS & GUIDES

Tel: 222940

CACHET U.S.A.

* SHE *

TEL: 258633 CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED

ESCORT SERVICE IN NEW YORK

TEL: 212-737 3291. HONESTY

AMSTERDAM

* ALEXANDRIA * LONDON 794 5218 - 794 2901

* ANGEL *

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL

PORTUGAL

FROM PARIS TO:

ISBON | F72700.00 ESTORI/CASCAS | F72405.00 COSTA VERDE(OPORTO) F72490.00 ALGARVE | F72905.00 MADERA | F72715.00

Places Contact: Puris, Tel: 742 59 81; 742 52 64; 742 54 97. Tbc: 220550.

FROM FRANKFURT TO:

ALGARYE DM998
TWO WERES:
STOREL/ CASCAIS DM2061
COSTA VERDE (OPORTO) DM1887
AADERIA DM164S

Please contacts Frankfast, Tel: (0611) 234094. Tis: 413976

For other programs and detailed information, ask your

TRAVEL AGENT

CHARTER A VALEF YACHT in Greece direct from owner of largest fleet in

ESCORTS & GUIDES

ZURICH

Vanessa Escort Service

TE: 01/47 02 12 - 60 22 45

MADRID

Multilingual Escart & Guide Service Tel: Madrid 261 41 42 - 261 43 35, ENTERPRISES & ESCORT AGENCY Multilinguol Escort 325 E 64 St, New York, NY 10021 Tel: 212-744-3838.

MANILA MESTOWN HOTEL 600 rooms. In the least of Manilo's tourist belt. Amidst entertoining & business content, 10 restourants and bars, swimmens and col. Sym. scano, jocuzo, termis and col. Sym. scano, jocuzo, termis conserv. 10 resourcers and bors, swen-raing pool, gym, scame, jocuzo, tennis, courts, shopping complex, 3 theaters, Single-double from US$55. Reserve, lons georgateed. Pedro GF St, Erni-ta, Marila, Tel. $73911, PO Box 4252. Afterials Critics Michael Marila, Tel. Afterials Critics Michael Marila, Tel.

HOTELS RESTAURANTS

NIGHT CLUBS

STALY - WONDERFUL CAPIL - HOM Punta Tragara, the stand's most re-fined, luxurious, Sec-water pool. Tel: 081/83/0844. Telesa 710261.

U.S.A. TUDOR HOTES, 304 East 42nd St., New York City. In fashionable, East Side Manhatten, 4 block from UN. Single from $50; cloubles from $66. Televo. 422951. Tel: 800-522-7508

SHOPPING ROSENTHAL Fine China, Crystal & Cutlery Write for catalog.

> TAX FREE SHOPPING ZEINA TAX PRE SHOP

40% export discounts

18-20 row de la Paix, Paris 2nd Tel: 261 70 21 Te: 240246 Import Expert ESCORTS & GUIDES

SOPHIE ESCORT SERVICE TEL: 01/202 48 93 LONDON RITZ Tel: 01 435 9713. 4 pm - midnight

ZURICH

GENEVA - EXCLUSIVE Escort Service, Afternoon & Evening Tel: 22/21 79 29.

LONDON - CHEISEA GILL Escort Service, 51 Regueromp Place, London SW3. Tel: 01 584 6513/2749, 4-12 pm.

E.E.C. CAPITALS Escort Services. Germany 0/7851-5719. ■ ZURICH - GENEVA ● Omega Excert Service Gen TEL: 0049-6103-82048 LONDON ORIENTAL Escori Service, Tel: 794 4637.

LONDON MARHABA * Escort Agency TEL: 01 262 5724 LONDON WEST ESCORT SERVICE. London, Heathrow. Tel: 01 747 3304. AMSTERDAM

ESCORT GUIDE SERVICE SINCE 1973 Tol: 247731. ENGLISH ESCORT SERVICE At Heathron. Tel 01 754 0568. Zurich - Geneva GENEVA V.L.P. Service. Noon to michight. Tel: 41 20 36.

Manieus Escert & Guide Service Tel: 07 / 361 90 00

Frankfurt • Hannover Tel: 0611-686482

HEATHROW EXECUTIVE ESCORT Service, also Gatvick and Landon, Tel-0452 23146, 12cm - 12pm. USEZ 23146, 1257 - 12570.

NEW YORK CITY, PITTSBURBOH, D.C.
LA VENTURA ESCORT SERVICE, TEL.
272-988-1664.

Servica. Tel: 05/589 2604 - 589 1746

Servica. Tel: 05/589 2604 - 589 1746

(10 on. - 10 pm.)

YENNA - EXCLUSIVE Excert Service.
Tel: 47-74-64.

Tal 347 02 07. BRUSSES: MARTINE Excert Service. Tel: 428 01 42 after 2 pm. VERNA ETORE ESCORT Service. Tel: 56 78 55 LONDON DEBME ESCORT Agency.
Tel: (01):389 0451.

ANORIA ESCORT Service, London & 17650380-2509472. Credit cards
ANORIA ESCORT Service, London & 17650380-2509472. Credit cards
ANORIA ESCORT Service, London & 17650380-2509472. Credit cards
LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: 56 78 55 16 56 78 16 16 170 25 18620.

NEW YORK CITY, Monique - Christina - Beth Escort Service. Tel: 01 25 18620.

NEW YORK CITY, Monique - Christina - Beth Escort Service. Tel: 01 25 18620.

AMSTEEDAM-18 Escort Service. Tel: 01 270 4572.

ALIGNOON INFOST Service. Wast End & 100 2007.

ALIGNOON UNDERFY ESCORT SERVICE.

Tel: 01 402 9038.

Tel: 01 428 01 42 airer 2 pm.

VISINA ESCORT SERVICE.

(01) 724 2608.

LONDON BETINA Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE CLARES Escort Service. Tel: (01) 724 2608.

LONDON MARKE

TORONTO—Treded Otck Davis, suttleter, to the Pitrature in Pitrature for a player to be named later, Astheried Otle Velet, designated hitter, items to the Pitrature of the Velet, designated hitter, items to the Constant League of New York—Recolled Yerry Leach, pitcher, from Tidewater of the international League and returned study. Titimen, nutritainer, to Tidewater. PhilaDel.Phila—Notified Tony Toylor Memorar of the clust's Close AAA ortiliate of Ostalesma City of the Asperican Association, restancing feet Clark, who was made a scout, restancing feet Clark, who was made a scout, restancing feet Clark, accessing League, restacting Toylor.

5T, LOUIS—Activated Stave Group, sufficient Toylor, from the Estate disabled tisk, Ostloand Ortondo-Sancing, Corcher, in Laurisville of the Assertant Association.

. FOOTBALL Tentepal Feebreal Leasue

RALTHSORE—Signed James

RALTHSORE—Signed James

RALTHSORE—Signed Jon Gelzier orienzive

MAALE—Bissed Jon Gelzier orienzive

Roman, in s. series of one-year confrontit.

Remain State Signed Jon Gelzier orienzive

Remain Signed Si

Redrique, wide receiver; Ron Hester and Chorles Bowses, linebuckers; Robin Fisher, nose teckle; Poul Lankterd, defensive back; Serve Clork, detensive and; Mack Boother, running back; Wayne Jones, offensive guard, and Hons Nietsen and Joe Perri, kickers.

N.Y. GIANTS—Sished Jeff Wake, guard, Cuft Dennis Jehnson, Alandel Robinson and Bobby Bramble, running backs; Kurvin wyord. Rebocker: Bruck Kirchner, center, and Doug Anackle, guard, Terminabed their rights in lice Forts, running back.

WASHINGTON—Sished Strad Dusek and Lemont Hot-Lethers. Bushackers: Todd Lethershin, detensive tinemon; Alichael Wijffiams, thair sind, and Robe Warthen, detensive lockle.

Lethed Sirks Poetbell Leases ChicAGO—Announced that George Allen had become head cooch and part gware.

Autonol Heckey League ogch. LOS ANGELES—Traded Paul Mulvey, left Mas. to Edmanton for Bioir Bornes, right wins. N.Y. RANGERS—Staned a de-year working.

Corporator, cooch.

VANCOUVER--Signed . Patrik Sundairom,

Tuesday's Major League Line Scores Netson, Clark (S), Stanton (E), Vande Bera (E), Couditi (7) and Bullina, W— Clark, 1-0. L— R.J.Jackson, *4. HRs— Teronic, Uoshaw (9); Saattle, Zisk (S), Henderson (7), Builling (1).

121 900 001-4 10 1 906 100 000-1 2 1 Los Angeles Atlanta 906 106 900-1 2 1 V-Ramo, Stewart (2), S.Howe (7) and Seveles Bedroslon, Hanna (4), Garber (7) and Beveles Bedroslon, 2-1, HRS—Los Angeles, Garver (7), Baker (12), an 903 100-5 9 2

Son Diego $10 to $10 to $9 2 Cinchinet $30 to $100.5 9 2 Cinchinet $30 to $100.5 9 2 Lofter, Locas (7), Chiffer (7) and T.Kennedy; Leibrandt, Price (7), Hume (2) and Trevino, W—Price, 2-2 L—Lucos, 0-5. 201 000 000-4 2 1 150 206 000-3 11 T P Pointer, Reardon (7) and Carter; Ra.Jones, Lynch (1), Oresco (5), Alicott (9) and Stearns, Hodges (9), W— Pointer, 2-1, L—Ra.Jones, 6-4, HR—Montrept, Oliver (9),

> Stuper and Parter. W.—Stuper. 24
> HR—Philodelphia, B.Diaz. (12).
> Cnicopo 060 81
> Pittsburgh 025 00
> Martz Prely (3). Rietey (4). Con
> L.Davis: Condelarie, E.Rome (7)

N-Condularia, 3-3. L-Martz, 4-4.

Transactions

HOCKEY

7, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4, and Lloyd Bourne downed Romanian Ilie Nastase, 6-1, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4. In women's play, Zina Garrison ousted fellow American Leigh Anne Thompson, 6-0, 6-2; American Beth North stopped Liz Jones of Britain, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, and Kim Jones defeated Sandy Collins, 6-4, 6-3, in a battle between two Ameri-

Kathy Rinaldi, 15, progressed to the third round of women's play with an unexpectedly easy 6-2, 6-3 victory over fellow American Betsy lowed was one of several McEnroe Nagelsen. Nagelsen, who reached the last 16 here last year and has a victory over Martina Navratilova to her credit, may have suffered from getting a bye into the second round, while Rinaldi already had a Bourne led Nastasie in sets, 2-1, before darkness halted the match Tuesday night. Play was resumed Wednesday, after being delayed by rain for more than two hours, and the American quickly gained a service break in the fourth set and held on for the victory.

paign for the flamboyant Nastase, who will be 36 oext month and who was runner-up here to Stan Smith in 1972 and Björn Borg in 1976.

It was a short Wimbledon cam-trouble lately — one day I serve well, the oext day I go off. I didn't have the rhythm on my returns ei-

Of his contretemps with the offi-and loves kids." "We did him," said the Lord. Babe Ruth."

"He always looks like he's going fishing, like he has this frog in one pocket and a cork for a sinker in another and he's barefoot and he walking bubble gum card."

"Yes!" said the angel. "And ball hit the bag.'

"This guy knows, see? He doesn't read The Sporting News—

"It's perfect," agreed the Lord.
"Check with Mark Twain for de-"Tell me again — this guy runs everywhere? Just what that coun-

I thought 'Pete Rose' would be

Rose goes with baseball the way cheese goes with apple pie or car-sup with hamburger. He goes through life like a kid on his first merry-go-round. You look at Rose and it's 1900 again - open trolleys and the riverboats are running and you can hear the banjos playing

Baseball without Rose would be else his age does.

AUTO SHIPPING TRANSCAR: Europe's largest for Core, this beggooge & household effects workwide. Context Landon W1, 42/44 New Bond 5s., Tak 491 4/21. Genevan 1219, 39/38 Ava. du Lignon. Tak 95 511. Marich 21, Landsburger Skr. 1910, Tak 36 40 81.

AUTOS TAX FREE

TAX FREE CARS All Makes - All Models

ROLLS-ROYCE BRITISH MOTORS

ESCORTS & GUIDES

One of these years, though, the

Which of his records did he first two years I only got 309."

FURZIC RELATIONS, English/French, Excellent presentation, Paris 624 94 15 PR YOUNG LADY, Irrilagural, seculiars appearance. Paris 527 01 93.

No step a constant stack at more that one hundred broad new cars, competitively priced. Send for free calcoque & stock list. Transcs 54, 55 Noorderfoon, 2030 Antwerp, Belgium. Tel: 1031 425 240, [10 lines]. The 2520/ TRANS 8

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL WHEN IN GREECE TREAT YOURSELF TO 2 MUSTS THE GRACERE

US BAMBGEATION 2. VISA MATTERS, Low office Edward S. Gudeon PC, 62 Foll Moll, London SWI, 01 920 6451, NO MORE VISA. For worldwide troval docurrent, write to: No More Visa, 548 Visa Visando, Rome, Itoly.

Escort Service AMSTERDAM Major Credit Cords A.

Other major cities available. LONDON

67 Chillern Street, London W1 TEL: 486 3724 or 486 1158 CHARISMA USA MALE & FEMALE NYC ESCORT SERVICE

212-460-9383 or 242-5677

LONDON

BELGRAVIA

Portmen Escort Agency

ort Service. Tel: 736 5877. AMSTERDAM ESCORT SERVICE, TH.: 852259 REGIO ARPORT TH.: 1 26164. CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED

ART BUCHWALD

Watergate Wallowing

WASHINGTON —As some of the 10th anniversary of the Water-gate hreak-in. Unlike many people, my wife and I did not wallow in it. We decided to have a quiet dinner at home and watch TV, rather than go out to an expensive nightclub and put on funny hats and throw confetti in the air, as many of our friends were doing. We wanted to with each other as we were on that fateful morning when five men were ar-rested for illegally entering the Democratic National Committee's offices on the sixth floor of the Watergate office-apart-

Like so many Americans, I remember the exact moment when I heard the news. It was seven o'clock on Saturday morning, and as I turned on the radio the an-nouncer at the end of his news broadcast, made mention of the

"My God," I said, sitting up in bed. "They broke into the Water-My wife opened ber eyes, startled by my reaction. "Why are you getting so excited about a victim-less crime?" sbe asked. "There is more to this news item than meets the eye. This thing could lead to the Oval Office of the White House," I said. "How do you know?" she asked me as 1 started doing my daily 50 push-ups.

"I don't know for certain. But something smells about this whole thing. Why would five men risk everything to break into Democratic National Committee headquarters unless they were part of a much larger conspiracy that could in-volve the highest officials of this

"But wby the Watergate?" sbe asked.
"Why not the Watergate?" I replied, jogging in place for three miles. This looks like something that nut, Gordon Liddy, would think up as part of a plumbers' plan in the White House," "What are plumbers doing in the White House?"

I lifted two 100-pound barbells, week the United States celebrated where the United States celebrated anyone, but I think they're involved in wiretapping, hreak-ins and dirty tricks. Somehow they're connected with the Committee to Re-elect the President and John

> "But," she said, "how will this involve Nixon?"

> "It doesn't involve him at this moment. But if I know the president, as soon as he hears about it, he will call in his legal counsel, John Dean, and try to cover the whole thing up."

> That would be obstruction of justice and lead to impeachment or resignation," she said.

"Exactly. When the beat is on. Haldeman and Ehrlichman and Colson will try to sacrifice Dean, and at that point be'll start singing better than Beverly Sills."

"But," my wife said as she watched me on the chinning bar, where is the smoking gun?"

"The tapes. Nixon records everything in his office on a voiceactivated machine. When Congress hears the conversations the president had with Dean, Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Colson, they'll have no choice but to vote for impeachment. It could be one of the darkest periods in American history, but it will prove the sys-tem works, thanks to a vigilant press, and a judge who stuck to his

"I can't believe you," my wife said. "You can get all of that out of one teeny news item on the radio about a third-rate burglary."

"That's what I'm paid for," I said modestly. "You never accept a news item on face value. You have to figure out what is behind

"What are you going to do about

"Nothing. At least nothing until the Saturday night massacre." "Is there going to he a Saturday night massacre?

There always is when a president tries to obstruct justice." "I feel so belpless," my wife cried. "Shouldn't we at least warn

"No way. His people got him into Watergate — let them try and get him out."

© 1982, Las Angeles Times Syndicate

The Barth Factor

Washington Past Service

CHESTERTOWN, Md. —
John Barth writhes on the edge of his seat, shuttling a tanned lank ankle from floor to tained lank ankle from floor to knee, swiveling his torso like a karate school dropout. All this incessant clamor for reality!

The man has every right to be relaxed. Outside, the ancient swell of his Chesapeake Bay wraps the cove in a deep pewter sheen, and his trim sloop folls in its moorings. Across the lawn, his its moorings. Across the lawn, his sprightly wife is gardening. And across the country, his new seago-ing novel, "Sabbatical," is blowing up a critical storm.

Yet here in his snug, bayside house, Barth is in full sedentary souse, Barth is in full sections of personal fact. "Tim a fidgety man," he says, hugging a knee, plainly unhappy at talking about himself except in the third person, deflecting inquiry by quoting other writers in the marshy vowels of his waterman's drawl.

A spot check reveals that from "The Floating Opera" and "The End of the Road" in the '50s; through "The Sot-Weed Factor" and "Giles Goat-Boy" in the '60s, to "Chimera" and lately "Let-ters" in the "70s, Barth has earned a madcap eminence (and occasional odium) for buge and bawdy intellectual fables, philosophical vaudeville, rococo parodies of antique literary forms. They are self-conscious tales telling the reader he is reading a story telling itself — whimsically bedecked with literary allusions, inkhorn diction, mythic figures made bomely and plain folks made mythic. 'Romance With Regism'

But in "Sabbatical," he says, "I have resumed a romance with realism." And at first, it even seems autobiographical: Writer Fenn Turner, 50, and his second wife Prof. Susan Seckler, 35, take a sailing vacation. (Barth, 52, and his second wife Shelly, 37, a high-school bterature teacher, are devoted sailors.) The fictional pair cavort on 33 feet of sleek teak, (Barth has 25 feet of fiberglass: One of the purposes of art is to give you boats you can't afford.") Each is a twin; Barth has a twin

They visit Fenn's aging parents on the Bay (Barth was born in Cambridge, Md.). And their argosy obliges them to choose among diverging life-options — includ-ing whether to have 8 child (Fenn has a son and new grandson; Barth, father of three, is a recent grandsire) and how to engage the moral issues of American society. (Barth, often criticized for blithe disregard of "real life," fires political salvos aplenty.)

However, "I don't write autobiography." Barth protests, squirming again. And the book soon reveals itself to be a multiplex meditation: on the union of opposites ("a good marriage and a full-rigged sailboat," he says, "embody harmonious tensions between contraries," as do Susan and Fenn, pragmatic and roman-tic, etc.); on the symbiosis of life and art ("The doing and the tell-ing, our writing and our loving they're twins"); on the metaphorical parallels among sea journeys, heroic quests, the physical vectors of conception and the ineluctably mythic shape of every buman life. All served up in a richly alliterative prose, festooned with font-notes and told in three voices: Susan's, Fenn's and a collective we. A Mysterious Death

These ideas were affoat, but the book didn't emerge until 1978, when the very un-abstract carcass of ex-CIA official John Paisley, dead by mysterious circum-stances, bobbed up in "my home waters and the novel certainly was occasioned by that case." This literal intrusion of the real world becomes a ditto in the nov-el: Barth simply reprints 20 pages of Paisley stories from The Baltimore Sun. "If yon're gonna pol-lute a work of fiction with an enormous gobbet of fact, you might as well lay it on. That's not unprecedented — the novel is the most hospitable genre to any kind of contamination."

The second son of a candystore owner, restaurateur and judge in orphan's court, Barth grew up in "the boundless tidal marshes" of Dorchester County, Md. In that landscape, he writes, where horizontality is so ubiquitous that anything vertical — a day beacon, a dead loblolly pine — is ipso facto interesting, the abstract wish to distinguish oneself somehow, anyhow, seems pardon-able to me." Pardonable, too, an early yearning to link one's life with the larger archetypes: "One of the things that fascinates everybody about tides," Barth says now, "is that any bitle creek connects with the waters of the world. In the same way, our very homely, far-from-heroic personal experiences — simply because they are human experiences — contain the general pattern and connect with the great myths."

Jack was born with a twin sister Jill, which resulted in an early sense that "language is for relating to others" (for twins, "nearly ing to others" (for twins, "nearly everything went without saying"), a premonition of the power of the incest theme ("natural if you've grown up hearing the bawdy versions of the nursery rhymes since you were 6") and a personality "nearly hear the same of th "somewhat introverted, somewhat shy, One occupational hazard of being a twin is that one grows up solitary and self-sufficient." Still, he played the drums in a local jazz group — "rhythm seems to come more naturally to me than melody and harmony"— and briefly attended the Juilliard School, determined to be a jazz orchestrator. The message out-lasted the medium: "At heart, I'm an arranger still, whose chiefest literary pleasure is to take a received melody and improvising like a jazzman within its constraints, re-orchestrate it to present

He took a scholarship to Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, years behind his better-educated classmates: "They had heard already about the Renaissance, the Enlightenment and the rest; I was lost in the Dark Ages. They were discussing the architecture; I was discussing the architecture; I was trying to find the men's room. Everything was news."

But he rapidly closed the gap, both in life and letters. In 1952, he took up teaching by "a kind of passionate default," first at Penn State, later at the State University of New York at Buffalo, and "by the time I was 25, I'd fathered three children and written two three children and written two

But in the late '50s, "I realized that realism was tying my hands," and he returned to the 18th-century origins of the novel for "The Sot-Weed Factor" and found "more elbow-room."

And more room for self-conscious narration: "When I was a student in Baltimore, I used to love to go down to the old Hippodrome Theater where they still had live vandeville between the movies, My favorite kind of acts

ADVERTISEMENTS

Novelist John Barth: A floating sabbatical.

were the magicians, tumblers and acrobats," and he preferred the kind "who is always talking about what he's doing while he's doing it." He began writing the same way, most critics raved, and by the '60s it was a trademark tech-

Two Long Loves

He would find two long loves in the same decade. Divorced from his first wife, in 1969 he met a former student from Penn State, Shelly Rosenberg, while he was giving a reading in Boston. They were married in 1970 — about the same time Barth was re-romancing his old flame Scheherazade. To this day, "I still can't hear the violin or the oboe motif in Rimsky-Korsakov's "Scheherazade' without a chill." They first met in the library stacks at Hopkins, and she became his mentor and meta-

She also became the subject of one of the three interrelated novellas titled "Chimera," which won Barth the National Book Award in 1973 — the same year that an offer from Johns Hopkins catapulted him back to his ancestral fens. Since then, he has lived tral fens, Since then, he has lived quietly between Baltimore and the bay, in the deep penumbra of the literary limelight.

At home he reads Nabokov, Borges, Gabriel Garcia Marquez—the second-generation masters of modernism"—along with Itale Calvino Ginter Greet and

Italo Calvino, Günter Grass and a gaggle of Americans: Updike, Cheever and "most of those people whose names are often humped with mine." The group includes Donald Barthelme, John Hawkes, William Gass, Robert Coover, Ishmael Reed — "all the ones Gore Vidal doesn't like. As Barthelme says, I like the team they put me on.

Barth has accumulated a boatload of laurels; has been the sub-ject of myriad Ph.D. theses ("it gives you a sort of posthumous feeling before the fact"); even has a fan club, the Society for the Celebration of Barthomania, which claims a number of nationwide chapters and offers a choice of three bumper stickers, including "John Barth is God."

Next Novel

The critics "bother you only until you get back to work," says Barth, who compares himself to an auto designer: The one that's the showroom now is the one be designed three years ago. "While that hurts, it doesn't hurt your production, because that's not where you are any more." Where's that? Well, there's the next book, a "downstream com-plement to 'Sabbatical' Like a hack songwiter, I have a title: The Tidewater Tales: A Novel." But first, "I'll take a different kind of sabbatical for a few months by writing a couple of es-says to clear my head." Like this: "I've just cracked the riddle of Scheherszade's menstrual cycle! Nobody in the country recognized that there was a problem there." It seems likely. "The question I asked myself is, Why are there 1,001 nights instead of 202 or 5,4977"

EMPLOYMENT

CENERAL POSITIONS

APPNESs. Lody interpreter - Germon French / English, some Italian, ess lent presentation, for your business pointments, Tels (93) 38 09 63.

SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

RANDSTAD

Bilingual Personnel. Temporary work seeks a

BILINGUAL

SECRETARY

French shorthand, Coll. 34) 08 00, or come into Rendstad's office. 4 Place Felix Eboue 75012 Paris.

PEOPLE

Arizona Woman Claims Sperm-Bank Birth

Joyce Kowalski, of Phoenix

Ariz, revealed that she is the mother of the first baby, Victoria, born through artificial insemine tion from a sperm bank seeded by genius donors. Mrs. Kowalski sold her story to the National Enquirer and told the tahloid, "The odds are good that our sweet little girl will grow up to become a genius. She and hundreds like her just could and hundreds like her, just could be America's hope for the future.

Dr. Kenneth Dumars, head of the division of clincial genetics, University of California at Irvine, disagrees and said of the elite sperm bank: "Artificial insemination is perfectly valid but this is a gimmick, an unrealistic hope for families. To hold out the idea that Nobel sperm will help society is sheer buil." The Kowalskis reportedly were paid $20,000 for the story by the Enquirer. A spokesman for the Repository for Germinal Choice of northern San Diego County said the sperm was donated by an eminent mathematician in his 30s who works at a major university. "His IQ is over 200, by the way — measured when he was a child. He's a very clever cookie," the spokesman said of the still-secret donor. The repository was established in 1979 by Robert K. Graham for the purpose of "creating brighter children." The birth was disclosed earlier.

Composer Mikis Theodorakis of "Zorba the Greek" fame has complained to Greek Culture Minister Melina Mercouri that his works are being ignored by her ministry. Theodorakis, who also is a Communist member of parliament, sent an angry letter to Mercouri beabout showing a film of his "Canto Generale" composition at a presti-gious cultural festival later this year. "I should at least have been consulted about screening a foreign film about my work at the En-ropalia festival when it hasn't been shown in Greece yet," he wrote. Theodorakis said he was hoping to present live compositions at the Europalia, celebrating Greek artis-tic activity this year, in Brussels in November, but "nothing was men-tioned about that." Theodorakis also complained that projects for performing several of his works at the Athens Festival this summer were rejected by the Culture Ministry, "Does the minister find performances of my music annoying?" the letter wondered.

AMERICA CALLING BGB29CB GEB28CH. Travelers' mes-toges. Write: Box 6262, Olympia, WA 98502, USA.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

SUBSCRIBE TO THE WALL STREET JOURNAL INTERNATIONAL AIR EDITION

Delivery by Jet Air Freight from New York every business day.

Send order with payment to Jane Tolson THE WALL STREET JOURNAL Boulevard Charlemagne, 1 Past Box 68 1041 Brussets, Belgium.

YOUR LONDON TICKET AGENT Of for WIMBLEDON, CATS, of zjor eventu. Tek London 242 8748.

"BANSOW" alics Richard Williams lost seen in Foris in April 1981, Please contact Covre Hart, 22 Doveylands Wilmstow, Cheshire, UK. PORTUGAL SEE Holidays and travel

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS in English dealy, Peris 325,76,03/551,38.90.

PERSONALS NINA VAN DYKE, Anyone Inoving whereobouts Nine or Severin Rodi coll collect: Van Dyke 302-227-2139 U.S.A. MR. & MRS. R.: HAPPY 35TH & more more. Much love, DLKMTDA&8

ALLIED VAN LINES INTERNATIONAL

MOVING

THE CAREFUL MOVERS GERMANY: INT. MOVING SERVICES Fronkfurt, 0611-781006. Munich, 089-142244. Dussekforf, 07102-45023/24. FRANCE: 14 s, de la Vega, Paris 12 Contect: Mr. McBain, Tel: 343 23 64.

REAL ESTATE CANADA LAND FOR SALE IN BEAUTIFUL BRITISH COLUMBIA, CANADA For further infermation, contact Marco Spodiet, Tel 091/58 15 51, Tbc 79273 GEMCO CH / Switzerland

Nixon?"

FRENCH PROVINCES BRITTANY: Londscaped properly, 25,000 sq.m., with clinic occases to beaches, exceptional location and west, 4 storey stone house to be modernized - 4 grante fireplaces, but services reviewing, 200. F.3,500,000. Write: Gritsis, 25 Louisanou St., Athens, Greece, or tel: Paris 224.94.19 or Athens 722.80.56.

PARIS & SUBURBS

MONTMARTRE, 40 sq.m. oportmer sun, great view, P350,000, 322 48 20

SWITZERLAND

USA RESIDENTIAL

PARIS & SUBURBS

16th SUSCRICUS DUPLEX operanent, unique view on Bois & Paris, Longe reception, 5 bedrooms, 4 boths, sumptuusity equipped litchen, vast terrocat on exch level, Maid's flot 3 bedrooms & boths. 3-car garage. Luxurious fittings, perfect condition. High price. COTAGs 359 23 01.

NATION 12TH: Recently built 90 sq.m. operanent. Double 6ving. 2 bedrooms, 2 buths, 10th floor, west, sun, Paris penarcuna Sacre Coeur, Notre Dome etc. up to 31 Cloud, Sursenss etc. Gorage. Available Sept. F1,050,000. Tel-office hoors 574 97 00 ext 2281.

RARE PARIS 5TH carondissement, colm. 170 sq.m. house + outbuildings, 15th carondissement, 2300,000. Tel-office hoors 574 97 00 ext 2281.

RARE PARIS 5TH carondissement, colm. 170 sq.m. house + outbuildings, 55 sq.m. garden. Lorge living, 5 bedrooms, 3 bathrooms, call comforts. P2,300,000. Tel-office floors for the study of th HOLLAND TTALY When in Rome:
PALAZZO AL VELABRO

Laury oportment house with furnisher flots, available for 1 week and more from $50 a day for two.
Phone: 6794325, 6793450.
Write: Via del Velabra 16, 00186 Rome.

BEAUTIFUE COUNTRY HOUSE (Costa Dareads, Spain).
On small hill, panoromic view, bacch of 200 m. Surface 260 sq.m., longe chowing room, dring room, spacious kitchen, hithy squepped, office or bedroom, 3
double bedrooms, 2 bothrooms, 3 WCs, ßarony, holl, service entrance, 150 sq.m.
thed terroces, Independent garage, 2
cors, countyand, shed, fastic waitedabout garden, 1210 sq.m.
Price-F300,000, fully equipped.
Write, 5 IB-113313, Publishes CH 1271 Geneva 3.

POR SALE HIGH CLASS, 3 bedroom modern operation by Loke Lamon be tween Lousonise and Vevey to Swas nationals or foreignest holding permit C Phone 021298914 ofter 7 pm.

CONTRNETS, TEL. 281 18 &1 PARS.

Plear OPERA). Air & Sea to all countries. Economy rates. Also baggage.

IA JOLIA, CA. 3 rare, adjacent 1-acre level ocean loss. Sturming ocean views.

Alagicade Sea/ Air Freight, removals, TRANSCAR, Paris. (1) 500 03 04.

Tel: 714-452-7703.

GREAT BRITTAIN

LONDON: New knowy furnished Bots.
Garden setting. Heated pool. Convenient curports. Suit 14, £ 130 - £ 180 / week. Tel: Bosel CH-(061) 237199 /
London 886 40 62.
LONDON - For furnished flats & houses, the service leading US Corporasons tree. Anscombe & Ringland. Telescopies to the condon 435 7122. Telescopies 60.
LONDON, For the best furnished flats and house. Consult the Specialists and house. Consult the Specialists and houses. Consult the Specialists. GREAT BRITAIN ONDON, For the best furnished flots and houses. Consult the Specialists. Phillips, Koy and Lewis. Tel.s London 839 2245. DUTCH HOUSING CENTRE & V. Deluse rentols, Voleriusstr. 174, Amsterdom, 020-721 234 or 723222. HOMETINDERS INT. For your house of flot in Amsterdam. Beethoverstr. 8 1077 HP AMSTERDAM 020/797956.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

FRENCH PROVINCES

JIAN LES PINS. Cottoge, 5/6 people. Garden. And Rot 2/3 people, terroce, All comforts, Paris 624 45 15.

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

PARIS PROMO FUNDISHED & UNFURNISHED UPARTMENTS FOR RENT OR SALE 5 Ave. Hoch 5008 Paris.

563 25 60 STAYING IN PARIS? FIRMSHED & UNFURNISHED FIRST-CLASS APARTMENTS.

TOTEM - 15th

4 rooms, high class, Sincity for the Happy Few.

KFR 296 88 88

AT HOME IN PARIS

LANDLESS CONTAINERS LTD

Buy 1 or several containers and Landless will manage them for you with leases to left? shipping companies. A problem-free investment fully insured with no hidden charges. Your 18% income will increase proportionately as our container selling price invasises throughout the 12-year guarantee period. In other words ofthough you cannot receive less than 18% on your original investment, as inflation pushes our selling prices up you will receive 18% of our future selling prices to 25%, your return would be 25% etc. 18% our return would be 25%, etc. This provides you sell only with a high corrent incestment is should in the 25% your seturn would be 27%, etc.
This provides you sell only with a high corrent inceste but also with an unbeschole inflation hedge for the future. Minutum rental 2 months. Also flats & houses for eals. MTER URBIS, 1 Rue Mallien, Pars (Be). Tel.: 563.17.77.

LANDLESS CONTAINERS LTD.

ALBANY HOUSE, Dept. 246 489 London Rd. Cambarley Serrey GUI 5 31A England 16: 0276-68201 1 (24 hours) Toliax: 858997 LANCON G Put your money to work DUNN & HARGITT

Experts in International Portfolio Management Investment Opportunities COMMODITIES, CLIRRENCIES & GOLD Proven track record of over 25% overage net profit per circum.
 Clients account audited.
 All assets deposted with reach with remaining under the control or auditernation.
 Over 70 years acquerence.
 Monthly performance statements.

Dunn & Horgitt Research S.A. Dept. AB 225 Avenue Lloyd George 6, Bie 5 1050 Brusselt, Belgum. Tel: (02) 640 32 80 Tulen; 64778 DUNN-8 Restricted in Belgium.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE PARIS AREA FURNISHED 16TH RUE RAFFET Beautiful furnished 4 rooms, Modes building, upper floor, all comforts. To roce, puriong. Free August 1st, F700 net. Tel: 265 51 45.

UNFURNISHED OF FURNISHED, SHORT TERM ACCEPTED, 359 74 68 CHAMP DE MARS MERCURE WORLDWIDE YOUR GUIDE From studios to prestige apartments
Short term accepted
3 rue St Philipe
du Roule, Paris 8e 256 30 57

CLASSIFIED

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

AT SACLE

STUDIO TO 7 ROOMS

VIEW ON LUXEMBOURG GARDENS Luxury 100 sq.m. flot, fully equipped. Fron July & August. Tel. 548 05 60. CONTRESCARPE. 2 room flot with kitchen & bath. Fron 1 July. 587 00 74 TROCADERO. Lucurious studio, high class building, calm, sunny. 380 14 84.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

18% NET

Per Annum

Guaranteed

And Indexed

1st 12 Years

ONE OF THE MANY ATTRACTIVE INVESTMENT FORMULAS OFFERED BY

LANDLESS CONTAINERS LTD

Magnificent 5 recess. F 6700, Tel: 563 68 38. 16TH: NOW, fine summer home for couple, parking. F 4000. 504 29 21. PARIS AREA UNFURNISHED VERSAILLES: rice house with large pri-vate garden, in quiet residential street, close station and shops. Living & di-ring + 3 bedrooms (+ a 4th inty one), 2 boths, large wonderful equipped litches + loundry, Modern central heating, F9000, Tel 771 63 55.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE PARIS AREA UNFURNISHED FINANCIAL EXECUTIVE 45. Greek revenue Law Escotters, 45, Greek, qualified, Enhance experience with Multinotional and International Com-ported in Middle East and Europe, Multilingual, floert English and Arabic, Sooks switchle past with a serious Company, Available August 82, Write to: C.H., POB. 3587, Athers Greece, PLATTENED BY Flot Hunting? We'll give you a lift. CSU, Paris 574 23 10. U.S.A. SOUTHAMPTON NY. Ocsenfront, Liturieus boute. 3 bedroom, 3% beth, sunnoam, werp dround deck, very pri-vale beach. $40,000 summer. Ann Mil-len Westendts 516-283-9223, Office. 212-688-7400; Home: 212-628-3477. ACCOUNTANT, early 40's, 4 lor

EMPLOYMENT FOR MORE EXECUTIVE POSITIONS LOOK UNDER "ENTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES" PAGES 10 & 11

EMPLOYMENT

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE

ITALIAN MAN, 28, presentable, priversity schooling, multiimpust. Seeks and well travelled. First to relocate executive representative position in Rose. F. Nocara, via di Villa Ada 10, Rome.

AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL institution seeks admissions commeter. Applicants must be college graduate, bilingual French / English, Tel: Paris 555 91 73 pot 10. CENERAL POSITIONS WANTED

EMPLOYMENT

CENERAL POSITIONS

guoges, international expensation, fa-miliar US and UK standards forcount-ing, financial, auditing, will stovel, seeks executive position, dynomic com-pany. Please replys F.M. Pros, Box 256, Monrovid, Liberia. Versolille Franchman starting a new life colony for Denv professional involve-tion, Some experience in PR & Marient Research, Notions of administration & Second management, Multilingual SISCTROFSCS Engineer in Sotellite communications with Yorkstmaster and Chief Engineers licences, fluent English / French available, for short or long term congressed, UK 0243 574074.

MINERVE SEES for AMERICAN FRMS in PARIS.
English, Belgion, Dutch or Germon secretories, susception of French required, English shorthand, Bilingual televists, Write or phone 138 Avenue Victor Hugo, 75116 Paris, France. Tel. 727 61 69. TEACHING POSITIONS AVAILABLE

PHTSICAL EDUCATION TEACHER
Students 8-13 years. Emphosis on movement-centered P.E. Knowledge Europe and American Sports, Ministem requested
A 4- two years experience P.E.
ARD TO SCHOOL DESECTOR.
Scaring the August Office work, playground supervision, recreationed progroun organization, young children, typug stills assented. Biograd English / French: French; EKC or Corte de Travoll sections;

hocksory.
Send CV, handwritten application, photo to Modane Dulong, American School of Paris, 41 tree Fasteur, 92210 St.
Good, France, No telephone calls. MBA & UNDENGRADUATE Sumes Incides; needed (Peris) for port time teaching positions beginning September 1982, in Organizational Selection, Finance, Inserance, Marketing, and Scoromace, John See 720, Herold Tabure, 92321 Neully-Cades, France, TRUVATE HUROR, Experience, references, 1 foreign language French are Spariel to required to providely instructure 2 elementary age boys. Line to mountain, tracel with termity, actions negotically Respond to: P.O. Bos 111, Sevierville, TN 37862 USA.

DOMESTIC POSITIONS WANTED BNGLESH NAMBURS & Mothers' Helps free now. Nesh Agency, 37 Groyd Po-rode, Brighton, UK. Tel: 682 666. AMERICAN BASYSTIER ovolicible. Moture, experienced. Ports; 380 15 94.

entsemnet Guy van Thuyne Tel.; 29 58 94. Lisbone Rito Ambar Tel., 67 27 93 8 66 25 44, OTHERS Hong Kong: C. Cheney Tel.: 5 - 420 906. New Yerla Sandy O'Hara Tel.: 752 36 90.

TAKE THE METRO TO NEW YORK. Only Metro offers you wide-body, 747 comfort from Brussels to New York at this low, unrestricted price.

And now there are 4 convenient flights a week. Why not call your travel agent or Metro International Airways in Brussels at 217.17.17 (or in Metro Paris at 562.11.19) for more information and reservations? International Airways

THE LOWEST UNRESTRICTED 747 FARES TO NEW YORK

ATTENTION BUSINESSMEN: Publish your business message in the International Herald Tribune, where more than a third of a million readers worldwide, most of whom are in business and industry, will read it. Just telex us (Paris 613595) before 10 a.m., ensuring that we can telex you back, and your message will appear within 48 hours. The rate is U.S. $8.45 or local equivalent per line. You must include complete and verifiable billing address. BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

International Business Message Center

Entrepreneur Partner £ 100,000 CASH

GOING CONCERN REMARKABLE RETURN ON INVESTMENT We have an unmatched financial opportunity for a successful entrepreneur.
We will give preference to a sales-oriented American who will immediately understand the business & contribute.
Must be able at once to take over the administration of an extremely profitoble going concern which has lost in Chief Executive due to an accident. We are only interested in a full equity portuner. Must close by 1st August. Perfect suburban setting just outside London.
Principals only. Contach
Mr WIGHT
C/a Church House
17 Church Street,
Esher, Surrey, UK.
Telesc. 929988 G.

COMPUTER PORTRAITS COMPUTER PORTRAITS

IN COLOR OR & & W

AN INSTANT MONEY MAKER

THAT CAN EARN YOU
$6000 + $8000 per month
A portrait from a live subject or from a photo in less than 80 sec. This can be instantly transferred on to a T-limit or most cry tertile item. Full or part-time.
ALL CASH BUSINESS. Portable. No aupersenta necessory. Excellent for shoppang context, resorts, shows, helds, moil order, cornevols, fairs or any high traffic location. Systems priced from $12,500 to $29,000. FOB Fronkfurt.

KEMA COMPUTER SYSTEMS
DEFT J24 POSTFACH 174082
6 FRANGFURT GEBMANY.
Tel: (0611) 747 808

TREEK 412713.
Office hours 10 a.m. -6 p.m.
IN COLOR OR B & W

FINDERS FEES Wall-established real estate syndicator seels to expand capital base. Would be to make contact with fund raiser for continuing business selectionship. Current offering is especially ottrocine time-sharing investment in Palm Springs, oriental high preferring returns or result for shelter. Points and/or equity controlled too shelter.

OVERSEAS SERVICE CENTERS
Run by_ and for_Americans.
US TAX setures TAX FREE cors.
Tel: UK 08692-46748/6 or 01 439 6288. A RARE OPPORTUNITY exists for the appointment of B only distributors throughout Europe and the Modile East to market new small, low-proad exotic car currently in production, $100,000 secured totally by inventory. Write or phone Piper Automobile Company, P.O. Box 20%, Solina, Konsis 67401 USA. Tel. (913) 825-6181.
AGENTS WANTED WORLDWIDE to mortest Electronic Worlden. Price $2.50. For catalogue, P.O. Box 101, West Brampton, London SW10, England. BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

TOURNAMENT sized pool tobles overlable for quick shipments throughout Europe & Middle East. Call or writer. I Leisco, 95 R.N. 12, 78/560 Penether-train, Franca. Tek (3) 489 41 10.
WHITE FEED BAREY. 30,000 metric tors. C + F, any destination. Telesc white resp swater. Solution from: cors. C + F, ony destination. Teles: 219436 CRS GR (Greece). POODSTUFF AND GRAIN. Suppliers to Midecat and Africa. Telesa 219436 CRS GR (Greece). WE ARE LOCKENS FOR formous brand perfumes etc. for export, Places con-tool Pares. 261 58 29.

BUSINESS SERVICES

BUSINESS INTELLIGENCE WORLDWIDE

We supply Business Information/Intelligence compiled to meet your exact requirements on a worldwide basis covering the fields of Franca, Sales & Monketing, Company Background Information, Debt Caliscition & soft Currency Transactions. Tel. Switzerland (1) 257 45 62, the 862245, The England 925859. SWISS BANKER ver 10 years management expenses laolong for Ensted number of clie s lackong for firsted number of cfe who lack for real independent adv and service, individual autigments confolio management possible. Serie inquires only. PO Box 4368, CH-8022 Zunch.

WORKER PEODUCTIVITY: Top Con-sultont. Avoilable worldwide. Scat Gellerman, Hoholus, N.I. 07423-0205 USA The 135162 Tek 201-265-1514 DON'T VISIT PARS ALONE. Take a high standard private guide with cor. Call APOS: 5410 189/339 55 75. PRIVATE English/French tourist/gui with car, for Versailles, 916 51 47

DIAMONDS Your best buy.

Fine diamonds in any price range at lowest wholesade prices: direct from Antwerp carter of the diamond world.

For free price list write Joechin Goldenstein diamonds world.

For free price list write Joechin Goldenstein discrimination of the price list write Joechin Goldenstein discrimination of 2, 8-2000 Antwerp Belgium - Tok Q 31/3407.51

Tat. 71779 yil b. At the Deamond Cub Heart of the Antwerp Diamond industri

DIAMONDS

DIAMONDS & JEWELRY Export Prices Tax Free Antwerp Cutting Factory
Open Mor. thru Sat. included. SIDIAM INVESTMENT Brussels: 1509 Centre Int. Rogier, 15th Roor, 02/218 28 83.

OFFICE SERVICES WORLD-WIDE YOUR BUSINESS IN PARIS CENTRES

 Accommodation address facility
 Mail, orders taken and forwar Professional typing and socret services, multilagued capability
 Tales; and facalmile transmisses
 Administration, managements. GEORGE V EXECUTIVE CENTER 30 AVE. GEORGE V, 75008 RARS Tel: 723 78 08. Teles: 613 930F. YOUR OFFICE IN MAJOR CITIES

MY PMA, COR CITIES

AMSTERDAM EuroCenter,
Keizersprocht 99, 1050 CH Annshirdom
Tath (020) 227035, Teleon 16183.
ATHEMS Enecutive Services,
Athers Tower B, Schle 506 Athens 610,
Tel: (301) 7796-232, Teleon 216343

BOMBAY Reheja Chembers, 213
Noriman Paint, Bomboy 400 027.
Tel: 245383, Teleon 011-6897.
BRUSSELS 4 rue de la Presse.
1000 Brussels, Tal. 217 83 60
Teleo: 25337

GLASGOW 11 Bothwell Street,
Glasgow G2, GLY. Tel: (041) 226 4913 Teles: 25327 GLASGOW 11 Bothwell Street, GLASGOW G2, GLY, Tel. (041) 226 4913 Teles: 779346. LCNBCOM 110 Strond, London WCZ, OAA, Tel. (01) 836 8718, Teles: 24973. MADRID C/Orense No. 68, Modrid 20, Tel. 270.56.00, 270.66.04 Teles: 46642. MILAN Vic Boccoccio 2, 20123 Milon, Tel. 86 75 89/80 59 279, Teles: 230343.

20123 Milen. Tel. 86 75 89/80 59 279, Telecc. 320343.

MUNICH Kraillerstresse 21
8000 Munchen 80.
Tel. 089/43130 05-6, Telecc 5213379.

NEW YORK 575 Macfaon Avenue, New York, NY 1002Z. Tel. (212, 486-1333, Telecc. 129864 / 237699.

PARES BOCS, 15 Avenue Victor Hugo, Paris 75116, Tel. 502 18 00, Telecc. 6208938.

ROME Vic Screen 78, 00198 Rome.
Tel. 55.32,41-844.90.70, Telecc. 631348.

SRNSAPORE 604 For East Shopping Corter, Orchard Rood, Singapore, Tel. 2359090 Talexc. 30033

ZURICH Remneueg 42-44, 9001 Zurich.
Tel. 01/211.68 11,
Telecc. 812656/812981.

Zunch is Best YOUR FURNISHED OFFICE IN ZURICH MEAR BANKING DISTRICT

Mail, messages, orders tal forwarded worldwide. Triknoual secretaries hourly. INTERNATIONAL OFFICE 42 Rennwag, CH-8001 Zurich Tel: 01/211 29 15, Teles: 812656 INOF OFFICE SERVICES FURNISHED OFFICE

AEAR CHAMPS ELYSTES
Rental with all office facilities
Multilingual Secretories
illuce, phone, teleor, message servi-classifications.
Meeting Recent, projector and imultaneous franciation, equipment

Your Office in Paris is ready when yee need it, even for a couple of hours.

Fully functional modern offices on conference rooms to rent by the hour, day, month, etc...

Your tacked or permanent base.

Freeling moting address. All service BOSS BUISO EXPERS

'Jer relater of officiaries'

91 Fig. 51 Hospira, 75008 Paris
Tel: 266 90 75. Telem: 642066 F.

London Regent St. Lossy serviced offices
 Presige mailing address
 24 hour telephone answering
 Teles, Secretarial, Fax, Xerox CHESHAM EXECUTIVE CENTRE 150 Regent Street, London W1 Tel: 01 439 6288. Teles: 261426

Your PERSONALLIED PARES OFFICE
Charact Byease Bule
Business & logal address, mail, ex, massages & secreturial service Also Accounting, text & legal contetence. BCRSCR, 21 rue Vernat, 75008 Ports. Tel. 723 80 46 The: 630 602F LONDON - MAYFAIR

Your 'Instant' Office-threstige moting address I Talephone answering I Talephone answering BUBOCENTIE: 18 Sont George Sheet London W1. Tel: 01-629 6934 YOUR OFFICE BRUSSELS DYNAMIC OFFICE SERVICE, Ave. de la Tanche 2, B-TI 50 Brunels Tels 660.24.80. To: 25387 tovol b.

S

NSG 22 29 W. The 349161.

LONDOM BUSINESS ADDRESS/
PHONE/TELE/L. Evecuning, Soile 66, 87 Regent St., W1. Tel. 439 7094.

IMPERUS & ZURECH + 282 76 21.

The Independent Service Office.

EMPLOYMENT DOMESTIC POSITIONS AVAILABLE * Active Business * * Couple *

With one 11 year old, well-corelled bright young mon, requires Prints Liagan's EDUCATED FRESCH AREA FRESCH AND ADDRESS OF THE COMPANY OF THE COMP BOCA RAPON, FLOREDA Full time, steep in, reliable person will be generously compensated. Apply Box 15530, Hereld Tribune, '92521 Neutly Cadex, France.

> PAGE 13 FOR MORE

CLASSIFIEDS For advertising informatio

contact the TRIB's office in your country. HEAD OFFICE EUROPE Ameterdam: Alfons Grim Tel.: 26 36 15. Tel.: 361 83 97/360 24 21. Erussels: Arthur Maixner Tel.: 343 18 99. Frankfurt: H. Jung or 5, Konrad Tel.: 72 67 55.

Tel., 11 836 4802. Medicid: A. Umlouff Sormiento Tel.: 455 28 91 & 455 33 06. Viennes McKim White Tel.: 52 63 97.

Qualified OILFIELD

MATERIALSMEN required for the North Sea THE INTERNATIONAL DRILLING COMPANY LIMITED has immediate openings available for

The successful epplicants must be familiar with oilwell drilling equipment and possess a working knowledge of inventory control and cardex systems. WE OFFER:

TOP Salaries

experienced materials parsonnel.

 Travel Allowances Qualified candidates should talephone the Recruitment Depertment for en application form, or write giving details of Olifield experience.

INTERNATIONAL DRILLING CO. LTD. 1545 Stratterd Programmes England Wilmines

